Soviets Blasted In U.N.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Albania, the U.N. voice of Red China, charged today that the Soviet Union called the emergency session of the General Assembly to hide its "treachery" against the Arabs and as a plot to negotiate with President Johnson "at the expense of the peoples of the world."

The attack was delivered as Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin already was headed back to Moscow by way of Havana. Albanian Foreign Minister Nesti Nasi told the 122-nation assembly the Kosygin government had stabbed the Arab countries in the back.

He declared the "progressive peoples" of the world were "profoundly indignant" at the "friendly meetings" of Kosygin and Johnson. He called the Soviet position on the Middle East "hypocritical" and added that Soviet aid to the Arabs "is a vast fraud."

"Down with the Kosygin-Johnson plot," he said. The Russians, he added, not only failed to come to the aid of the Arabs "but they reached an understanding with the United States to coordinate their actions both inside and outside the United Nations."

Nasi declared:

"We would like to make this clear to you, the American imperialists and the Soviet revisionists— you will never conquer us, you will never take us by surprise.

"Do not imagine, you Americans, that Albania is alone and isolated. Albania has powerful friends."

To the Soviet "revisionists" he said: "We repulse your friendship.

"We are eternally faithful friends of our Soviet brothers. The Soviet people will punish you implacably and irretrievably.

"We can say with satisfaction that you have lost forever the monopoly over atomic arms and you will not be able to frighten us as you have done before.

"I am not speaking in a wilderness. It is you who are alone and isolated. It is you who are trembling and not us. We will beat you; you will not beat us."

Nasi asserted that the U.S. resolution, calling for a negotiated settlement of the Middle East problem, was entirely unacceptable.

He also assailed the Soviet resolution, condemning Israel and demanding an Israeli troop withdrawal, as a plot to mislead public opinion.

Nasi submitted a resolution charging that Israel had committed a "premeditated and long-prepared" act of armed aggression with the direct assistance of the United States and Britain.

The resolution called for condemnation of Israel "for its armed aggression and for its continued aggression by the maintenance of forces of occupation."

It calls for withdrawal of all Israeli troops from occupied Arab territory and demands that Israel pay "full and immediate reparations for all the damage caused."

The Albanian resolution also states that it is for the Egyptian government "and it alone" to decide whether Israeli ships shall be allowed to pass through the Strait of Tiran.

Slick Road Blamed For Couple's Death

Joseph Lukefahr, 73, and his wife, Emma, 63, of Perryville were killed in a one car accident at 8:40 a.m. Sunday on highway 51, five miles south of Perryville.

The highway patrol said the car apparently hit a slick spot on the blacktop, ran off the road and through a fence, overturning in a field.

The two were thrown from the car.

Three persons were injured in a two - car collision at 10:40 a.m. Sunday at the junction of highways 91 and 61 near Morley.

Troopers said a car driven by Raymond Sauceda, 21, of Oran attempted to make a left turn in front of an approaching car driven by Robert Hahn, 28, Belvedere, S.C.

Injured were Sauceda, left leg cuts; Susan Sauceda, 16, and Robert Carter, 7 months, both of Oran, head bruises. They were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Sauceda was charged with failure to yield the right of way and being - an unlicensed operator.

Charles Buckmann, 23, Gurdon, Ark., suffered a compound fracture of the left leg when he lost control of his car at 8 a.m. Sunday on highway 60, four miles east of Wyatt. A wet slick highway was blamed.

The car ran off the road and overturned. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital at Cairo.

Virgil Thompson, 33, Immokalee, Fla., and a passenger in his truck, George Thompson, 69, Dexter, were injured in a two-vehicle collision at the intersection of highway 60 and 61 at Sikeston at 9:35 a.m. Saturday.

The driver sustained a bruised left leg, and the elder Thompson suffered an injury to his right leg. Both were taken to the Sikeston hospital.

The highway patrol said a car driven by Charley Harris, 73, of Neelyville, attempted to make a left turn in front of the Thompson truck and the vehicles collided. Harris was charged with making an improper left turn.

Martha Akins, 5, of New Madrid, sustained face cuts and bruises when she ran into the side of a truck at 6 p.m. Saturday on Water street in New Madrid.

Troopers said the truck driver, James Brock of Marston, had stopped his truck when the girl ran into the street, but that the girl ran into the left front fender of the truck.

She was taken to the Sikeston hospital.

South Vietnamese Bear Brunt of Ground Fighting

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers and South Korean marines bore the brunt of ground fighting in Vietnam Sunday and reported killing 148 Communist soldiers.

Only light and sporadic contact was reported by U. S. units conducting 21 major ground sweeps.

U. S. headquarters reported 153 American air missions over North Vietnam Sunday, almost all against supply routes. As they have for almost a month, American pilots avoided the Hanoi-Haiphong region. The official reason given was bad weather.

South Vietnamese paratroopers scored the biggest success of the day in the 1st Corps area just below the 17th Parallel dividing Vietnam. On a search-and-destroy operation the paratroopers jumped a major enemy force and reported they killed 105.

Supported by armored personnel carriers and air strikes, the airborne battalion of about 500 men overpowered what was evidently an enemy company or more. The South Vietnamese said they captured 19 weapons, including seven mortars and machine guns, and suffered only "light casualties."

A South Korean patrol ran into a guerrilla band in coastal Phu Yen Province and killed 43 while suffering no casualties, according to Korean headquarters. Th fight lasted 2½ hours. Then the guerrillas fled.

U. S. headquarters reported an unusual rescue Sunday when a big twin-rotor Chinook helicopter flew into Dinh Tuong Province about 40 miles southwest of Saigon to save a group of infantrymen trapped inside an armored personnel carrier.

The 13-ton vehicle had been blown up and overturned by a mine. The big chopper raised the vehicle so medics could get out the wounded. It was not known how many casualties there were.

Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade reported scattered contact in the central highlands area where Communist forces chopped up a paratrooper company last Thursday. Night bivouacs of the 173rd were harassed by grenade-throwing enemy but no major fights developed.

U. S. headquarters said late reports showed 106 North Vietnamese regulars died in the battle in which 80 U. S. paratroopers were killed and 130 wounded.

Military headquarters reported bombing weather over North Vietnam was generally good everywhere but in the Red River valley and the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Navy and Air Force pilots ranged over the panhandle area stretching south from Hanoi to the 17th Parallel, mostly hitting roads, rails and truck and barge convoys.

Navy destroyers operated off the coast near Dong Hoi, shelling cargo barges on the coastal waterway. The Navy said seven barges were sunk by five-inch gunfire from a destroyer.

Over South Vietnam, B52s struck at enemy troop concentrations, emplacements and tunnels 62 miles northeast of Khe Sanh in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

14 Out-of-Town Hospital Visitors

Fourteen, all from out-of-town, were treated for injuries at the Missouri Delta Community hospital emergency room, Saturday and Sunday.

Treated Saturday were Charlie Harris, Neelyville rural, car accident at highway 60 and 61 intersection; George Thompson, Dexter, car accident at highway 60 and 61 intersection; Albert Griffin, Poplar Bluff route five, car accident; Virgil Thompson, Immokalee, Fla., car accident, Dollretta Crump, Matthews route, stuck piece of glass in left foot; Jeane Atkins, New Madrid, hit by truck; Phyliss Berry, Bertrand, fell from porch at Van Buren youth camp and injured head.

Treated Sunday were Appie Copeland, Charleston, fell at home, injuring left wrist and shoulder; Debra Ann Young, Wood River, Ill., fell from chair, receiving cut between eyes; Robert Joe Carter, Oran, car accident at Morley junction of highways 91 and 61; Robert Johnson, East Prairie, jumped from swing and injured ankle; Jewel Watson, Morehouse, spider bite on neck; Susan Sauceda, Oran, car accident at Morley junction; Doris Woods, Lilbourn, cut left leg on glass.

Du Quoin Fair Figure Missing

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Don M. Hayes, who with his brother brought the Hambletonian trotting race classic to southern Illinois, is missing on a flight from Chicago, a business associate reported today.

Hayes, 55, and his wife, Ruby, 52, left Chicago's Midway airport Saturday morning in Hayes' single engine Beechcraft Debonair and were last seen during a stop at the Mattoon, Ill., airport.

R. W. Haines, Hayes' associate, said the Federal Aviation Agency's flight service center at Cape Girardeau, Mo., was notified Sunday and planned a search today.

Haines is secretary of a soft drink bottling company of which Hayes is president.

The wreckage of a small plane, believed that of the missing flight, was spotted today in a cornfield about 20 miles from Henderson, Ky.

State police said the aircraft crashed and burned, apparently during a weekend storm, and that there appeared to be no survivors.

Tent Goes Up At Armory

The Armory grounds came alive this morning when A. C. Burroughs, Jefferson City, manager of the Missouri Electric Caravan, supervised erection of a tent, put up chairs and installed a sound system for tomorrow's 30th annual meeting of the Scott - New Madrid - Mississippi Electric Cooperative. Linemen assisted him.

Preceding tomorrow afternoon's speech by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, Manager James Stephenson of the cooperative will give a progress report at 1:30 p.m. on the year's activities.

Mrs. Milton Sadler, Ables road, will sing at the morning session.

Summit Solves Nothing

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin have failed to resolve any of their differences over such major world issues as Vietnam and the Middle East, but they intend to keep in direct contact on these and other problems they debated in their Glassboro summit conference.

The conference ended Sunday night after the two men had spent almost 10 hours together in two days at the small New Jersey town south of Philadelphia. Both told a cheering rain-drenched crowd of their desire to promote peace in the world.

Kosygin returned to New York in a helicopter provided by the President and held a news conference at the United Nations. There he abandoned the smiling countenance displayed at Glassboro and reverted to familiar Soviet attacks on Israel in the Middle East and the United States in Vietnam.

Johnson returned to Washington and said in a broadcast statement that "no agreement is readily in sight on the Middle Eastern crisis, and our well known differences over Vietnam continue."

But he added:

"I believe it is fair to say that these days at Hollybush have made the world a little less dangerous."

Kosygin was scheduled to leave New York about noon today, returning to Moscow to report in detail to his Kremlin colleagues on his talks with Johnson. He indicated at the news conference he might visit some other countries on the way but did not say which ones.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, bitg now in New York, were left with the hard task of trying to negotiate some concrete accords out of what Johnson called "the spirit of Hollybush." They are expected to begin a series of talks in a day or so.

Hollybush is the name of the home of President Thomas E. Robinson of Glassboro State College where Johnson and Kosygin met on Friday and Sunday.

The major impression left by the conference was that the two eaders, while failing to resolve any of their major differences, had at least demonstrated the intention to keep their conflicts in bounds and thus reduce the risk of nuclear war.

The two leaders took sharply different lines in their postconference statements. Johnson conceded the persistence of disagreements but emphasized his hopes for the future. Kosygin focused on his demands for an Israeli rollback in the Middle East and renewed the Soviet accusation of U. S. agreession in Vietnam.

Asked whether Johnson would receive as warm a welcome in the Soviet Union as Kosygin had received at Glassboro, the premier indicated that Johnson would not be invited under present conditions.

"I believe," he said, "if aggression were ended and a truly peaceful policy were pursued, the welcome of President Johnson in the Soviet Union would be truly cordial indeed."

The premier called the Glassboro talks "useful" because they gave the President and him an opportunity to "compare positions on the questions discussed." He made no reference to a point which Johnson stressed — the chance for the two to at least talk directly about their discords.

Referring to Vietnam and the Arab-Israeli conflict, Johnson said: "I was very glad to hear the chairman's views face to face, and to have a chance to tell him directly and in detail just what our purposes and policies are — and are not — in these particular areas."

him directly and in detail just particular areas."

"Meetings like these do not themselves make peace," Johnson said at another point in his report to the nation after returning to Washington. "We must all remember that there have been many meetings before and they have not ended all of our troubles or our dangers.

"But I can also repeat on this Sunday afternoon another thing I said on Friday: that it does help a lot to sit down and look at a man — right in the eye — and try to reason with him, particularly if he is trying to reason with you.

A little more than half of the 10 hours and two men spent together was spent apart from their advisers, attended only by interpreters. This gave them unusual opportunity to talk in full secrecy about their disagreements and about the possibilities of future action to narrow them.

No Aimless Splashing at Jaycee Pool

More than 300 children began splashing with a purpose today at the Jaycee swimming pool.

The children are participating in the eighth consecutive summer swimming program sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The student swimmers are classed into three levels of instruction according to their ability to swim.

Mrs. Clarice Davis assisted by 19 instructors is conducting the three week program which gives each group an hour of instruction daily Monday through Friday. The program will conclude July 14.

The beginners class has the largest turnout with 250 expected today, Mrs. Davis said.

The intermediate group, one level above the beginners, has between 60 and 70 and the next level, the swimmers, has 15. Intermediate swimming students are taught from 8:30 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. Classes will teach students the side, elementary back, and breast strokes and the crawl.

Beginners and the swimmers are taught from 9:30 a.m. until 10:30 a.m. Swimmers improve their basic strokes in the deeper water and require less attention. They are holders of Red Cross certificates for having passed intermediate class requirements.

Beginners are taught to hold their breath, kick their feet and relax.

Some Feel Air War Losses Outnumber Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some top U. S. officials are beginning to think the air war against North Vietnam is yielding diminishing gains while toughened ground defenses are raising the price in U. S. warplanes.

Certain of them believe it might be a good idea to limit the bombing essentially to the supply routes running south through the narrow neck of North Vietnam and to cut down strikes against heavily defended industrial-type targets in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas.

But other authorities argue that to do so would result in swelling the volume of supplies and equipment to Communist forces in South Vietnam.

Those holding this general view say the Communists have been emplacing many more antiaircraft guns in the 150-mile long North Vietnamese panhandle, and that concentrating attacks there would not likely reduce the toll of U. S. planes.

Moreover, they contend that the movement of material should be interdicted not only at the lower end of the funnel but at the top where it enters the infiltration pipeline. Officials inclined toward a slowdown in the air war are not all civilians. Some military men also have doubts about the effectiveness of the bombing.

And those favor at least continuing the present level of air strikes — and possibly an intensification — are not all military.

It is known, however, that the Joint Chiefs of Staff unanimously and vigorously oppose any easing off of the air attacks on Communist military targets in North Vietnam.

The Air Force and Navy were authorized last Feb. 22 to start hitting what one military source called "more lucrative targets" of an industrial and economic nature.

Now there are not many major targets left untouched. Yet the North Vietnamese continue to push their war effort in South Vietnam without any apparent letup.

Many bombed facilities have been rebuilt or put back in shape for at least limited use. So U. S. raiders make repeated returns to hit them again.

North Vietnam's biggest iron and steel complex, the Thai Nguyen steel mill 38 miles north of Hanoi, is reported to be completely out of production. But it took at least 10 raids to achieve this.

One of three major MIG jet fields has been bombed and strafed at least nine times. But military officers do not claim that the Kep base, 37 miles northeast of Hanoi, is out of action. They have seen too many examples of North Vietnamese ability to make quick repairs.

The most important targets still untouched are Haiphong harbor and three MIG fields in the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

It is U. S. Policy to spare Haiphong harbor and its approaches from attack for fear that raids might force the Soviet Union into a confrontation with the United States.

The military chiefs long have urged closing Haiphong, through which an estimated two-thirds of North Vietnam's military and civilian imports are channeled, much of it in Soviet ships.

The Communists claimed again this spring that U. S. planes bombed dikes in the Red River Valley.

If the dike system were wiped out, great areas of rice-growing land would be flooded and spoiled, but not even the most hawk-like advocates of punishing North Vietnam advocate thus striking at the civilian food supply.

In about 2½ years of sustained bombing, U. S. military sources said, it is calculated that these major results have been achieved:

— More than 75 per cent of North Vietnam's petroleum and ammunition dumps and depots destroyed.

— More than 75 per cent of its power plants ruined. The only one of North Vietnam's 12 major power plants which has not been bombed is at Lao Cai near the North Vietnam-Red China boundary.

U. S. pilots are ordered to stay 25 to 30 miles from the border to prevent overflights of Chinese territory.

— More than 50 per cent of North Vietnam's bridges are claimed to have been destroyed. However, the North Vietnamese have demonstrated skill at quickly replacing bridges with temporary spans.

— More than 30 per cent of North Vietnam's cement plant capacity has been destroyed, officers said. Cement is used to repair roads and airfield runways, as well as shattered buildings.

— More than 3,500 trucks destroyed and an equal number damaged. Military intelligence sources estimate that U. S. planes have sunk more than 6,500 barges and other vessels and damaged more than 12,000. The tally of railroad rolling stock destroyed is pegged at more than 1,000 cars and engines. Another 2,000 are claimed as damaged.

Despite the bombing of some industrial-type targets which have never been described officially, North Vietnam's economy continues to function.

On June 6, it was said officially that U. S. planes had hit railroad yards some 35 miles northwest of Hanoi. What was not announced, sources revealed, was that the planes also clobbered the Viet Tri chemical plant adjoining those yards.

The Air Force and Navy have been conducting more than 800 missions a week against North Vietnam. This translates into more than 2,400 sorties a week — a sortie being a single flight by a single plane.

Much of the effort appears concentrated on two major rail lines between Hanoi and China. These lines carry Chinese supply stocks of small arms, mortars, recoilless rifles and ammunition.

They also bring in missiles and other sophisticated equipment transshipped from the Soviet Union. Officers said they do not believe that the Chinese are holding up any of the Russian-supplied gear, despite the Sino-Soviet political quarrel.

Another area of bombing concentration is the panhandle and the roads through it which connect with the Ho Chi Minh trail via Laos and the Sihanouk trail via Cambodia into South Vietnam.

Informants said antiaircraft defenses in the panhandle have been reinforced considerably over the past two months, although the heaviest concentration still is around Hanoi and Haiphong.

The lowest estimate shows some 8,000 antiaircraft guns throughout North Vietnam, an increase of about a thousand since early spring.

The North Vietnamese have had little success with their surface-to-air missiles. An estimated 3,000 SAM's have been fired at U.S. warplanes so far and only about 2 or 3 per cent have scored kills.

But American pilots say surface-to-air missiles have indirectly caused losses by forcing planes into evasion tactics which brought them to altitudes where conventional antiaircraft fire could reach them.

Pentagon sources said this situation has been countered to some extent with better radar jamming.

A total of 589 U.S. warplanes have been lost over North Vietnam, 139 of them since the first of the year.

The vast majority of the losses have been to 37mm, 57mm and 100mm antiaircraft guns fired by increasingly skillful North Vietnamese gunners.

Communist MIG's, according to the freshest information available, have shot down 20 U.S. planes and scored two probable kills.

American pilots have shot down 77 North Vietnamese MIGs, probably downed 9 more and destroyed at least 8 on the ground.

In addition, there are numerous pilot reports of more MIGs smashed in bomb runs and shoot-ups of MIG bases at Hoa Lac, 19 miles west of Hanoi, and at Kep.

Although the officially announced figure for the North Vietnamese air force stands at about 115 planes, sources said it actually is down to around 75 jets— about the size of the North Vietnamese air force before MIG fields were hit for the first time on April 24.

Fifteen of the North Vietnamese jets are believed to be the MIG21 model, the best plane that Hanoi has received from the Soviet Union, and 60 are elderly MIG15 and MIG17 planes. Over the roughly 2½ years of the air war, there have been a number of bombing pauses, some in hopes of bringing North Vietnam to the negotiating table, some in honor of holidays and some caused by weather.

Kosygin Boards Plane From U.S. to Cuba

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin left the United States for Cuba today after an historic nine-day stay in this country during which he met with President Johnson and pleaded the Arab cause before the United Nations General Assembly.

The Russian's big turboprop aircraft, Ilyushin 18, lifted off a runway at Kennedy Airport at 12:07 p.m. and turned south toward Cuba on a flight expected to take just over four hours.

Kosygin would be the first high-ranking Soviet official to visit the Caribbean regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro since Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan traveled there in 1962.

Johnson and Kosygin met for more than 10 hours in the little college town of Glassboro, N.J. last Friday and Sunday. They appeared affable after each session, but neither retreated from stated positions on Vietnam or the Middle East.

Before taking off, Kosygin held an impromptu news conference at the airport during which he indicated, as he did Sunday, that President Johnson might not be welcome to visit the Soviet Union at present.

Asked if he had invited Johnson to Moscow, Kosygin said:

"First of all, I think we should have a relieving of tensions in the world."

The Soviet leader was noncommital when asked if he intended to stop over in Paris to see French President Charles de Gaulle after going to Cuba.

"That I can't say," he said. "We haven't made a decision yet."

Then Kosygin passed down a line of newsmen, shaking hands with many of them.

He also thanked Johnson, New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes and the people of New York for the "hospitality accorded me."

Medicaid Clears House

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House today cleared the way for enactment of the state's full implementation of medicaid— providing hospital and medical care for indigents under Title 19 of the federal Medicare act.

The big obstacle— inclusion of chiropractors as authorized healers under the bill— was removed as the House adopted 100-50 a House-Senate compromise.

The Senate had refused to include chiropractors with medical doctors and osteopaths.

That brought on the search for a compromise that twice called for exclusion of chiropractors. The first time the House refused to back down on dropping chiropractors. But this time they were excluded after 90 minutes of bitter argument.

The bill is expected to whip through the Senate without trouble.

Rep. Donald Gralike, D-Lemay, got the House to include chiropractors earlier. He said they were legally practitioners of a healing art and under terms of the federal Medicare act could be included under Title 19.

He renewed his plea in their behalf today, urging the House to reject the compromise and get a full vote on the Senate side before trying once more for a compromise.

He was joined by others who said chiropractors are the only doctors available to poor people in some rural areas.

Gralike asked the House to vote against the compromise "for the chiropractors of the state and for the people of Missouri."

But sponsors of the House-Senate report said its rejection would jeopardize the whole program in this final week of the 1967 session.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes did not ask for implementation of the title 19 portion of the medicaid program in his original recommendations.

But in May he suggested extension of the program in case late revenues would show the necessary 5 million additional would be available.

As the bill now stands Missouri's portion of the cost of Medicare will come to an estimated $11.8 million a year. The federal government will chip in about $17 million more.

The medicaid portion would do this:

Give all welfare recipients— those on old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the permanently and totally disabled and general relief — full hospital care, either as inpatients or outpatients.

It will include all laboratory and x-ray costs.

Provide care by a physician, either medical doctor or osteopath,

Also provide treatment by a dentist.

Pay the cost of necessary drugs.

Welfare recipients also will include those who except for their age or for the brevity of their residence in Missouri would be in one of the welfare programs.

After the hassle over chiropractors was settled, the House also adopted compromise versions of bills granting medicaid services to the blind.

The cost in those areas will come directly from the blind pension fund and will not increase the cost from the state's general revenue fund.

They whipped through the House because the compromises were exactly in the form they cleared the House earlier. In addition to title 19 services, they also include an increase in monthly payments to the blind from $80 to $85.

Also passed after a lot of fun were bills to make galena (lead ore) the official state mineral and mozarkite, a form of chert, the official state rock. Both bills go to the governor.

SALEM, Ore. (AP) - Some bean pickers here were paid for beans they did not pick. On checking the scales later, it was found that about 10 per cent of the 500 bean scales was overregistered from one to two pounds too much. The pickers had been paid on the basis of what the scales registered.

Police Charge Morehouse Boy With Forgery

A 17-year-old Morehouse youth was charged by Sikeston police Sunday evening with forgery in connection with the passing of three checks totaling $50, police reported today.

Jimmy Lee Sloan, Morehouse, was picked up by Charlie Neal, Morehouse police chief, and brought to the Sikeston police station, where the arrest was made by Sgt. Leonard Campbell.

The three chekes, returned so far, are drawn on the Bank of Morehouse, police said. They are made payable to "Joe Daniels" and signed with forged signature of "Charles L. Bradshaw" of Morehouse, police reported.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

New York City does not view the presence of the United Nations headquarters as an unmixed blessing.

When deposed Soviet Dictator Nikita Khrushchev came to this county in 1960 to bang his shoe on a United Nations general assembly desk, it cost New York City more than $3 million to provide him with the elaborate police protection which the state department considered necessary.

A similar fortune is being spent now on guarding Soviet Premier A. N. Kosygin, who flew to New York to cry "foul" at the Israeli victory over the Arab world in the Middle East, the destruction of Russian military equipment and damge to the prestige of the Soviet Union, ardent Arab supporters.

There is irony in New York City's predicament because its guest represents a country, which has never been required to pay anything approaching its fair share of UN costs.

Presumably part of the Russian strategy to break this county financially is to require it's major city to entertain its premier in luxury, safety and style even to the point of bankruptcy.

Now, New York City, which never got a dime for protecting Khrushchev, must spend equally heavily to protect Kosygin. It isn't right.

New York City needs the money. It is crime, graft and union ridden and does not have adequate funds to provide for the needs of its own citizens let alone undesirable elements from abroad.

It is true that the UN headquarters are a tourist attraction for New York City, bring people to the city who spend money there, but it is doubtful that it clears enough to pay for the protection required for the top Russian visitors.

Sen. Jacob N. Javits, New York Republican, wants the United States to reimburse New York City in full from its emergency fund.

The United States should reimburse New York City for part of the expense. Full payment cannot be justified in light of benefits the UN brings to the city.

A fifth season is on the calendar of all businessmen.

Along with winter, spring, summer, and fall seasons is the slack season. The typical slack season knows no bounds. It attacks any and all kinds of businesses.

There is only one known remedy for the slack season and that is advertising. Some businesses have slack seasons which last several years. Some never recover.

For instance, a company was begun by a hard-working man 45 years ago. When he died a few years ago, his products were tops and he was a multi-millionaire. Then, new managers took over.

The new group took a look at the financial statements and well-known products. It was decided that advertising was unnecessary. By the end of 1962 the company had dropped from first to fourth place in the industry. Management tried vainly to weather the storm.

As the company dropped to fifth place the next year, something clearly had to be done. So, an advertising manager was hired, and things began to improve. The products were better than ever, but no one had been told about it. Advertising filled this need.

Today, a scant three years later, the same company is vieing for first place in the industry again. One executive said, "Advertising saved our life." The slack season for this company began ten years ago and has only recently begun to change.

Typical slack seasons don't last ten years, but they can affect a businessman just as drastically. Most companies could very easily run aground by having a slack season only two months out of the year. For the local retailer, the antidote is constant newspaper advertising every week in the year. For a lost sales is never regained.

FROM PONTIUS TO FIDEL: THE BAITING GAME

Pontius Pilate sought to appease the mob by allowing the crucifixion of Jesus. Today, his name lives in infamy.

When threatened by Rome, Carthage cried for peace. When the Romans demanded hostages, Carthage compiled. Other demands followed, ending only when the Roman Legions besieged the once proud city, took its people as slaves to Rome, and destroyed the city.

By acceding to Hitler's demands, Neville Chamberlain came away bragging that he had insured "peace in our time." A few months later Hitler struck the blow that plunged the world into war.

The United States is endangered today because some of its people favor a policy of appeasement. Examples:

. When the communists sought to control Poland, the appeasers suggested a coalition government to include communists. Soon a communist government emerged in control of Poland.

. Appeasement helped bring about communist control in Hungary, Yugoslavia, and elsewhere in Eastern Europe.

. For a long while, our government supported anti-communist forces in China. Then the appeasers suggested a coalition government of nationalists and communists. Chiang Kai-shek would not agree, so we stopped military support. As a result, the 700 million Chinese on the mainland are now communist-enslaved, and the Red Chinese dragon is breathing defiance and threats against the free world.

. In 1950, the Soviet-backed armies of North Korea attacked South Korea after the U.S. State Department said Korea was out of the defense perimeter. U.S. airmen were prevented from bombing strategic supply depots behind the Red lines. The apostles of appeasement in the U.S. finally wrangled an armed truce which brought no honor to the U.S. It was the first time American soldiers had fought and died in battle without being allowed to seek victory.

Much of our foreign aid, now in excess of $100 billion, has been given not out of kindness or generosity, but as one variety of appeasement, a peace offering. We have been blackmailed by foreign heads of state who said, "If you do not give us aid we cannot prevent a communist takeover," or "If you don't give us money we'll get it from the communists."

So, we dished out the money to appease the demands of fair-weather friends.

. About nine years ago this nation began negotiations to secure a workable test ban treaty with necessary safeguards. At first we demanded a substantial number of onsite inspections to prevent cheating. As years went by, we slowly began to change our position. The Soviet Union did not want inspections and bluntly informed our negotiators of that fact. Thinking we might persuade the Soviets to accept a smaller number of inspections, we reduced the number. Still they rejected inspections. Finally we accepted a ban which had no effective inspections: we had altered our stand completely to appease Russians, knowing they cannot be trusted.

. In Southeast Asia, the U.S. position was steadily undermined and whittled away. Laos is virtually gone under a supposedly neutral regime. South Vietnam is a battleground into which we will have to pour much more effort to overcome the Viet Cong - all because we waited too long to act.

. When Fidel Castro came to power we gave him aid on the false assumption that he was a disciple of Freedom.

A clearly enunciated and understood foreign policy would say: there is a line beyond which this country will not permit communism to march; we will not negotiate with the Reds because all victories Americans have won from them on the battlefield which have gone to the negotiation table have been lost there.

While a sound and clear policy of form opposition to tyranny, managed revolution, and the overthrow of sovereign governments will not always prevent war, it will often discourage greedy men from trying to start war.

Of more than 60,000 doctors polled recently by "Modern Medicine", only 22.5 per cent said they continue to smoke cigarettes, and most of these against their better judgment, the Missouri Heart Association reports. More than half (52 per cent) do not smoke at all; the remainder have switched to pipes or cigars.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Car drivers between the ages of 20 and 25 are twice as likely to get killed in accidents as those between 30 and 50. The death rate is also higher among those who dropped out of high school than among college graduates.

If you're one of those relaxed husbands who lets the wife do all the summer yard work around the home, be sure your hausfrau drinks plenty of water. She can lose two quarts a day through perspiration if it's very hot. But, better her than you — you could lose up to three quarts.

All that glistens: South African mines have produced more than a million tons of gold — enough to pave a fair-sized city.

One of the hardest of all diseases for many a hard-working doctor to cure is his own melancholy. A recent study showed the suicide rate among physicians was twice that of the rest of the white male population, and the rate among psychiatrists four times as high.

Concentrated: The typical American family now buys half its week's groceries on either Friday or Saturday.

We don't know what this proves, but there are only about 1,000 kinds of soup in the world, whereas there are 15,000 kinds of wine.

Take a deep breath: Researchers estimate that 200 million tons of pollutants are poured into the American atmosphere every year.

The wood thrush, one of nature's sweetest singers, has been named as the official bird of Washington, D.C. Some political cynics think the jaybird might have been even more appropriate.

The average American now consumes 23 pounds of sausage meat products a year — and that ain't all bologna.

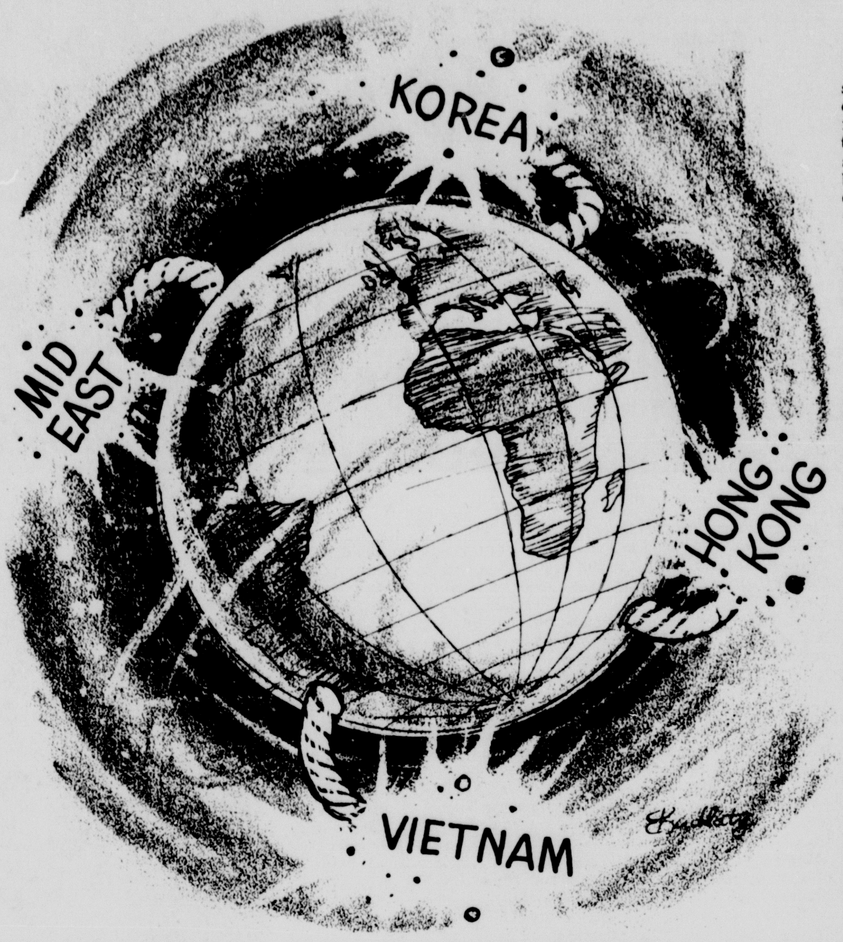

Health tip: Be careful how you use insect sprays, particularly in closed areas. A University of Colorado doctor has found that they can dull your mental functions, dim your memory, and take away your pep.

Quips from our contemporaries: Newest fad is the banana and coconut diet, reports Catholic Digest magazine. "You won't lose weight, but after two weeks you can climb any tree in America."

Medical mystery: Doctors don't know why, but red-haired children-and red-fuzzed rabbits — are particularly susceptible to rheumatic fever.

A GOOD NAME . . .
MORE TO BE DESIRED . . .

If Shakespeare, a cagey businessman as well as poet, were around today, he might well write: "Who steals my purse steals trash, but he that filches or copies my trademark enriches himself with the benefit of my good name and potential customers."

Last year 27,683 trademark applications, were filed at the U.S. Patent Office, reports the United States Trademark Association. In addition, the Federal Trade Commission recorded 1,746 company mergers or other name changes.

Once registered, a trademark or name or slogan is a jealously guarded property. Hundreds of conflicts over infringements or alleged infringements fill the courts every year.

One tribunal in 1966 for example, enjoined a defendant from using the slogan "Extra Strength Pain Reliever" because it had become identified in the public's mind with a particular product.

In another case, the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals found that the makers of "Three Feathers" whisky had just cause to protest against the name "Two Feathers," which a fruit processing company had tried to register.

The CCPA also frustrated an attempt by a pharmaceutical manufacturer to acquire sole use of the nickname "the pill" for one of its products on the grounds that it had come up with the first oral contraceptive tablet. In other litigation, however, it held that no confusion was likely to result from the concurrent use of "Pop Tab" and "Pop Top" for two different self-opening beer cans.

Among the many rulings by various courts last year were the following:

"Alive" face cream was too similar to "Come Alive" hair coloring to be permitted. "London Leather" men's toiletries was out of luck; the name had been pre-empted by "English Leather." "Transonic" radios infringed on "Transoceanic" radios. "Coro" phonograph records smacked too much of "Coral" records.

"Hi-Dry" paper tissues, however, was found to be acceptable in the same field as "So-Dri" and "Shur-Dri" tissues. "Pepsup" barbecue sauce won the right to live alongside the well-known soft drink of similar name. And a maker of mobile home units was allowed to use the name "Mustang" despite the existence of the popular sports car.

The new play was a real bomb. People started leaving in droves by the end of the first act and by the end of the second, only a few hearty souls were left. Finally it got to be too much even for most of these and the exodus grew. One of the critics who had braved the ordeal, rose from his aisle seat and raised a restraining hand. "Wait," he commanded. "Women and children first!"

A drunk stumbled into the emergency room at Belleview and insisted that he had swallowed a whole horse. It was a slow night and the doctors decided to humor him. They got him ready for surgery and put him under ether. As soon as he was asleep, they sent an orderly out for a horse. The drunk came out of the ether to find a big black mare tethered to the foot of his bed. "You made a mistake," cried the drunk. "That's not it. I swallowed a white one."

The farmer had hauled a load of produce to town and got a particularly good price of it. His wife had been after him for months to discard his disreputable clothes and buy some new ones so, he thought to himself, "I'll buy a complete new outfit and surprise her."

On the way home he stopped his team and wagon on an isolated bridge a few miles from the farm.

"I'll change into my new clothes right here and really surprise her when I drive up," he thought to himself.

Standing up in the wagon he stripped, throwing all his old clothes over the bridge railing into the river. He then reached back behind the seat and discovered that someone had stolen the box containing all his new clothes. He hesitated only a moment and then, picking up the reins, shouted to the team:

"Get up! "We'll surprise her anyway."

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- The birthplace of Democracy, Greece, still has more than 6,000 political prisoners in jail or on the island of Youra. The two most famous prisoners are George Papandreou, 80-year-old ex-prime minister, and Andreas Papandreou, his son, who gave up a full professorship of economics at the University of California to go back to Greece and serve in his father's cabinet.

The two Papandreous made the mistake of reforming Greece's tax system, which favored the big ship owners and the wealthy, promoting free public school education; and trying to change the army's caste system whereby only the aristocracy can serve as officers. As a result they now find themselves in jail, kept there by the current "government of the colonels."

When Margaret Papandreou, born in Illinois, studied at the University of Minnesota where she met her professor husband, she roomed with a girl whose husband is now a prominent Los Angeles Attorney, James Schwartz. The other day Schwartz undertook to try to get Andreas Papandreou out of jail. He approached the most famous lawyer in southern California, ex-Gov. Pat Brown.

"I've got a couple of clients in Greece who need a good lawyer," Schwartz said, "but I don't know that they can afford to pay anything."

"Who said anything about a fee?" replied Brown.

Thus began the arrangements by which Brown and Schwartz flew to Athens to undertake the release of Greece's No. 1 political prisoners.

NOT A COMMUNIST

In Athens they were met by a representative of the foreign office, who asked whom they wanted to see.

"We don't want to see anymore at the bottom," replied Brown.

Whereupon they met with Prime Minister Constantine Kolias, then with minister of interior and security Gen. Stylianos Patacos, both very courteous, both worried about American reaction to their dictatorship, but both very firm about political prisoners.

Brown argued that Andreas Papandreou was not a communist, and that Greece would make a mistake if it called a man a communist simply because he disagreed with its government.

"Papandreou is well known and well liked in the United States," said Brown. "He had moderate views both at the University of Minnesota and at the University of California. If it had been a Communist, we would know it.

"Greece and the United States have had good relations in the past," argued Brown, "and it would be helpful to this regime if you let Andreas return to teach in America."

At one point minister of interior Patacos, a former tank commander now in charge of police, remonstrated that the new regime had stopped killing. "I'm a very Christian man," he said. "There have been some killings, but they were by trigger-happy young men. I regret this."

The Greek officials finally replied that Greek courts were impartial and that Andreas would get a fair trial.

But during the conversation Brown noticed a man sitting in the rear and asked who he was. "That's the chief justice of the Greek Supreme Court," was the reply.

This is how impartial Greek justice is under a military dictatorship.

NOTE: Some Democratic leaders of Greece believe it would be a mistake for Andreas Papandreou to desert Greece and go back to the United States now. If he remains in jail he becomes a battle cry for Greek Democracy. If he goes back to the United States, he takes a walkout powder on the principles he fought for.

THE COST OF WAR

Forthright vice Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, director of naval reactors, USN, gave the house appropriations committee some blunt testimony the other day on the cost of human life in war, due to obsolescent equipment.

Rep. John Rhodes, R-Ariz., got Rickover warmed up by remarking: "The new aircraft carriers will have an endurance of about 13 years. This shows that great advances we have made in technology. It must increase the cost effectiveness somewhat, if I might use a dirty word."

I will use a dirtier word," said the father of the nuclear sub. "I call these cost effectiveness studies on nuclear power 'fog bombs.' They do little but put a blanket of fog over the issue that we should be building the best ships and weapons money can buy for our fighting men.

"What we are trying to do is drag the navy into the 20th century. The fact that we have a nuclear navy today is due almost entirely to congress and the atomic energy commission," continued Rickover, omitting all reference to himself as father of the Nautilus.

"If the U.S. has an advantage over other countries, it is its technological lead. If we are to stay ahead in military matters it will be by means of our technology, not by manpower," said Rickover. "We cannot afford to get to the common denominator of opposing our potential enemies with numbers of men.

"Our navy is obsolescent. There will have to be block replacement of ships. I expect it will cost many billions of dollars before you get through. You might as well start now by building modern ships -- ships with all the advantages nuclear propulsion can provide.

"You will remember my question: What are your constituents more concerned about, the dollars being spent in Vietnam or the weekly casualty lists? The answer is obvious. Anything we can do to reduce the number of our boys killed or wounded is worth a great deal. Cost effectiveness studies do not take loss of life into account."

A recent political meeting in a small North Carolina mountain community erupted into a roaring, no - holds - barred gun battle. After the violence finally subsided and the wounded had been carried off, a state trooper asked what had caused the donnybrook.

"Feller made a motion that was out of order," volunteered an elderly mountain man.

"What, for gosh sakes, was the motion?" asked the trooper.

"Toward his gun!" replied the native.

H. L. Hunt Says

BUYING TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

The American people may be buying more government than they need or even want. Probably the extent of the Federal Government's growth - in number of employees, in range of activity and in cost - since 1960 is not generally realized.

The population of the United States has grown by 10 per cent since that year. But the number of people employed by the Federal Government has increased by 25 per cent, the cost of government payrolls (including military) has grown by 75 per cent, and the total of all government spending has shot up by 83 per cent.

Some apologists for this situation point out that the war in Vietnam has caused expenditures for national defense to rise. This is true. However, while these defense expenditures by the government have increased by 97 per cent.

Unfortunately, the trend is still upward. Federal spending during the last four years has gone on at a rate about two and one-half times as fast as in the immediately preceding four years. It will undoubtedly keep going up until and unless those in government can be brought to abandon the fallacious idea that money poured out like water can solve all the nation's problems overnight -- or anyway this year.

The United States became the greatest success in the world through the industry of its people and through education, training, and sound development of men and resources. These remain sound processes. They are hindered, not helped, when the nation buys too much government. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Small But Disciplined U.S. Communist Party Training Youth Cadres or Infiltration of Strategic Labor.

Detroit: -- Recently, during a long conversation with Britain's Harold Wilson, I sought out his views of the Soviet leadership. He chuckled.

"Had Alexei Kosygin been born and raised in England," replied the Queen's affable first minister, "he would have headed Imperial Chemicals Industry. He is a magnificent organizer and executive. He wastes nothing."

This analysis from on high sprang to mind the other day when this column learned that the Communist Party, USA, had been amply refinanced and was planning to seed labor cadres in concentrated industrial areas. It is the logic of Premier Kosygin's dialectics that he would not waste time or assets on futile projects.

True, the American Communist Party has but 12,000 members and is not about to besiege President Johnson's winter palace even to celebrate this 50th anniversary year of the Soviet revolution. True it has mighty few barricades left for street action. But those 12,000 men and women -- including many young people now -- are a pulsating property. They are hard - core faceless people of the apparatus.

They can make trouble when any summertime incident, any loud-mouth in a crowd gathered in a slum district accident, any provocateur at a mass meeting triggers riots and violence.

They can be exceptionally troublesome on the tense industrial front now sensitively geared to war production. This auto city is one among many in which the Communist Party is preparing for old - fashioned action. This will spread to Pittsburgh, Chicago, the outskirts of Atlanta, and other factory centers from the East Coast megalopolis to California's aerospace concentration.

The party's cadres will be plentiful. This summer, says FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, the party will run special training classes in trade union affairs for a selected group of "party controlled youth."

The graduates of these courses will be dispatched from the special centers, some in the big cities, some to be held in summer camps, to "strategic areas" of the country. They will be under a strict directive to secure jobs in basic industries. They have been selected and ordered to become active in labor circles. They will be under a mandate to fight for union office.

Late last December at a meeting of Midwestern Communists called by the party's Trade Union Commission, Gus Hall, the American Communist Party's mini - Kosygin -- a fast - driving, luxury - loving suburbanite -- laid down a new party line on labor. All Communist Party members belonging to any union must run for some office or committee in that union.

This directive was tossed to one George Meyers, the Baltimorean who is the party's labor commission director. Working with him is a specialist from Pittsburgh, Arthur Edelman.

This is not a long - time project. Action must be swift. The Communist Party leaders have been scolded for not being able to produce more than a handful of pro- Soviet labor leaders in the U.S. willing to lead the party's own kind of "peace" demonstrations.

American party "agit - props" (agitation - propaganda specialists) and members of its secretariat have been asked why they have not planted more young people -- white and Negro -- in the major war plants. Demonstrations, first begun -- by young Negro and white workers -- over grievances, promotions, pay, etc., in military equipment and aircraft plants are just what the Soviets need.

So the party is preparing to train young people -- white and Negro -- to colonize strategic industry. Labor is scarce. Jobs are easy to get. Riots and demonstrations are even easier to provoke. And what would better serve the CP-USA than "peace" demonstrations led by workers at the gates of war plants.

Obviously Premier Kosygin is not planning to waste the American Communist Party.

For a real party salad remove the center of a cucumber and fill with seasoned cream cheese. Slice and arrange on lettuce. Top with French dressing.

Spread apple slices with cream cheese and top with French dressing.

Combine diced apples, raw cranberries halved, diced celery and serve with creamy French dressing.

Use crushed pineapple, chopped cucumber and lettuce served with mayonnaise.

Pinneapple chunks and melon balls are interesting served with mint French dressing.

Kosygin's Daughter At Lunch

ISLAND BEACH STATE PARK, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey governor's wife says the 38-year-old daughter of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is a "warm, lovely girl—the kind any mother would be proud of."

"She's so charming," Mrs. Richard J. Hughes said Sunday after entertaining Kosygin's daughter, Ludmilla A. Gvishiani, for more than three hours.

Other guests at what Mrs. Hughes called "a seaside summit" were Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and her daughter Lynda Bird.

All spent the afternoon at the Hughes' 10-room summer home on the edge of the Atlantic Ocean while President Johnson and Kosygin discussed world problems 65 miles away at Glassboro, N.J.

A helicopter brought the ladies from Glassboro, to a windswept, 10-mile-long peninsula. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Hughes pointed out sights in south Jersey during the 45-minute trip.

Mrs. Gvishiani saw vegetable and fruit farms, cranberry bogs, beaches filled with bathers, the Atlantic City boardwalk and the convention hall where Johnson was nominated by the Democrats in 1964.

The copter landed at a Coast Guard station one-half mile from the Hughes' seaside home. A three-car motorcade took the ladies to the 1½-story gray cedar shingle home over a traffic-free highway.

Security forces closed the 2,600-acre state park to incoming traffic during the visit.

At a luncheon prepared by the governor's cook and three neighbor women, the ladies dined on chicken and wild rice, a tossed salad with oil and vinegar dressing and white wine. For dessert, they had fresh New Jersey strawberries with cream.

After lunch, Mrs. Hughes showed Mrs. Gvishiani her house.

"She enjoyed the kitchen, especially the combination freezer-refrigerator," said Mrs. Hughes. "She also liked the washer and dryer, the dishwasher and the childrens' playroom."

Mrs. Hughes said she thought Mrs. Gvishiani was "really thrilled over seeing how an American family lived."

Before going for a walk on the beach, Mrs. Johnson gave Mrs. Gvishiani a small gold wrist watch, a mirror made in New England in 1790 and two autographed books, "Washington, Magnificent Capital" and "The Living White House."

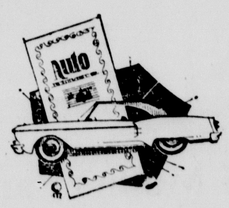

She also received a book on art from Lynda Bird and a china bowl from Mrs. Hughes.

BETTY POWERS reports on her trip to the 16th national Future Business Leaders of America convention in San Francisco. From left are Miss Powers, Earl Jarvis, who assisted the FBLA chapter with its study project; Jim Cornett, director of the vocational educational department of the public schools, and Troy Stephenson, school director of activities. Miss Powers holds a gold seal certificate the chapter received at the convention.

FBLA Chapter Given Gold Seal Certificate

The high school chapter of Future Business Leaders of America received a certificate as a gold seal chapter in the school and community relations event at the 16th national convention in San Francisco.

Betty Powers, a high school junior and state FBLA secretary for 1968-69, and Mrs. Rovena Hillsman, sponsor of the chapter and chairman of FBLA in Southeast Missouri for two years, attended the national convention.

Miss Powers was one of two voting members from the 22-member Missouri delegation at the convention.

Missouri boasts nine out of 54 gold seal chapters in the nation. Pennsylvania is the only state which has more than Missouri.

The Sikeston chapter of FBLA was formed last year with 32 members.

The major project for the chapter was a study of the Chamber of Commerce, which placed third in the state.

At the national convention Missouri placed in every competitive category except one.

Plans for the next school year include a workshop for area officers to be held in Sikeston.

Mrs. Hillsman teaches bookkeeping and clerical classes at Sikeston high school and supervises the snack bar and book store, money making projects of the chapter.

Cubs MakeHay While Birds Falter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Can Joey Niekro pitch?" yelled Randy Hundley.

"Yes, he can," bellowed Ron Santo.

"Can Ernie Banks hit?" shouted Dick Radatz.

"Yes, he can," answered Banks. "Let's play another one."

It went on and on. The surprising third - place Chicago Cubs were acting like a bunch of kids, having a ball after sweeping a doubleheader from Houston 4-1 and 8-0 Sunday.

It wasn't at all like a team that has not finished in first division since 1946.

The Cubs have blown their balloon so big, they've moved within four games of first place in the National League after front-running St. Louis lost a twinbill to Philadelphia 6-4 and 10-4.

Chicago also pulled within 1-1/2 games of second-place Cincinnati as Pittsburgh beat the Reds 5-4.

Clete Boyer of Atlanta has been having a good time, too. His hot hat boosted the Braves to a 4-2 vistory over the New York Mets.

In the other National League game, Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 2-1 on Len Gabrielson's run-scoring pinch hit single in the ninth inning.

Some 31,000 fans, the largest Cub home crowd in two years, whooped it up all day and gave the 36-year-old Banks a standing ovation after each of his pair of two-run homers in the second game he was not supposed to play.

"If it had been a hot day, I wouldn't have played him," said Manager Leo Durocher after his team ran its winning streak to six, longest in four years.

Former relievers Bill Hands and Niekro, who probably would not have been starting at all if Ken Holtzman had not been called into the Army, pitched their first complete games in the major leagues.

Hands yielded only five hits in the opener after failing 27 times in two years to go the distance.

Niekro, a rookie making his fifth start, set the Astros down on three singles in the second game.

Don Lock drove the nail into the Cardinals, knocking in six runs with six hits, including two two-run homers. His first clout capped a three-run fifth inning in the first game for a 5-2 lead. His second gave Philadelphia 2-0 lead in in the nightcap, and the Phils used four of five St. Louis errors to add six un-earned runs.

Matty Alou sliced two singles and a home run and Manny Jimenez added a homer as the Pirates dealt the Reds their sixth loss ' eight starts and left them 2 games behind St. Louis.

Boyer, who never drove in more than 68 runs in a season in the majors, knocked in all Atlanta's runs with two singles and a double, raising his RBI total to 46, only one less than teammate Hank Aaron and seven off the league lead.

The Braves also got help from another Niekro, Joe's brother Phil, who pitched three shutout innings to save the victory for Pat Jarvis.

Gabrielson's two - out hit off Frank Linzy breaking a 1-1 tie, came after Willie Davis singled and took second on an infield out, and gave Don Drysdale a seven-hit triumph.

Oran NipsBenton In 3-1 Thriller

ORAN -- A timely two - run double in the bottom of the fifth inning and a strong job of relief pitching preserved Oran's unbeaten status Saturday night by carrying the Eagles to a 3-1 triumph over Benton in SEMO League high school summer baseball.

Blattel, the Eagle second baseman, delivered the tie - breaking double in the fifth after Benton had knotted the score 1-1 with a run in the fourth. A single by Whorton, a walk by LeGrand and a double steal found runners stationed at second and third when Blattel came to the plate and ripped the game deciding blow to boast Oran's league record to 3-0.

Blattel also had a hand in Oran's first run. After LeGrand reached base on an error, Blattel clubbed a single to advance the runner to third, from where he scored the first run of the game on a squeeze bunt by Tenkhoff, who started on the mound for the Eagles. Benton's run in the top of the fourth was produced by a hit batsman, a base on balls and a fielders choice.

When the visitors put two more runners on base with only one out in the fifth, Halter moved in from first base to take over pitching duties and put down Benton's bid to take over the lead. Halter proceeded to hold the losers hitless and scoreless while striking out seven batters over the final 2 2/3 innings.

Blattel and Whorton each had two hits to lead Oran's five - hit attack. Bernard and Davis collected Benton's lone hits.

Grand Slam Homer Trims A's

By the Associated Press

Rick Reichardt will remember his first grand slam homer as the one that didn't reach the seats.

The Kansas City Athletics will write it off as just another bad hop.

But California's George Brunet will count it as one of the few good bounces he's had all year.

Reichardt's initial bases-loaded homer in the majors - an inside-the-park shot that caromed crazily past right fielder Mike Hershberger in the first inning - carried Brunet and the Angels past the Als 4-3 Sunday.

The victory was only the fourth in 15 decisions for Brunet, a hard-luck southpaw who recently lost nine in a row while the Angels scored a total of 18 runs for him.

In other American League games, Minnesota topped first place Chicago White Sox 3-1, Baltimore drubbed Washington 8-3, the New York Yankees shaded Detroit 3-2 and Boston whipped Cleveland 8-3.

Jim Fregosi beat out an infield hit with two out in the first inning and KC starter "Blue Moon" Odom walked Don Mincher and Jimmie Hall, filling the bases, before Reichardt's drive off the right field fence skipped away from Hershberger.

Reichardt, a speedster despite his 215-pound bulk, chased Fregosi, Mincher and Hall across the plate for his ninth homer of the season.

Brunet gave up a run in the Athletics' first, then nursed the 4-1 margin until the eighth, when relief ace Minnie Rojas was called on to halt a two-run rally. Rojas retired the A's in order in the ninth, preserving the Angels' 15th victory in their last 20 games.

The Twins rallied for three runs with two out in the eighth, Earl Battey's two-run pinch triple keying the burst, and gave unbeaten Jim Merritt his fifth victory. Merritt allowed only three hits - including a run-scoring single by Don Buford in the third - before being lifted for a hitter during the winning rally.

Singles by Zoilo Versalles and Frank Kostro preceded Battey's triple off loser Tommy John and pinch runner Dave Boswell scored the third Minnesota run on Cesar Tovar's infield hit. Baltimore's Robinson boys, Frank and Brooks, stroked three hits apiece and scored five runs between them as the Orioles buried Washington under a 15-hit barrage.

Boog Powell, Curt Blefary and Vic Roznovsky each drove in a pair of runs, and rookie Tom Phoebus registered his sixth victory with relief help from Moe Drabowsky.

Tom Tresh's two-run single in the fourth inning - a run-scoring single by Mickey Mantle in the fifth and a triple play lifted the Yankees past Detroit, completing a New York sweep of the three-game series.

Singles by Don Wert and Ray Oyler got winner Mel Stottlemyre into a fifth inning jam before second baseman Horace Clarke gloved Jerry Lumpe's liner and started the first AL triple play this season. Clarke flipped to shortstop Ruben Amaro, doubling Wert at second, and Amara's toss to first baseman Mantle nailed Oyler.

Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer and bases-empty blasts by Joe Foy and Bob Tillman - who had three hits apiece - powered the Red Sox' attack.

Right-hander Gary Bell posted his 100th major league victory - and his fourth in five decisions since Cleveland traded him to Boston last month.

Dickinson Breaks Drouth With 4-Stroke Victory

CLEVELAND, Ohio AP -- It was a long five - year drought, but Gardner Dickinson figures the first place money of $20,700 was worth waiting for.

"It was a very satisfying victory," the slightly built, 135-pound Florida pro noted after he breezed home in even par 70 Sunday to win the Cleveland Open golf championship. He finished nine-under for the 72 holes with a 271.

It was the first tour title since 1962 for the steady Dickinson who has become a familiar trademark on golf courses everywhere with his white-billed cap.

"I've played very consistently for a good while and haven't missed very many fairways. I've worked hard. But I can't give enough credit to Tony Penna who has worked tirelessly with me to help my game the last six years."

Penna is a pro from Palm Beach, Fla. Dickinson, whose best previous finish this year was a tie for third at Phoenix, Airz., also credited fabled Ben Hogan for some lessons in 1954 when the Florida golfer got out of the Army.

Dickinson, who played the tight 6,611-yard Aurora Country Club course with precision accuracy, wasn't quite as sharp as in earlier rounds when he posted scores of 68, 66 and 67.

Two Texans, Miller Barber and Homero Blancas, finished tied for second with 275s.

Tommy Aaron, who had the day's best round with a 66, closed in a five-way deadlock for fourth place with Jerry Edwards, Allen Henning, Phil Rodgers and Lou Graham. All had 277s.

A stroke back at 278 were Cobie LeGrange, Wayne Yates and Arnold Palmer. Grouped at 279 were Lionel Hebert, Gene Litler, Bert Weaver and Billy Casper.

U. S. Open king Jack Nicklaus and Masters champion Gay Brewer were locked at 282 with four others.

Teen-Ager Takes Title

ST. JOSEPH (AP) -- Refusing to buckle after losing a commanding lead, 17-year-old Tommy Watson bounced back with three straight birdies and won the Missouri men's amateur golf championship Sunday by beating Rod Horn 4 and 3. Both are from Kansas City.

Watson held a 3-up lead after their morning round, and increased it to 4 up on the fifth hole of the afternoon. Then Watson's fine touch in chipping and putting deserted him and Horn won he next four holes to even the match.

Horn's drive went astray on the 11th and Watson went 1 up. Regaining his touch, Watson closed out the match by dropping birdie putts of 30 feet on No. 13, 8 feet on the 14th and 6 feet on the 15th.

Draw Again Puts Pasarell InTough Spot

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Charlie Pasarell, the Puerto Rican who stands fourth in the U.S. tennis rankings, had a date on the center court at Wimbledon today which could make him the first hero of this year's tournament.

The hard-hitting 23-year-old Davis Cupper from Santurce was drawn to play Spain's Manuel Santana, the reigning champion, in the first round. The champion traditionally leads off the tournament on center court.

Pasarell has had tough luck in the Wimbledon drawn in the last couple of years. Last year, too, he had to play the reigning champion - then Roy Emerson of Australia. That was in the third round. Pasarell lost in three straight sets.

The bookies have made Emerson the even money favorite to win the title for the third time in four years. Santana is second favorite at 4 to 1.

Last week's London Grass Court championships at Queen's Club did nothing except confuse Wimbledon prospects.

Santana and Emerson were both tumbled out of the tournament by players who are not seeded for Wimbledon. So were two other Wimbledon seeds, Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, No. 5, and Bill Bowrey of Australia, No. 8.

One of those who did the damage was Tom Okker, 22-year-old Dutch soldier who has been given leave from the Netherlands Army. He eliminated Emerson and Bowrey.

Santana was knocked out by Ray Moore of South Africa.

For the first time ever, the United States did not have one player seeded in the men's singles at Wimbledon.

Davis Cuppers Cliff Richey, of San Angelo, Tex., and Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, were the best bets to restore America's declining reputation. Both played in the disastrous Davis Cup match at Guayaquil last week, when the United States was eliminated by Ecuador.

The two Americans flew to England last week and go into Wimbledon without any tournament practice on grass.

Richey's first round opponent was Ronald Barnes of Brazil. Graebner played Nikola Spear of Yugoslavia.

The tournament lasts two weeks, with the men's singles final on Friday, July 7 and the other finals July 8.

Lewis and Clark's great expedition cost the government only $2,500 back in 1804-05. Its results were invaluable. The feat not only solidified America's claim to the Northwest and opened it to settlement, but their maps and journals gave their countrymen an exciting picture of the land that stretched from sea to sea.

CITIZEN OWNED - CITIZEN OPERATED

SHOOTING VICTIM Joe Lee Matthews, 36, Painton, lies near the front doorway after being shot in the home of Mrs. Esque Williams, 112 Thompson St., around 3:30 p.m. Sunday. He was pronounced dead shortly after 4 p.m. A murder charge has been filed against Charlie Williams, 86, visiting at the home, and no relation to the owner of the home.

ONE OF TWO weapons involved in the shooting of Joe Lee Matthews, Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Esque Williams, at her home at the corner of Thompson and Osage street is shown in the upper left corner. The gun believed to be a .22 pistol lies on the floor about eight feet from the dead man.

Muder Charge Filed

An 86 year old Sikeston man was charged with first degree murder today in connection with the slaying of Joe Lee Matthews, 36, Painton, Sunday afternoon in Sunset Addition, Scott County prosecuting attorney Fielding Potashnick said.

Charlie Williams, the accused, is being held presently in the Sikeston jail. He is in the custody of Scott County authorities. A .22 caliber pistol was found near the body of the deceased.

The charge was filed before noon today in magistrate court in Benton by Potashnick. Williams will appear in magistrate court in Sikeston tomorrow for arraignment and the setting of a preliminary hearing.

Williams made no statement following the arrest Sunday and asked for his lawyer, police reported.

Matthews, the deceased, was pronounced dead by Scott County Coroner Gene Nunnelee at 4:02 p.m. Sunday at the residence of Mrs. Esque Williams, 112 Thompson, where the shooting occurred, police said.

Sgt. Leonard Campbell said he was called by an unknown person at about 3:30 p.m. Sunday concerning the shooting. Campbell said a large crowd had gathered at the Williams house when he arrived and Mrs. Williams was standing outside the house.

Mrs. Williams and Charlie Williams, the accused, are not related, police reported. They are just good friends, Campbell said.

Police said four shots were fired in the house and two struck the deceased. Both bullets that struck the victim were believed to have been fired from a .22 caliber pistol.

Two pistols, a .22 caliber and a .32 caliber had been fired, police reported. Both shots that struck the body of the dead man were thought to have been fired from the .22 caliber pistol. The .22 caliber pistol is believed to be owned by Charlie Williams, police said. The other pistol, from which one shot was fired, is owned by Mrs. Esque Williams, police reported.

The story behind the shooting is not clear and evidence of a motive is not strong, but, apparently jealousy was involved, police said.

According to Mrs. Williams story, police reported, she had spent Saturday night in Bell City and returned from a club named "Main Macy's" with Matthews.

Mrs. Williams didn't even know Matthews' name, Potashnick reported. He, (Matthews) found a ride for Mrs. Williams about noon Sunday in Bell City and returned with her, police said.

Mrs. Williams said that Charlie Williams came into her house carrying a gun and began arguing with her. He began chasing her around the house with the gun pulled. He slipped and fell.

Mrs. Williams said she ran out of the house when he fell, and heard a shot fired after leaving the house, police reported.

Mrs. Williams said she then heard Matthews ask her if she had a gun. To which she replied there was a pistol under her mattress. She told police she later heard other shots, but did not go inside the house again.

Health Council Elects Officers

BLOOMFIELD - Officers were elected at the meeting Tuesday of the Stoddard County Health Council. The Rev. Robert B. McCoy, county chairman, presided.

Holland Fann, Puxico, was named vice chairman; Mrs. Joe Welborn, Bloomfield, secretary; and Larry Strobel, Painton, treasurer.

Other members of the council are Mrs. Leonard Lorch, Advance; Mrs. George Miller, Dexter; Mrs. Pearl Peters, Gray Ridge; and Mrs. George Pulliam, Bernie.

The council was organized to plan and work for a county health program.

It was decided that the county chairman should appoint a chairman of each school district in the county to consult with the member of the council from the district. The district chairmen will become members of the council.

Three health officers from district health unit 4, Poplar Bluff, attended. They were A.Z. Tomerlin, Virgil Edwards, and Carrol Nutter. These health officers are available to speak before clubs in the county.

CAB Feels Airline Drinkers Should Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — You'll have to pay to tipple while flying commercially if the Civil Aeronautics Board has its way.

The board proposed Friday that all airlines charge passengers separate fees for alcoholic beverages they consume. At present, free drinks are provided for first-class passengers on most major airlines. Coach passengers pay $1 a drink.

The CAB maintained providing liquor was a separate service apart from the transportation functions of the airlines and that passengers should directly bear the cost.

The airlines have until July 24 to present arguments against the proposal.

Council of Defense Takes Shape

50 years ago
June 26, 1917

The Scott County Council of Defense appointed by the Governor of Missouri, upon the request of the president of the United States, met and organized on June 25th. The meeting was called to order in the Court House at Benton by J. H. Galeener of Sikeston, a member of the State Council of Defense.

Save all of your sheets, pillow slips, and other soft cotton goods to make bandages for the Red Cross. Sewing parties will be organized and calls will be made for material for bandages and pads. Everyone can do their bit along this line.

Our City Dads purchased an up-to-date street sweeper and sprinkler combined and will now be in the market for a pair of elephants to pull it as a pair of mules are unable to do the job. Or, perhaps, they can get one of Adam Roush's traction engines to move it.

The first of July J. H. Minton, manager of the Scott - Madrid Motor Co., will be transferred to Cape Girardeau, and A. E. Hunze, will be the new local manager.

Ann Landers

Dream Castle Fun at Age of 70

Dear Ann Landers: I am a woman in my 70's but nobody would guess it. I have been married for over 40 years to a solid citizen whose interest in sex went dead about 10 years ago. His impotence was a relief to me because that part of our marriage was never very satisfactory. We raised a nice family and I did my duty but there was very little excitement.

Last year we had our home remodeled. A man 12 years my junior worked here for one week. This may sound silly to you but we fell madly in love. We didn't do anything disgraceful but we did have a wonderful time together. We both knew it was a losing battle with partners and age against us, and he went out of my life as suddenly as he had come in.

I can't get this man out of my mind. I wake up at night longing for him while my poor husband is snoring in the next room. Isn't it crazy that I can't have peace in my old age? I keep wondering what my grandchildren would say if they knew about this.

Please tell me, Ann, am I the only woman my age with these ideas? You might call it sick, but it's real and it's something I have to live with. Can you bring this subject into the open for discussion? --- YOUNG AT HEART

Dear Heart: Of course there are other women your age who are still interested in sex. But don't delude yourself into thinking you are in love --- not in one week, lady.

Be glad you didn't do anything "disgraceful" because the price, in terms of guilt and shame would not have been worth it. Dream castles are fun to visit, Granny, but don't try to live in one.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year-old boy who is trying awfully hard to get along with my parents. The trouble is, whenever we have a difference of opinion they take turns giving me a lecture. When my Mom runs out of breath my Dad starts in. If I try to explain my ideas they say, "Be quiet. We don't want any back talk."

Do you think it is backtalk when a person wants to present his side of a disagreement? I don't yell or anything, I just make an attempt to speak, but they don't let me finish a sentence.

Please give your opinion. My folks always praise your column. Thank you. --- A FRIEND IN NEED

Dear Friend: One of the essentials of a good relationship is the free exchange of ideas. Parents who speak WITH their children, rather than AT them find that their ideas are more readily accepted. The ability to disagree without being disagreeable is the mark of a civilized person. All kids should be given the privilege of practicing the fine art of rebuttal.

Dear Ann Landers: The other afternoon I invited a friend of mine for a game of bridge. She said, "I'm sorry but I am going to a dog shower today." I said, "A WHAT?" She then explained that her neighbor had just bought a new dog and she was having a shower for him. Of course each guest is supposed to bring a gift. I have heard of some nutty things in my life but this beats them all.

What is wrong with a woman who would insult her friends by inviting them to a party for a dog? ---- MORTIFIED

Dear Mort: This is probably her idea of something novel and imaginative. I'm not going to concern myself, however, as I was not invited. How about you?

Do you feel ill at ease. . . out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

If You Were the Judge

Car License Can't Be Lifted For Unrelated Crimes

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Burglar Bob looked upon himself as a sort of Robin Hood. Instead of taking it from the rich and giving it to the poor, however, he took from the rich and simply kept it. The result? He spent several years in prison instead of Sherwood Forest. What's more, when he got out, the Director of Motor Vehicles revoked his driver's license. While some people walk to reduce, Bob didn't appreciate being reduced to walking and demanded the return of his license in court.

"Because I may have committed a few crimes and spent a few years in jail," he complained to the judge, "doesn't give the Director of Motor Vehicles the right to make me a pedestrian."

"It certainly does," retorted the Director. "Under the law, I have the authority to revoke the license of anyone who is not normally qualified to drive. And, anyone who bounces in and out of jail like a yo-yo isn't normally fit to operate a car."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you give Yo-Yo Bob back his driving papers?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that having paid for his crimes, Bob could not be further penalized by being deprived of his license because of the same crimes. Furthermore, the judge added, his license could not be revoked for misconduct unrelated to his ability to drive a car.

(Based upon a 1964 U.S. Court of Appeals Decision.)

Study Urges State Aid For Private Colleges

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri should consider the possibility of providing state aid to private colleges and universities as well as those that are state supported, a special report suegested Friday.

The report was submitted by Drs. Allan O. Pfnister and Gary Quehl. Pfnister is dean of the college at Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio, and Quehl is director of Wittenberg's institutional research.

They were asked to make the study by Missouri's Commission on Higher Education.

This state has never considered use of state money in aid of private colleges and universities, many of which are church-operated.

The closest approach to what might be called aid to such schools was a bill introduced in the House this year that would have provided for state scholarships of up to $500 toward the education of any qualified and needy student.

He could use the scholarship at any school qualified by the state commission on higher education.

The bill passed the House but was lain dormant in the Senate Education Committee since last March. It has no chance of passage in the legislative session that must end a week from today.

The report also suggested that the staff of the Commission on Higher Education be expanded to provide more research and consultative services for private colleges and universities.

Public and private schools of an area might well cooperate in providing a broad field of educational opportunity for students in the area, the report said.

Special courses and fields of study now provided by private schools, the report said, might be utilized by the state in order to free state supported schools from having to enter those fields.

Other highlights the study produced include:

The 35 private collegs and universities in Missouri had a total enrollment of 36,280 last fall, about a third of all college enrollment in Missouri.

They appeared to have specialized in graduate degrees. Although they provided only 38 per cent of the bachelors degrees, they contributed 38 per cent of the masters degrees, over half the doctorates and 72 per cent of the degrees in medicine.

Their academic standards for entrance average about the same as in the state schools but the variance from the highest to the lowest standards in the private schools was greater.

The private schools had total budgets in the 1965-66 school year of $115 million, compared with $118 million for state schools.

Total per student costs in the private institutions ranged from $958 to $2,750 a year, compared with a range of $666 to $1,170 in the public institutions.

Pope Welcomes New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Pope Paul VI created 27 new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church today, deplored the plight of Palestine refugees, and appealed for the internationalization of Jerusalem.

The new princes of the Church included four Americans.

The Pope also called on all Vietnamese-North and South to "once again love each other as brothers" and to work to rebuild their country into a free and independent land.

Pope Paul spoke in a closed consistory he held with 35 members of the Sacred College of Cardinals to confirm the 27 prelates he nominated May 29 to join them.

The meeting lasted 23 minutes.

Speaking of the Middle East crisis, the Pope said the fighting between Israel and the Arab states had worsened the problem of Palestine refugees and "made evident the overly precarious and inadequate situation of the holy places in Jerusalem, which are dear and sacred for every Christian heart."

"The Holy City of Jerusalem," he declared, "must be for always what it represents — a city of God, a free oasis of peace and prayer, a place of encounter, of elevation and of concord for all, with its own internationally guaranteed statute."

Wednesday, at a semipublic consistory, the Pope will present the red biretta — the three-ridged pillbox hat — to 24 of the new cardinals. Thursday, they will join him in celebrating Mass in St. Peter's Square, a public ceremony being held outdoors for the first time so that more people may attend.

The other three new cardinals are the papal nuncios, or ambassadors, to Catholic Spain, Portugal and Italy. Because of the Church's special position in those countries and their concordats with the Vatican, the three nuncios will get their red hats from the chiefs of state.

The consistory increased membership in the College of Cardinals to 118, its largest in history. U. S. membership is also its largest at eight.

The new U. S. cardinals are Archbishops John P. Cody of Chicago, John J. Krol of Philadelphia and Patrick A. O'Boyle of Washington, D.C., and Msgr. Francis J. Brennan, a native of Shenandoah, Pa., who has been dean of the Roman Rota, the Church's highest appeals court in marriage matters and Church punishments.

The consistory also gave the Church the widest international representation ever in the council of the Pope's highest advisers. The College of Cardinals now represents 43 countries, two more than before.

Creation of the new princes of the Church lowered the average age of the cardinals from 72 to 71.

In addition to the four Americans, the new cardinals include 12 Italians, three Frenchmen, the first Bolivian, the first Indonesian, and an Argentine, a Monagasque, a Dutchman, a German, a Swiss and a Pole.

The percentage of Italians in the college — for centuries a largely Italian body — is now reduced to one-third.

This was the second group of cardinals created by Pope Paul since he became pontiff four years ago. In his first consistory on Feb. 22, 1965, he also raised 27 prelates to the purple.

Defensive Driving Urged By Patrol Chief

JEFFERSON CITY -- Motorists planning to travel over the Fourth of July holiday weekend should plan to drive defensively if they wish to survive the heavy traffic that will be evident throughout the state, Col. E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol, advised today.

Colonel Hockaday stated that it will be a four-day holiday for many people and many Missourians will travel long distances to take advantage of it. The Fourth of July holiday last year was a three-day affair and 15 were killed on Missouri roads.

"Before you start out on a trip, be certain you are going to drive a safe vehicle," the colonel declared. "If you have not had your car safety-checked recently, have it done now. This will be of particular importance if you travel at high, sustained speeds, placing greater stress on the car."

The patrol superintendent also made the following suggestions: Be well rested before you se out on a long trip; Expect other motorists to be in a hurry and to make mistakes. By ancitipating the mistakes of other you will be better prepared to cope with any emergency you might face; Don't lose your patience. You may get stuck in a long line of traffic and impatience leads to carelessness and carelessness often leads to accidents; Finally, be courteous and share the road. Give the other fellow his way if he insists upon it, even if he is wrong.

"Thousands of motorists will be hurrying to get to their destinations, and some of them may not get there," Hockaday continued. "You can increase your chances of having a safe trip by following defensive driving measures."

Soviets Blasted In U.N.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Albania, the U.N. voice of Red China, charged today that the Soviet Union called the emergency session of the General Assembly to hide its "treachery" against the Arabs and as a plot to negotiate with President Johnson "at the expense of the peoples of the world."

The attack was delivered as Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin already was headed back to Moscow by way of Havana. Albanian Foreign Minister Nesti Nasi told the 122-nation assembly the Kosygin government had stabbed the Arab countries in the back.

He declared the "progressive peoples" of the world were "profoundly indignant" at the "friendly meetings" of Kosygin and Johnson. He called the Soviet position on the Middle East "hypocritical" and added that Soviet aid to the Arabs "is a vast fraud."

"Down with the Kosygin-Johnson plot," he said. The Russians, he added, not only failed to come to the aid of the Arabs "but they reached an understanding with the United States to coordinate their actions both inside and outside the United Nations."

Nasi declared:

"We would like to make this clear to you, the American imperialists and the Soviet revisionists— you will never conquer us, you will never take us by surprise.

"Do not imagine, you Americans, that Albania is alone and isolated. Albania has powerful friends."

To the Soviet "revisionists" he said: "We repulse your friendship.

"We are eternally faithful friends of our Soviet brothers. The Soviet people will punish you implacably and irretrievably.

"We can say with satisfaction that you have lost forever the monopoly over atomic arms and you will not be able to frighten us as you have done before.

"I am not speaking in a wilderness. It is you who are alone and isolated. It is you who are trembling and not us. We will beat you; you will not beat us."

Nasi asserted that the U.S. resolution, calling for a negotiated settlement of the Middle East problem, was entirely unacceptable.

He also assailed the Soviet resolution, condemning Israel and demanding an Israeli troop withdrawal, as a plot to mislead public opinion.

Nasi submitted a resolution charging that Israel had committed a "premeditated and long-prepared" act of armed aggression with the direct assistance of the United States and Britain.

The resolution called for condemnation of Israel "for its armed aggression and for its continued aggression by the maintenance of forces of occupation."

It calls for withdrawal of all Israeli troops from occupied Arab territory and demands that Israel pay "full and immediate reparations for all the damage caused."

The Albanian resolution also states that it is for the Egyptian government "and it alone" to decide whether Israeli ships shall be allowed to pass through the Strait of Tiran.

Slick Road Blamed For Couple's Death

Joseph Lukefahr, 73, and his wife, Emma, 63, of Perryville were killed in a one car accident at 8:40 a.m. Sunday on highway 51, five miles south of Perryville.

The highway patrol said the car apparently hit a slick spot on the blacktop, ran off the road and through a fence, overturning in a field.

The two were thrown from the car.

Three persons were injured in a two-car collision at 10:40 a.m. Sunday at the junction of highways 91 and 61 near Morley.

Troopers said a car driven by Raymond Sauceda, 21, of Oran attempted to make a left turn in front of an approaching car driven by Robert Hahn, 28, Belvedere, S.C.

Injured were Sauceda, left leg cuts; Susan Sauceda, 16, and Robert Carter, 7 months, both of Oran, head bruises. They were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Sauceda was charged with failure to yield the right of way and being - an unlicensed operator.

Charles Buckmann, 23, Gurdon, Ark., suffered a compound fracture of the left leg when he lost control of his car at 8 a.m. Sunday on highway 60, four miles east of Wyatt. A wet slick highway was blamed.

The car ran off the road and overturned. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital at Cairo.

Virgil Thompson, 33, Immokalee, Fla., and a passenger in his truck, George Thompson, 69, Dexter, were injured in a two-vehicle collision at the intersection of highway 60 and 61 at Sikeston at 9:35 a.m. Saturday.

The driver sustained a bruised left leg, and the elder Thompson suffered an injury to his right leg. Both were taken to the Sikeston hospital.

The highway patrol said a car driven by Charley Harris, 73, of Neelyville, attempted to make a left turn in front of the Thompson truck and the vehicles collided. Harris was charged with making an improper left turn.

Martha Akins, 5, of New Madrid, sustained face cuts and bruises when she ran into the side of a truck at 6 p.m. Saturday on Water street in New Madrid.

Troopers said the truck driver, James Brock of Marston, had stopped his truck when the girl ran into the street, but that the girl ran into the left front fender of the truck.

She was taken to the Sikeston hospital.

South Vietnamese Bear Brunt of Ground Fighting

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers and South Korean marines bore the brunt of ground fighting in Vietnam Sunday and reported killing 148 Communist soldiers.

Only light and sporadic contact was reported by U. S. units conducting 21 major ground sweeps.

U. S. headquarters reported 153 American air missions over North Vietnam Sunday, almost all against supply routes. As they have for almost a month, American pilots avoided the Hanoi-Haiphong region. The official reason given was bad weather.

South Vietnamese paratroopers scored the biggest success of the day in the 1st Corps area just below the 17th Parallel dividing Vietnam. On a search-and-destroy operation the paratroopers jumped a major enemy force and reported they killed 105.

Supported by armored personnel carriers and air strikes, the airborne battalion of about 500 men overpowered what was evidently an enemy company or more. The South Vietnamese said they captured 19 weapons, including seven mortars and machine guns, and suffered only "light casualties."

A South Korean patrol ran into a guerrilla band in coastal Phu Yen Province and killed 43 while suffering no casualties, according to Korean headquarters. Th fight lasted 2½ hours. Then the guerrillas fled.

U. S. headquarters reported an unusual rescue Sunday when a big twin-rotor Chinook helicopter flew into Dinh Tuong Province about 40 miles southwest of Saigon to save a group of infantrymen trapped inside an armored personnel carrier.

The 13-ton vehicle had been blown up and overturned by a mine. The big chopper raised the vehicle so medics could get out the wounded. It was not known how many casualties there were.

Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade reported scattered contact in the central highlands area where Communist forces chopped up a paratrooper company last Thursday. Night bivouacs of the 173rd were harassed by grenade-throwing enemy but no major fights developed.

U. S. headquarters said late reports showed 106 North Vietnamese regulars died in the battle in which 80 U. S. paratroopers were killed and 130 wounded.

Military headquarters reported bombing weather over North Vietnam was generally good everywhere but in the Red River valley and the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Navy and Air Force pilots ranged over the panhandle area stretching south from Hanoi to the 17th Parallel, mostly hitting roads, rails and truck and barge convoys.

Navy destroyers operated off the coast near Dong Hoi, shelling cargo barges on the coastal waterway. The Navy said seven barges were sunk by five-inch gunfire from a destroyer.

Over South Vietnam, B52s struck at enemy troop concentrations, emplacements and tunnels 62 miles northeast of Khe Sanh in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

14 Out-of-Town Hospital Visitors

Fourteen, all from out-of-town, were treated for injuries at the Missouri Delta Community hospital emergency room, Saturday and Sunday.

Treated Saturday were Charlie Harris, Neelyville rural, car accident at highway 60 and 61 intersection; George Thompson, Dexter, car accident at highway 60 and 61 intersection; Albert Griffin, Poplar Bluff route five, car accident; Virgil Thompson, Immokalee, Fla., car accident, Dollretta Crump, Matthews route, stuck piece of glass in left foot; Jeane Atkins, New Madrid, hit by truck; Phyliss Berry, Bertrand, fell from porch at Van Buren youth camp and injured head.

Treated Sunday were Appie Copeland, Charleston, fell at home, injuring left wrist and shoulder; Debra Ann Young, Wood River, Ill., fell from chair, receiving cut between eyes; Robert Joe Carter, Oran, car accident at Morley junction of highways 91 and 61; Robert Johnson, East Prairie, jumped from swing and injured ankle; Jewel Watson, Morehouse, spider bite on neck; Susan Sauceda, Oran, car accident at Morley junction; Doris Woods, Lilbourn, cut left leg on glass.

Du Quoin Fair Figure Missing

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Don M. Hayes, who with his brother brought the Hambletonian trotting race classic to southern Illinois, is missing on a flight from Chicago, a business associate reported today.

Hayes, 55, and his wife, Ruby, 52, left Chicago's Midway airport Saturday morning in Hayes' single engine Beechcraft Debonair and were last seen during a stop at the Mattoon, Ill., airport.

R. W. Haines, Hayes' associate, said the Federal Aviation Agency's flight service center at Cape Girardeau, Mo., was notified Sunday and planned a search today.

Haines is secretary of a soft drink bottling company of which Hayes is president.

The wreckage of a small plane, believed that of the missing flight, was spotted today in a cornfield about 20 miles from Henderson, Ky.

State police said the aircraft crashed and burned, apparently during a weekend storm, and that there appeared to be no survivors.

Summit Solves Nothing

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin have failed to resolve any of their differences over such major world issues as Vietnam and the Middle East, but they intend to keep in direct contact on these and other problems they debated in their Glassboro summit conference.

The conference ended Sunday night after the two men had spent almost 10 hours together in two days at the small New Jersey town south of Philadelphia. Both told a cheering rain-drenched crowd of their desire to promote peace in the world.

Kosygin returned to New York in a helicopter provided by the President and held a news conference at the United Nations. There he abandoned the smiling countenance displayed at Glassboro and reverted to familiar Soviet attacks on Israel in the Middle East and the United States in Vietnam.

Johnson returned to Washington and said in a broadcast statement that "no agreement is readily in sight on the Middle Eastern crisis, and our well known differences over Vietnam continue."

But he added:

"I believe it is fair to say that these days at Hollybush have made the world a little less dangerous."

Kosygin was scheduled to leave New York about noon today, returning to Moscow to report in detail to his Kremlin colleagues on his talks with Johnson. He indicated at the news conference he might visit some other countries on the way but did not say which ones.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, bitg now in New York, were left with the hard task of trying to negotiate some concrete accords out of what Johnson called "the spirit of Hollybush." They are expected to begin a series of talks in a day or so.

Hollybush is the name of the home of President Thomas E. Robinson of Glassboro State College where Johnson and Kosygin met on Friday and Sunday.

The major impression left by the conference was that the two eaders, while failing to resolve any of their major differences, had at least demonstrated the intention to keep their conflicts in bounds and thus reduce the risk of nuclear war.

The two leaders took sharply different lines in their postconference statements. Johnson conceded the persistence of disagreements but emphasized his hopes for the future. Kosygin focused on his demands for an Israeli rollback in the Middle East and renewed the Soviet accusation of U. S. agreession in Vietnam.

Asked whether Johnson would receive as warm a welcome in the Soviet Union as Kosygin had received at Glassboro, the premier indicated that Johnson would not be invited under present conditions.

"I believe," he said, "if aggression were ended and a truly peaceful policy were pursued, the welcome of President Johnson in the Soviet Union would be truly cordial indeed."

The premier called the Glassboro talks "useful" because they gave the President and him an opportunity to "compare positions on the questions discussed." He made no reference to a point which Johnson stressed — the chance for the two to at least talk directly about their discords.

Referring to Vietnam and the Arab-Israeli conflict, Johnson said: "I was very glad to hear the chairman's views face to face, and to have a chance to tell him directly and in detail just what our purposes and policies are — and are not — in these particular areas."

him directly and in detail just particular areas."

"Meetings like these do not themselves make peace," Johnson said at another point in his report to the nation after returning to Washington. "We must all remember that there have been many meetings before and they have not ended all of our troubles or our dangers.

"But I can also repeat on this Sunday afternoon another thing I said on Friday: that it does help a lot to sit down and look at a man — right in the eye — and try to reason with him, particularly if he is trying to reason with you.

A little more than half of the 10 hours and two men spent tohours and two men spent together was spent apart from their advisers, attended only by interpreters. This gave them unusual opportunity to talk in full secrecy about their disagreements and about the possibilities of future action to narrow them.

Tent Goes Up At Armory

The Armory grounds came alive this morning when A. C. Burroughs, Jefferson City, manager of the Missouri Electric Caravan, supervised erection of a tent, put up chairs and installed a sound system for tomorrow's 30th annual meeting of the Scott - New Madrid - Mississippi Electric Cooperative. Linemen assisted him.

Preceding tomorrow afternoon's speech by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, Manager James Stephenson of the cooperative will give a progress report at 1:30 p.m. on the year's activities.

Mrs. Milton Sadler, Ables road, will sing at the morning session.

No Aimless Splashing at Jaycee Pool

More than 300 children began splashing with a purpose today at the Jaycee swimming pool.

The children are participating in the eighth consecutive summer swimming program sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The student swimmers are classed into three levels of instruction according to their ability to swim.

Mrs. Clarice Davis assisted by 19 instructors is conducting the three week program which gives each group an hour of instruction daily Monday through Friday. The program will conclude July 14.

The beginners class has the largest turnout with 250 expected today, Mrs. Davis said.

The intermediate group, one level above the beginners, has between 60 and 70 and the next level, the swimmers, has 15.

Intermediate swimming students are taught from 8:30 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. Classes will teach students the side, elementary back, and breast strokes and the crawl.

Beginners and the swimmers are taught from 9:30 a.m. until 10:30 a.m. Swimmers improve their basic strokes in the deeper water and require less attention. They are holders of Red Cross certificates for having passed intermediate class requirements.

Beginners are taught to hold their breath, kick their feet and relax.

Mrs. Davis and two of her assistants, Larry Davis and Mike Hixon, are qualified water safety instructors. Her other assistants are junior or senior life savers: Pat Wagner, Carolyn Clinton, Belinda French, Sandra Mayfield, Kathy Matthews, Lewis Noles, Tom Davis, Marcia Hixon, Randy Wolferding, Mary J. Cope, Becky Wagner, Sheri Sprout, Jane Ann Baker, Lynn Tenkhoff, Mike Gallagher and Mrs. Anita Woods

Some Feel Air War Losses Outnumber Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some top U. S. officials are beginning to think the air war against North Vietnam is yielding diminishing gains while toughened ground defenses are raising the price in U. S. warplanes.

Certain of them believe it might be a good idea to limit the bombing essentially to the supply routes running south through the narrow neck of North Vietnam and to cut down strikes against heavily defended industrial-type targets in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas.

But other authorities argue that to do so would result in swelling the volume of supplies and equipment to Communist forces in South Vietnam.

Those holding this general view say the Communists have been emplacing many more antiaircraft guns in the 150-mile long North Vietnamese panhandle, and that concentrating attacks there would not likely reduce the toll of U. S. planes.

Moreover, they contend that the movement of material should be interdicted not only at the lower end of the funnel but at the top where it enters the infiltration pipeline. Officials inclined toward a slowdown in the air war are not all civilians. Some military men also have doubts about the effectiveness of the bombing.

And those favor at least continuing the present level of air strikes — and possibly an intensification — are not all military.

It is known, however, that the Joint Chiefs of Staff unanimously and vigorously oppose any easing off of the air attacks on Communist military targets in North Vietnam.

The Air Force and Navy were authorized last Feb. 22 to start hitting what one military source called "more lucrative targets" of an industrial and economic nature.

Now there are not many major targets left untouched. Yet the North Vietnamese continue to push their war effort in South Vietnam without any apparent letup.

Many bombed facilities have been rebuilt or put back in shape for at least limited use. So U. S. raiders make repeated returns to hit them again.

North Vietnam's biggest iron and steel complex, the Thai Nguyen steel mill 38 miles north of Hanoi, is reported to be completely out of production. But it took at least 10 raids to achieve this.

One of three major MIG jet fields has been bombed and strafed at least nine times. But military officers do not claim that the Kep base, 37 miles northeast of Hanoi, is out of action. They have seen too many examples of North Vietnamese ability to make quick repairs.

The most important targets still untouched are Haiphong harbor and three MIG fields in the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

It is U. S. Policy to spare Haiphong harbor and its approaches from attack for fear that raids might force the Soviet Union into a confrontation with the United States.

The military chiefs long have urged closing Haiphong, through which an estimated two-thirds of North Vietnam's military and civilian imports are channeled, much of it in Soviet ships.

The Communists claimed again this spring that U. S. planes bombed dikes in the Red River Valley.

If the dike system were wiped out, great areas of rice-growing land would be flooded and spoiled, but not even the most hawk-like advocates of punishing North Vietnam advocate thus striking at the civilian food supply.

In about 2½ years of sustained bombing, U. S. military sources said, it is calculated that these major results have been achieved:

— More than 75 per cent of North Vietnam's petroleum and ammunition dumps and depots destroyed.

— More than 75 per cent of its power plants ruined. The only one of North Vietnam's 12 major power plants which has not been bombed is at Lao Cai near the North Vietnam-Red China boundary.

U. S. pilots are ordered to stay 25 to 30 miles from the border to prevent overflights of Chinese territory.

— More than 50 per cent of North Vietnam's bridges are claimed to have been destroyed. However, the North Vietnamese have demonstrated skill at quickly replacing bridges with temporary spans.

— More than 30 per cent of North Vietnam's cement plant capacity has been destroyed, officers said. Cement is used to repair roads and airfield runways, as well as shattered buildings.

— More than 3,500 trucks destroyed and an equal number damaged. Military intelligence sources estimate that U. S. planes have sunk more than 6,500 barges and other vessels and damaged more than 12,000. The tally of railroad rolling stock destroyed is pegged at more than 1,000 cars and engines. Another 2,000 are claimed as damaged.

Despite the bombing of some industrial-type targets which have never been described officially, North Vietnam's economy continues to function.

On June 6, it was said officially that U. S. planes had hit railroad yards some 35 miles northwest of Hanoi. What was not announced, sources revealed, was that the planes also clobbered the Viet Tri chemical plant adjoining those yards.

The Air Force and Navy have been conducting more than 800 missions a week against North Vietnam. This translates into more than 2,400 sorties a week — a sortie being a single flight by a single plane.

Much of the effort appears concentrated on two major rail lines between Hanoi and China. These lines carry Chinese supply stocks of small arms, mortars, recoilless rifles and ammunition.

They also bring in missiles and other sophisticated equipment transshipped from the Soviet Union. Officers said they do not believe that the Chinese are holding up any of the Russian-supplied gear, despite the Sino-Soviet political quarrel.

Another area of bombing concentration is the panhandle and the roads through it which connect with the Ho Chi Minh trail via Laos and the Sihanouk trail via Cambodia into South Vietnam.

Informants said antiaircraft defenses in the panhandle have been reinforced considerably over the past two months, although the heaviest concentration still is around Hanoi and Haiphong.

The lowest estimate shows some 8,000 antiaircraft guns throughout North Vietnam, an increase of about a thousand since early spring.

The North Vietnamese have had little success with their surface-to-air missiles. An estimated 3,000 SAM's have been fired at U.S. warplanes so far and only about 2 or 3 per cent have scored kills.

But American pilots say surface-to-air missiles have indirectly caused losses by forcing planes into evasion tactics which brought them to altitudes where conventional antiaircraft fire could reach them.

Pentagon sources said this situation has been countered to some extent with better radar jamming.

A total of 589 U.S. warplanes have been lost over North Vietnam, 139 of them since the first of the year.

The vast majority of the losses have been to 37mm, 57mm and 100mm antiaircraft guns fired by increasingly skillful North Vietnamese gunners.

Communist MIG's, according to the freshest information available, have shot down 20 U.S. planes and scored two probable kills.

American pilots have shot down 77 North Vietnamese MIGs, probably downed 9 more and destroyed at least 8 on the ground.

In addition, there are numerous pilot reports of more MIGs smashed in bomb runs and shoot-ups of MIG bases at Hoa Lac, 19 miles west of Hanoi, and at Kep.

Although the officially announced figure for the North Vietnamese air force stands at about 115 planes, sources said it actually is down to around 75 jets— about the size of the North Vietnamese air force before MIG fields were hit for the first time on April 24.

Fifteen of the North Vietnamese jets are believed to be the MIG21 model, the best plane that Hanoi has received from the Soviet Union, and 60 are elderly MIG15 and MIG17 planes. Over the roughly 2½ years of the air war, there have been a number of bombing pauses, some in hopes of bringing North Vietnam to the negotiating table, some in honor of holidays and some caused by weather.

Kosygin Boards Plane From U.S. to Cuba

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin left the United States for Cuba today after an historic nine-day stay in this country during which he met with President Johnson and pleaded the Arab cause before the United Nations General Assembly.

The Russian's big turboprop aircraft, Ilyushin 18, lifted off a runway at Kennedy Airport at 12:07 p.m. and turned south toward Cuba on a flight expected to take just over four hours.

Kosygin would be the first high-ranking Soviet official to visit the Caribbean regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro since Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan traveled there in 1962.

Johnson and Kosygin met for more than 10 hours in the little college town of Glassboro, N.J. last Friday and Sunday. They appeared affable after each session, but neither retreated from stated positions on Vietnam or the Middle East.

Before taking off, Kosygin held an impromptu news conference at the airport during which he indicated, as he did Sunday, that President Johnson might not be welcome to visit the Soviet Union at present.

Asked if he had invited Johnson to Moscow, Kosygin said:

"First of all, I think we should have a relieving of tensions in the world."

The Soviet leader was noncommital when asked if he intended to stop over in Paris to see French President Charles de Gaulle after going to Cuba.

"That I can't say," he said. "We haven't made a decision yet."

Then Kosygin passed down a line of newsmen, shaking hands with many of them.

He also thanked Johnson, New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes and the people of New York for the "hospitality accorded me."

Medicaid Clears House

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House today cleared the way for enactment of the state's full implementation of medicaid— providing hospital and medical care for indigents under Title 19 of the federal Medicare act.

The big obstacle— inclusion of chiropractors as authorized healers under the bill— was removed as the House adopted 100-50 a House-Senate compromise.

The Senate had refused to include chiropractors with medical doctors and osteopaths.

That brought on the search for a compromise that twice called for exclusion of chiropractors. The first time the House refused to back down on dropping chiropractors. But this time they were excluded after 90 minutes of bitter argument.

The bill is expected to whip through the Senate without trouble.

Rep. Donald Gralike, D-Lemay, got the House to include chiropractors earlier. He said they were legally practitioners of a healing art and under terms of the federal Medicare act could be included under Title 19.

He renewed his plea in their behalf today, urging the House to reject the compromise and get a full vote on the Senate side before trying once more for a compromise.

He was joined by others who said chiropractors are the only doctors available to poor people in some rural areas.

Gralike asked the House to vote against the compromise "for the chiropractors of the state and for the people of Missouri."

But sponsors of the House-Senate report said its rejection would jeopardize the whole program in this final week of the 1967 session.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes did not ask for implementation of the title 19 portion of the medicaid program in his original recommendations.

But in May he suggested extension of the program in case late revenues would show the necessary 5 million additional would be available.

As the bill now stands Missouri's portion of the cost of Medicare will come to an estimated $11.8 million a year. The federal government will chip in about $17 million more.

The medicaid portion would do this:

Give all welfare recipients— those on old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the permanently and totally disabled and general relief — full hospital care, either as inpatients or outpatients.

It will include all laboratory and x-ray costs.

Provide care by a physician, either medical doctor or osteopath,

Also provide treatment by a dentist.

Pay the cost of necessary drugs.

Welfare recipients also will include those who except for their age or for the brevity of their residence in Missouri would be in one of the welfare programs.

After the hassle over chiropractors was settled, the House also adopted compromise versions of bills granting medicaid services to the blind.

The cost in those areas will come directly from the blind pension fund and will not increase the cost from the state's general revenue fund.

They whipped through the House because the compromises were exactly in the form they cleared the House earlier. In addition to title 19 services, they also include an increase in monthly payments to the blind from $80 to $85.

Also passed after a lot of fun were bills to make galena (lead ore) the official state mineral and mozarkite, a form of chert, the official state rock. Both bills go to the governor.

Police Charge Morehouse Boy With Forgery

A 17-year-old Morehouse youth was charged by Sikeston police Sunday evening with forgery in connection with the passing of three checks totaling $50, police reported today.

Jimmy Lee Sloan, Morehouse, was picked up by Charlie Neal, Morehouse police chief, and brought to the Sikeston police station, where the arrest was made by Sgt. Leonard Campbell.

The three chekcs, returned so far, are drawn on the Bank of Morehouse, police said. They are made payable to "Joe Daniels" and signed with forged signature of "Charles L. Bradshaw" of Morehouse, police reported.

Soviets Blasted In U.N.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Albania, the U.N. voice of Red China, charged today that the Soviet Union called the emergency session of the General Assembly to hide its "treachery" against the Arabs and as a plot to negotiate with President Johnson "at the expense of the peoples of the world."

The attack was delivered as Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin already was headed back to Moscow by way of Havana. Albanian Foreign Minister Nesti Nasi told the 122-nation assembly the Kosygin government had stabbed the Arab countries in the back.

He declared the "progressive peoples" of the world were "profoundly indignant" at the "friendly meetings" of Kosygin and Johnson. He called the Soviet position on the Middle East "hypocritical" and added that Soviet aid to the Arabs "is a vast fraud."

"Down with the Kosygin-Johnson plot," he said. The Russians, he added, not only failed to come to the aid of the Arabs "but they reached an understanding with the United States to coordinate their actions both inside and outside the United Nations."

Nasi declared:

"We would like to make this clear to you, the American imperialists and the Soviet revisionists— you will never conquer us, you will never take us by surprise.

"Do not imagine, you Americans, that Albania is alone and isolated. Albania has powerful friends."

To the Soviet "revisionists" he said: "We repulse your friendship.

"We are eternally faithful friends of our Soviet brothers. The Soviet people will punish you implacably and irretrievably.

"We can say with satisfaction that you have lost forever the monopoly over atomic arms and you will not be able to frighten us as you have done before.

"I am not speaking in a wilderness. It is you who are alone and isolated. It is you who are trembling and not us. We will beat you; you will not beat us."

Nasi asserted that the U.S. resolution, calling for a negotiated settlement of the Middle East problem, was entirely unacceptable.

He also assailed the Soviet resolution, condemning Israel and demanding an Israeli troop withdrawal, as a plot to mislead public opinion.

Nasi submitted a resolution charging that Israel had committed a "premeditated and long-prepared" act of armed aggression with the direct assistance of the United States and Britain.

The resolution called for condemnation of Israel "for its armed aggression and for its continued aggression by the maintenance of forces of occupation."

It calls for withdrawal of all Israeli troops from occupied Arab territory and demands that Israel pay "full and immediate reparations for all the damage caused."

The Albanian resolution also states that it is for the Egyptian government "and it alone" to decide whether Israeli ships shall be allowed to pass through the Strait of Tiran.

Slick Road Blamed For Couple's Death

Joseph Lukefahr, 73, and his wife, Emma, 63, of Perryville were killed in a one car accident at 8:40 a.m. Sunday on highway 51, five miles south of Perryville.

The highway patrol said the car apparently hit a slick spot on the blacktop, ran off the road and through a fence, overturning in a field.

The two were thrown from the car.

Three persons were injured in a two-car collision at 10:40 a.m. Sunday at the junction of highways 91 and 61 near Morley.

Troopers said a car driven by Raymond Sauceda, 21, of Oran attempted to make a left turn in front of an approaching car driven by Robert Hahn, 28, Belvedere, S.C.

Injured were Sauceda, left leg cuts; Susan Sauceda, 16, and Robert Carter, 7 months, both of Oran, head bruises. They were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Sauceda was charged with failure to yield the right of way and being - an unlicensed operator.

Charles Buckmann, 23, Gurdon, Ark., suffered a compound fracture of the left leg when he lost control of his car at 8 a.m. Sunday on highway 60, four miles east of Wyatt. A wet slick highway was blamed.

The car ran off the road and overturned. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital at Cairo.

Virgil Thompson, 33, Immokalee, Fla., and a passenger in his truck, George Thompson, 69, Dexter, were injured in a two-vehicle collision at the intersection of highway 60 and 61 at Sikeston at 9:35 a.m. Saturday.

The driver sustained a bruised left leg, and the elder Thompson suffered an injury to his right leg. Both were taken to the Sikeston hospital.

The highway patrol said a car driven by Charley Harris, 73, of Neelyville, attempted to make a left turn in front of the Thompson truck and the vehicles collided. Harris was charged with making an improper left turn.

Martha Akins, 5, of New Madrid, sustained face cuts and bruises when she ran into the side of a truck at 6 p.m. Saturday on Water street in New Madrid.

Troopers said the truck driver, James Brock of Marston, had stopped his truck when the girl ran into the street, but that the girl ran into the left front fender of the truck.

She was taken to the Sikeston hospital.

South Vietnamese Bear Brunt of Ground Fighting

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers and South Korean marines bore the brunt of ground fighting in Vietnam Sunday and reported killing 148 Communist soldiers.

Only light and sporadic contact was reported by U. S. units conducting 21 major ground sweeps.

U. S. headquarters reported 153 American air missions over North Vietnam Sunday, almost all against supply routes. As they have for almost a month, American pilots avoided the Hanoi-Haiphong region. The official reason given was bad weather.

South Vietnamese paratroopers scored the biggest success of the day in the 1st Corps area just below the 17th Parallel dividing Vietnam. On a search-and-destroy operation the paratroopers jumped a major enemy force and reported they killed 105.

Supported by armored personnel carriers and air strikes, the airborne battalion of about 500 men overpowered what was evidently an enemy company or more. The South Vietnamese said they captured 19 weapons, including seven mortars and machine guns, and suffered only "light casualties."

A South Korean patrol ran into a guerrilla band in coastal Phu Yen Province and killed 43 while suffering no casualties, according to Korean headquarters. Th fight lasted 2½ hours. Then the guerrillas fled.

U. S. headquarters reported an unusual rescue Sunday when a big twin-rotor Chinook helicopter flew into Dinh Tuong Province about 40 miles southwest of Saigon to save a group of infantrymen trapped inside an armored personnel carrier.

The 13-ton vehicle had been blown up and overturned by a mine. The big chopper raised the vehicle so medics could get out the wounded. It was not known how many casualties there were.

Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade reported scattered contact in the central highlands area where Communist forces chopped up a paratrooper company last Thursday. Night bivouacs of the 173rd were harassed by grenade-throwing enemy but no major fights developed.

U. S. headquarters said late reports showed 106 North Vietnamese regulars died in the battle in which 80 U. S. paratroopers were killed and 130 wounded.

Military headquarters reported bombing weather over North Vietnam was generally good everywhere but in the Red River valley and the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Navy and Air Force pilots ranged over the panhandle area stretching south from Hanoi to the 17th Parallel, mostly hitting roads, rails and truck and barge convoys.

Navy destroyers operated off the coast near Dong Hoi, shelling cargo barges on the coastal waterway. The Navy said seven barges were sunk by five-inch gunfire from a destroyer.

Over South Vietnam, B52s struck at enemy troop concentrations, emplacements and tunnels 62 miles northeast of Khe Sanh in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

14 Out-of-Town Hospital Visitors

Fourteen, all from out-of-town, were treated for injuries at the Missouri Delta Community hospital emergency room, Saturday and Sunday.

Treated Saturday were Charlie Harris, Neelyville rural, car accident at highway 60 and 61 intersection; George Thompson, Dexter, car accident at highway 60 and 61 intersection; Albert Griffin, Poplar Bluff route five, car accident; Virgil Thompson, Immokalee, Fla., car accident, Dollretta Crump, Matthews route, stuck piece of glass in left foot; Jeane Atkins, New Madrid, hit by truck; Phyliss Berry, Bertrand, fell from porch at Van Buren youth camp and injured head.

Treated Sunday were Appie Copeland, Charleston, fell at home, injuring left wrist and shoulder; Debra Ann Young, Wood River, Ill., fell from chair, receiving cut between eyes; Robert Joe Carter, Oran, car accident at Morley junction of highways 91 and 61; Robert Johnson, East Prairie, jumped from swing and injured ankle; Jewel Watson, Morehouse, spider bite on neck; Susan Sauceda, Oran, car accident at Morley junction; Doris Woods, Lilbourn, cut left leg on glass.

Du Quoin Fair Figure Missing

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Don M. Hayes, who with his brother brought the Hambletonian trotting race classic to southern Illinois, is missing on a flight from Chicago, a business associate reported today.

Hayes, 55, and his wife, Ruby, 52, left Chicago's Midway airport Saturday morning in Hayes' single engine Beechcraft Debonair and were last seen during a stop at the Mattoon, Ill., airport.

R. W. Haines, Hayes' associate, said the Federal Aviation Agency's flight service center at Cape Girardeau, Mo., was notified Sunday and planned a search today.

Haines is secretary of a soft drink bottling company of which Hayes is president.

The wreckage of a small plane, believed that of the missing flight, was spotted today in a cornfield about 20 miles from Henderson, Ky.

State police said the aircraft crashed and burned, apparently during a weekend storm, and that there appeared to be no survivors.

Tent Goes Up At Armory

The Armory grounds came alive this morning when A. C. Burroughs, Jefferson City, manager of the Missouri Electric Caravan, supervised erection of a tent, put up chairs and installed a sound system for tomorrow's 30th annual meeting of the Scott - New Madrid - Mississippi Electric Cooperative. Linemen assisted him.

Preceding tomorrow afternoon's speech by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, Manager James Stephenson of the cooperative will give a progress report at 1:30 p.m. on the year's activities.

Mrs. Milton Sadler, Ables road, will sing at the morning session.

Summit Solves Nothing

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin have failed to resolve any of their differences over such major world issues as Vietnam and the Middle East, but they intend to keep in direct contact on these and other problems they debated in their Glassboro summit conference.

The conference ended Sunday night after the two men had spent almost 10 hours together in two days at the small New Jersey town south of Philadelphia. Both told a cheering rain-drenched crowd of their desire to promote peace in the world.

Kosygin returned to New York in a helicopter provided by the President and held a news conference at the United Nations. There he abandoned the smiling countenance displayed at Glassboro and reverted to familiar Soviet attacks on Israel in the Middle East and the United States in Vietnam.

Johnson returned to Washington and said in a broadcast statement that "no agreement is readily in sight on the Middle Eastern crisis, and our well known differences over Vietnam continue."

But he added:

"I believe it is fair to say that these days at Hollybush have made the world a little less dangerous."

Kosygin was scheduled to leave New York about noon today, returning to Moscow to report in detail to his Kremlin colleagues on his talks with Johnson. He indicated at the news conference he might visit some other countries on the way but did not say which ones.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, bitg now in New York, were left with the hard task of trying to negotiate some concrete accords out of what Johnson called "the spirit of Hollybush." They are expected to begin a series of talks in a day or so.

Hollybush is the name of the home of President Thomas E. Robinson of Glassboro State College where Johnson and Kosygin met on Friday and Sunday.

The major impression left by the conference was that the two eaders, while failing to resolve any of their major differences, had at least demonstrated the intention to keep their conflicts in bounds and thus reduce the risk of nuclear war.

The two leaders took sharply different lines in their postconference statements. Johnson conceded the persistence of disagreements but emphasized his hopes for the future. Kosygin focused on his demands for an Israeli rollback in the Middle East and renewed the Soviet accusation of U. S. agreession in Vietnam.

Asked whether Johnson would receive as warm a welcome in the Soviet Union as Kosygin had received at Glassboro, the premier indicated that Johnson would not be invited under present conditions.

"I believe," he said, "if aggression were ended and a truly peaceful policy were pursued, the welcome of President Johnson in the Soviet Union would be truly cordial indeed."

The premier called the Glassboro talks "useful" because they gave the President and him an opportunity to "compare positions on the questions discussed." He made no reference to a point which Johnson stressed — the chance for the two to at least talk directly about their discords.

Referring to Vietnam and the Arab-Israeli conflict, Johnson said: "I was very glad to hear the chairman's views face to face, and to have a chance to tell him directly and in detail just what our purposes and policies are — and are not — in these particular areas."

him directly and in detail just particular areas."

"Meetings like these do not themselves make peace," Johnson said at another point in his report to the nation after returning to Washington. "We must all remember that there have been many meetings before and they have not ended all of our troubles or our dangers.

"But I can also repeat on this Sunday afternoon another thing I said on Friday: that it does help a lot to sit down and look at a man — right in the eye — and try to reason with him, particularly if he is trying to reason with you.

A little more than half of the 10 hours and two men spent together was spent apart from their advisers, attended only by interpreters. This gave them unusual opportunity to talk in full secrecy about their disagreements and about the possibilities of future action to narrow them.

No Aimless Splashing at Jaycee Pool

More than 300 children began splashing with a purpose today at the Jaycee swimming pool.

The children are participating in the eighth consecutive summer swimming program sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The student swimmers are classed into three levels of instruction according to their ability to swim.

Mrs. Clarice Davis assisted by 19 instructors is conducting the three week program which gives each group an hour of instruction daily Monday through Friday. The program will conclude July 14.

The beginners class has the largest turnout with 250 expected today, Mrs. Davis said.

The intermediate group, one level above the beginners, has between 60 and 70 and the next level, the swimmers, has 15.

Intermediate swimming students are taught from 8:30 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. Classes will teach students the side, elementary back, and breast strokes and the crawl.

Beginners and the swimmers are taught from 9:30 a.m. until 10:30 a.m. Swimmers improve their basic strokes in the deeper water and require less attention. They are holders of Red Cross certificates for having passed intermediate class requirements.

Beginners are taught to hold their breath, kick their feet and relax.

Some Feel Air War Losses Outnumber Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some top U. S. officials are beginning to think the air war against North Vietnam is yielding diminishing gains while toughened ground defenses are raising the price in U. S. warplanes.

Certain of them believe it might be a good idea to limit the bombing essentially to the supply routes running south through the narrow neck of North Vietnam and to cut down strikes against heavily defended industrial-type targets in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas.

But other authorities argue that to do so would result in swelling the volume of supplies and equipment to Communist forces in South Vietnam.

Those holding this general view say the Communists have been emplacing many more antiaircraft guns in the 150-mile long North Vietnamese panhandle, and that concentrating attacks there would not likely reduce the toll of U. S. planes.

Moreover, they contend that the movement of material should be interdicted not only at the lower end of the funnel but at the top where it enters the infiltration pipeline. Officials inclined toward a slowdown in the air war are not all civilians. Some military men also have doubts about the effectiveness of the bombing.

And those favor at least continuing the present level of air strikes — and possibly an intensification — are not all military.

It is known, however, that the Joint Chiefs of Staff unanimously and vigorously oppose any easing off of the air attacks on Communist military targets in North Vietnam.

The Air Force and Navy were authorized last Feb. 22 to start hitting what one military source called "more lucrative targets" of an industrial and economic nature.

Now there are not many major targets left untouched. Yet the North Vietnamese continue to push their war effort in South Vietnam without any apparent letup.

Many bombed facilities have been rebuilt or put back in shape for at least limited use. So U. S. raiders make repeated returns to hit them again.

North Vietnam's biggest iron and steel complex, the Thai Nguyen steel mill 38 miles north of Hanoi, is reported to be completely out of production. But it took at least 10 raids to achieve this.

One of three major MIG jet fields has been bombed and strafed at least nine times. But military officers do not claim that the Kep base, 37 miles northeast of Hanoi, is out of action. They have seen too many examples of North Vietnamese ability to make quick repairs.

The most important targets still untouched are Haiphong harbor and three MIG fields in the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

It is U. S. Policy to spare Haiphong harbor and its approaches from attack for fear that raids might force the Soviet Union into a confrontation with the United States.

The military chiefs long have urged closing Haiphong, through which an estimated two-thirds of North Vietnam's military and civilian imports are channeled, much of it in Soviet ships.

The Communists claimed again this spring that U. S. planes bombed dikes in the Red River Valley.

If the dike system were wiped out, great areas of rice-growing land would be flooded and spoiled, but not even the most hawk-like advocates of punishing North Vietnam advocate thus striking at the civilian food supply.

In about 2½ years of sustained bombing, U. S. military sources said, it is calculated that these major results have been achieved:

— More than 75 per cent of North Vietnam's petroleum and ammunition dumps and depots destroyed.

— More than 75 per cent of its power plants ruined. The only one of North Vietnam's 12 major power plants which has not been bombed is at Lao Cai near the North Vietnam-Red China boundary.

U. S. pilots are ordered to stay 25 to 30 miles from the border to prevent overflights of Chinese territory.

— More than 50 per cent of North Vietnam's bridges are claimed to have been destroyed. However, the North Vietnamese have demonstrated skill at quickly replacing bridges with temporary spans.

— More than 30 per cent of North Vietnam's cement plant capacity has been destroyed, officers said. Cement is used to repair roads and airfield runways, as well as shattered buildings.

— More than 3,500 trucks destroyed and an equal number damaged. Military intelligence sources estimate that U. S. planes have sunk more than 6,500 barges and other vessels and damaged more than 12,000. The tally of railroad rolling stock destroyed is pegged at more than 1,000 cars and engines. Another 2,000 are claimed as damaged.

Despite the bombing of some industrial-type targets which have never been described officially, North Vietnam's economy continues to function.

On June 6, it was said officially that U. S. planes had hit railroad yards some 35 miles northwest of Hanoi. What was not announced, sources revealed, was that the planes also clobbered the Viet Tri chemical plant adjoining those yards.

The Air Force and Navy have been conducting more than 800 missions a week against North Vietnam. This translates into more than 2,400 sorties a week — a sortie being a single flight by a single plane.

Much of the effort appears concentrated on two major rail lines between Hanoi and China. These lines carry Chinese supply stocks of small arms, mortars, recoilless rifles and ammunition.

They also bring in missiles and other sophisticated equipment transshipped from the Soviet Union. Officers said they do not believe that the Chinese are holding up any of the Russian-supplied gear, despite the Sino-Soviet political quarrel.

Another area of bombing concentration is the panhandle and the roads through it which connect with the Ho Chi Minh trail via Laos and the Sihanouk trail via Cambodia into South Vietnam.

Informants said antiaircraft defenses in the panhandle have been reinforced considerably over the past two months, although the heaviest concentration still is around Hanoi and Haiphong.

The lowest estimate shows some 8,000 antiaircraft guns throughout North Vietnam, an increase of about a thousand since early spring.

The North Vietnamese have had little success with their surface-to-air missiles. An estimated 3,000 SAM's have been fired at U.S. warplanes so far and only about 2 or 3 per cent have scored kills.

But American pilots say surface-to-air missiles have indirectly caused losses by forcing planes into evasion tactics which brought them to altitudes where conventional antiaircraft fire could reach them.

Pentagon sources said this situation has been countered to some extent with better radar jamming.

A total of 589 U.S. warplanes have been lost over North Vietnam, 139 of them since the first of the year.

The vast majority of the losses have been to 37mm, 57mm and 100mm antiaircraft guns fired by increasingly skillful North Vietnamese gunners.

Communist MIG's, according to the freshest information available, have shot down 20 U.S. planes and scored two probable kills.

American pilots have shot down 77 North Vietnamese MIGs, probably downed 9 more and destroyed at least 8 on the ground.

In addition, there are numerous pilot reports of more MIGs smashed in bomb runs and shoot-ups of MIG bases at Hoa Lac, 19 miles west of Hanoi, and at Kep.

Although the officially announced figure for the North Vietnamese air force stands at about 115 planes, sources said it actually is down to around 75 jets— about the size of the North Vietnamese air force before MIG fields were hit for the first time on April 24.

Fifteen of the North Vietnamese jets are believed to be the MIG21 model, the best plane that Hanoi has received from the Soviet Union, and 60 are elderly MIG15 and MIG17 planes. Over the roughly 2½ years of the air war, there have been a number of bombing pauses, some in hopes of bringing North Vietnam to the negotiating table, some in honor of holidays and some caused by weather.

SALEM, Ore. (AP) - Some bean pickers here were paid for beans they did not pick. On checking the scales later, it was found that about 10 per cent of the 500 bean scales was overregistered from one to two pounds too much. The pickers had been paid on the basis of what the scales registered.

Kosygin Boards Plane From U.S. to Cuba

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin left the United States for Cuba today after an historic nine-day stay in this country during which he met with President Johnson and pleaded the Arab cause before the United Nations General Assembly.

The Russian's big turboprop aircraft, Ilyushin 18, lifted off a runway at Kennedy Airport at 12:07 p.m. and turned south toward Cuba on a flight expected to take just over four hours.

Kosygin would be the first high-ranking Soviet official to visit the Caribbean regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro since Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan traveled there in 1962.

Johnson and Kosygin met for more than 10 hours in the little college town of Glassboro, N.J. last Friday and Sunday. They appeared affable after each session, but neither retreated from stated positions on Vietnam or the Middle East.

Before taking off, Kosygin held an impromptu news conference at the airport during which he indicated, as he did Sunday, that President Johnson might not be welcome to visit the Soviet Union at present.

Asked if he had invited Johnson to Moscow, Kosygin said:

"First of all, I think we should have a relieving of tensions in the world."

The Soviet leader was noncommital when asked if he intended to stop over in Paris to see French President Charles de Gaulle after going to Cuba.

"That I can't say," he said. "We haven't made a decision yet."

Then Kosygin passed down a line of newsmen, shaking hands with many of them.

He also thanked Johnson, New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes and the people of New York for the "hospitality accorded me."

Medicaid Clears House

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House today cleared the way for enactment of the state's full implementation of medicaid— providing hospital and medical care for indigents under Title 19 of the federal Medicare act.

The big obstacle— inclusion of chiropractors as authorized healers under the bill— was removed as the House adopted 100-50 a House-Senate compromise.

The Senate had refused to include chiropractors with medical doctors and osteopaths.

That brought on the search for a compromise that twice called for exclusion of chiropractors. The first time the House refused to back down on dropping chiropractors. But this time they were excluded after 90 minutes of bitter argument.

The bill is expected to whip through the Senate without trouble.

Rep. Donald Gralike, D-Lemay, got the House to include chiropractors earlier. He said they were legally practitioners of a healing art and under terms of the federal Medicare act could be included under Title 19.

He renewed his plea in their behalf today, urging the House to reject the compromise and get a full vote on the Senate side before trying once more for a compromise.

He was joined by others who said chiropractors are the only doctors available to poor people in some rural areas.

Gralike asked the House to vote against the compromise "for the chiropractors of the state and for the people of Missouri."

But sponsors of the House-Senate report said its rejection would jeopardize the whole program in this final week of the 1967 session.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes did not ask for implementation of the title 19 portion of the medicaid program in his original recommendations.

But in May he suggested extension of the program in case late revenues would show the necessary 5 million additional would be available.

As the bill now stands Missouri's portion of the cost of Medicare will come to an estimated $11.8 million a year. The federal government will chip in about $17 million more.

The medicaid portion would do this:

Give all welfare recipients— those on old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the permanently and totally disabled and general relief — full hospital care, either as inpatients or outpatients.

It will include all laboratory and x-ray costs.

Provide care by a physician, either medical doctor or osteopath,

Also provide treatment by a dentist.

Pay the cost of necessary drugs.

Welfare recipients also will include those who except for their age or for the brevity of their residence in Missouri would be in one of the welfare programs.

After the hassle over chiropractors was settled, the House also adopted compromise versions of bills granting medicaid services to the blind.

The cost in those areas will come directly from the blind pension fund and will not increase the cost from the state's general revenue fund.

They whipped through the House because the compromises were exactly in the form they cleared the House earlier. In addition to title 19 services, they also include an increase in monthly payments to the blind from $80 to $85.

Also passed after a lot of fun were bills to make galena (lead ore) the official state mineral and mozarkite, a form of chert, the official state rock. Both bills go to the governor.

Police Charge Morehouse Boy With Forgery

A 17-year-old Morehouse youth was charged by Sikeston police Sunday evening with forgery in connection with the passing of three checks totaling $50, police reported today.

Jimmy Lee Sloan, Morehouse, was picked up by Charlie Neal, Morehouse police chief, and brought to the Sikeston police station, where the arrest was made by Sgt. Leonard Campbell.

The three chekcs, returned so far, are drawn on the Bank of Morehouse, police said. They are made payable to "Joe Daniels" and signed with forged signature of "Charles L. Bradshaw" of Morehouse, police reported.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

New York City does not view the presence of the United Nations headquarters as an unmixed blessing.

When deposed Soviet Dictator Nikita Khrushchev came to this county in 1960 to bang his shoe on a United Nations general assembly desk, it cost New York City more than $3 million to provide him with the elaborate police protection which the state department considered necessary.

A similar fortune is being spent now on guarding Soviet Premier A. N. Kosygin, who flew to New York to cry "foul" at the Israeli victory over the Arab world in the Middle East, the destruction of Russian military equipment and damge to the prestige of the Soviet Union, ardent Arab supporters.

There is irony in New York City's predicament because its guest represents a country, which has never been required to pay anything approaching its fair share of UN costs.

Presumably part of the Russian strategy to break this county financially is to require it's major city to entertain its premier in luxury, safety and style even to the point of bankruptcy.

Now, New York City, which never got a dime for protecting Khrushchev, must spend equally heavily to protect Kosygin. It isn't right.

New York City needs the money. It is crime, graft and union ridden and does not have adequate funds to provide for the needs of its own citizens let alone undesirable elements from abroad.

It is true that the UN headquarters are a tourist attraction for New York City, bring people to the city who spend money there, but it is doubtful that it clears enough to pay for the protection required for the top Russian visitors.

Sen. Jacob N. Javits, New York Republican, wants the United States to reimburse New York City in full from its emergency fund.

The United States should reimburse New York City for part of the expense. Full payment cannot be justified in light of benefits the UN brings to the city.

A fifth season is on the calendar of all businessmen.

Along with winter, spring, summer, and fall seasons is the slack season. The typical slack season knows no bounds. It attacks any and all kinds of businesses.

There is only one known remedy for the slack season and that is advertising. Some businesses have slack seasons which last several years. Some never recover.

For instance, a company was begun by a hard-working man 45 years ago. When he died a few years ago, his products were tops and he was a multi-millionaire. Then, new managers took over.

The new group took a look at the financial statements and well-known products. It was decided that advertising was unnecessary. By the end of 1962 the company had dropped from first to fourth place in the industry. Management tried vainly to weather the storm.

As the company dropped to fifth place the next year, something clearly had to be done. So, an advertising manager was hired, and things began to improve. The products were better than ever, but no one had been told about it. Advertising filled this need.

Today, a scant three years later, the same company is vieing for first place in the industry again. One executive said, "Advertising saved our life." The slack season for this company began ten years ago and has only recently begun to change.

Typical slack seasons don't last ten years, but they can affect a businessman just as drastically. Most companies could very easily run aground by having a slack season only two months out of the year. For the local retailer, the antidote is constant newspaper advertising every week in the year. For a lost sales is never regained.

FROM PONTIUS TO FIDEL: THE BAITING GAME

Pontius Pilate sought to appease the mob by allowing the crucifixion of Jesus. Today, his name lives in infamy.

When threatened by Rome, Carthage cried for peace. When the Romans demanded hostages, Carthage compiled. Other demands followed, ending only when the Roman Legions besieged the once proud city, took its people as slaves to Rome, and destroyed the city.

By acceding to Hitler's demands, Neville Chamberlain came away bragging that he had insured "peace in our time." A few months later Hitler struck the blow that plunged the world into war.

The United States is endangered today because some of its people favor a policy of appeasement. Examples:

. When the communists sought to control Poland, the appeasers suggested a coalition government to include communists. Soon a communist government emerged in control of Poland.

. Appeasement helped bring about communist control in Hungary, Yugoslavia, and elsewhere in Eastern Europe.

. For a long while, our government supported anti-communist forces in China. Then the appeasers suggested a coalition government of nationalists and communists. Chiang Kai-shek would not agree, so we stopped military support. As a result, the 700 million Chinese on the mainland are now communist-enslaved, and the Red Chinese dragon is breathing defiance and threats against the free world.

. In 1950, the Soviet-backed armies of North Korea attacked South Korea after the U.S. State Department said Korea was out of the defense perimeter. U.S. airmen were prevented from bombing strategic supply depots behind the Red lines. The apostles of appeasement in the U.S. finally wrangled an armed truce which brought no honor to the U.S. It was the first time American soldiers had fought and died in battle without being allowed to seek victory.

Much of our foreign aid, now in excess of $100 billion, has been given not out of kindness or generosity, but as one variety of appeasement, a peace offering. We have been blackmailed by foreign heads of state who said, "If you do not give us aid we cannot prevent a communist takeover," or "If you don't give us money we'll get it from the communists."

So, we dished out the money to appease the demands of fair-weather friends.

. About nine years ago this nation began negotiations to secure a workable test ban treaty with necessary safeguards. At first we demanded a substantial number of onsite inspections to prevent cheating. As years went by, we slowly began to change our position. The Soviet Union did not want inspections and bluntly informed our negotiators of that fact. Thinking we might persuade the Soviets to accept a smaller number of inspections, we reduced the number. Still they rejected inspections. Finally we accepted a ban which had no effective inspections: we had altered our stand completely to appease Russians, knowing they cannot be trusted.

. In Southeast Asia, the U.S. position was steadily undermined and whittled away. Laos is virtually gone under a supposedly neutral regime. South Vietnam is a battleground into which we will have to pour much more effort to overcome the Viet Cong - all because we waited too long to act.

. When Fidel Castro came to power we gave him aid on the false assumption that he was a disciple of Freedom.

A clearly enunciated and understood foreign policy would say: there is a line beyond which this country will not permit communism to march; we will not negotiate with the Reds because all victories Americans have won from them on the battlefield which have gone to the negotiation table have been lost there.

While a sound and clear policy of form opposition to tyranny, managed revolution, and the overthrow of sovereign governments will not always prevent war, it will often discourage greedy men from trying to start war.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Car drivers between the ages of 20 and 25 are twice as likely to get killed in accidents as those between 30 and 50. The death rate is also higher among those who dropped out of high school than among college graduates.

If you're one of those relaxed husbands who lets the wife do all the summer yard work around the home, be sure your hausfrau drinks plenty of water. She can lose two quarts a day through perspiration if it's very hot. But, better her than you — you could lose up to three quarts.

All that glistens: South African mines have produced more than a million tons of gold — enough to pave a fair-sized city.

One of the hardest of all diseases for many a hard-working doctor to cure is his own melancholy. A recent study showed the suicide rate among physicians was twice that of the rest of the white male population, and the rate among psychiatrists four times as high.

Concentrated: The typical American family now buys half its week's groceries on either Friday or Saturday.

We don't know what this proves, but there are only about 1,000 kinds of soup in the world, whereas there are 15,000 kinds of wine.

Take a deep breath: Researchers estimate that 200 million tons of pollutants are poured into the American atmosphere every year.

The wood thrush, one of nature's sweetest singers, has been named as the official bird of Washington, D.C. Some political cynics think the jaybird might have been even more appropriate.

The average American now consumes 23 pounds of sausage meat products a year — and that ain't all bologna.

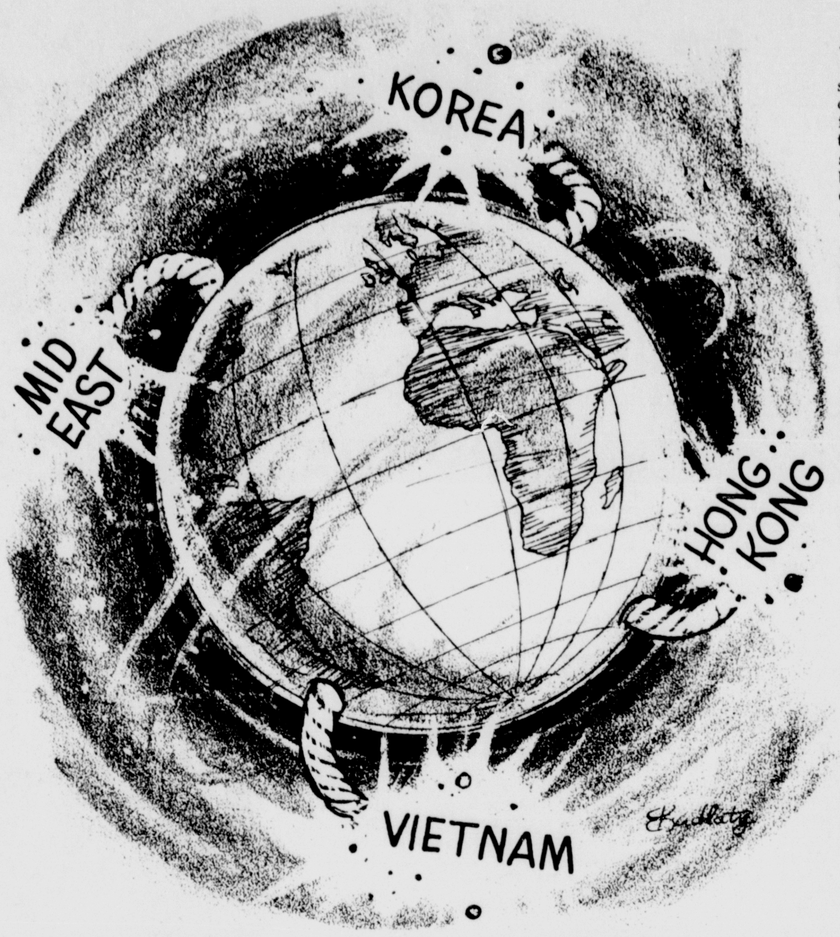

Health tip: Be careful how you use insect sprays, particularly in closed areas. A University of Colorado doctor has found that they can dull your mental functions, dim your memory, and take away your pep.

Quips from our contemporaries: Newest fad is the banana and coconut diet, reports Catholic Digest magazine. "You won't lose weight, but after two weeks you can climb any tree in America."

Medical mystery: Doctors don't know why, but red-haired children and red-fuzzed rabbits — are particularly susceptible to rheumatic fever.

A GOOD NAME . . .
MORE TO BE DESIRED . . .

If Shakespeare, a cagey businessman as well as poet, were around today, he might well write: "Who steals my purse steals trash, but he that filches or copies my trademark enriches himself with the benefit of my good name and potential customers."

Last year 27,683 trademark applications, were filed at the U.S. Patent Office, reports the United States Trademark Association. In addition, the Federal Trade Commission recorded 1,746 company mergers or other name changes.

Once registered, a trademark or name or slogan is a jealously guarded property. Hundreds of conflicts over infringements or alleged infringements fill the courts every year.

One tribunal in 1966 for example, enjoined a defendant from using the slogan "Extra Strength Pain Reliever" because it had become identified in the public's mind with a particular product.

In another case, the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals found that the makers of "Three Feathers" whisky had just cause to protest against the name "Two Feathers," which a fruit processing company had tried to register.

The CCPA also frustrated an attempt by a pharmaceutical manufacturer to acquire sole use of the nickname "the pill" for one of its products on the grounds that it had come up with the first oral contraceptive tablet. In other litigation, however, it held that no confusion was likely to result from the concurrent use of "Pop Tab" and "Pop Top" for two different self-opening beer cans.

Among the many rulings by various courts last year were the following:

"Alive" face cream was too similar to "Come Alive" hair coloring to be permitted. "London Leather" men's toiletries was out of luck; the name had been pre-empted by "English Leather." "Transonic" radios infringed on "Transoceanic" radios. "Coro" phonograph records smacked too much of "Coral" records.

"Hi-Dry" paper tissues, however, was found to be acceptable in the same field as "So-Dri" and "Shur-Dri" tissues. "Pepsup" barbecue sauce won the right to live alongside the well-known soft drink of similar name. And a maker of mobile home units was allowed to use the name "Mustang" despite the existence of the popular sports car.

"Women and children first!"

A drunk stumbled into the emergency room at Belleview and insisted that he had swallowed a whole horse. It was a slow night and the doctors decided to humor him. They got him ready for surgery and put him under ether. As soon as he was asleep, they sent an orderly out for a horse. The drunk came out of the ether to find a big black mare tethered to the foot of his bed. "You made a mistake," cried the drunk. "That's not it. I swallowed a white one."

On the way home he stopped his team and wagon on an isolated bridge a few miles from the farm.

"I'll change into my new clothes right here and really surprise her when I drive up," he thought to himself.

Standing up in the wagon he stripped, throwing all his old clothes over the bridge railing into the river. He then reached back behind the seat and discovered that someone had stolen the box containing all his new clothes. He hesitated only a moment and then, picking up the reins, shouted to the team:

"Get up! "We'll surprise her anyway."

"Toward his gun!" replied the native.

BUYING TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

The American people may be buying more government than they need or even want. Probably the extent of the Federal Government's growth - in number of employees, in range of activity and in cost - since 1960 is not generally realized.

The population of the United States has grown by 10 per cent since that year. But the number of people employed by the Federal Government has increased by 25 per cent, the cost of government payrolls (including military) has grown by 75 per cent, and the total of all government spending has shot up by 83 per cent.

Some apologists for this situation point out that the war in Vietnam has caused expenditures for national defense to rise. This is true. However, while these defense expenditures by the government have increased by 97 per cent.

Unfortunately, the trend is still upward. Federal spending during the last four years has gone on at a rate about two and one-half times as fast as in the immediately preceding four years. It will undoubtedly keep going up until and unless those in government can be brought to abandon the fallacious idea that money poured out like water can solve all the nation's problems overnight -- or anyway this year.

The United States became the greatest success in the world through the industry of its people and through education, training, and sound development of men and resources. These remain sound processes. They are hindered, not helped, when the nation buys too much government. HLH

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- The birthplace of Democracy, Greece, still has more than 6,000 political prisoners in jail or on the island of Youra. The two most famous prisoners are George Papandreou, 80-year-old ex-prime minister, and Andreas Papandreou, his son, who gave up a full professorship of economics at the University of California to go back to Greece and serve in his father's cabinet.

The two Papandreous made the mistake of reforming Greece's tax system, which favored the big ship owners and the wealthy, promoting free public school education; and trying to change the army's caste system whereby only the aristocracy can serve as officers. As a result they now find themselves in jail, kept there by the current "government of the colonels."

When Margaret Papandreou, born in Illinois, studied at the University of Minnesota where she met her professor husband, she roomed with a girl whose husband is now a prominent Los Angeles Attorney, James Schwartz. The other day Schwartz undertook to try to get Andreas Papandreou out of jail. He approached the most famous lawyer in southern California, ex-Gov. Pat Brown.

"I've got a couple of clients in Greece who need a good lawyer," Schwartz said, "but I don't know that they can afford to pay anything."

"Who said anything about a fee?" replied Brown.

Thus began the arrangements by which Brown and Schwartz flew to Athens to undertake the release of Greece's No. 1 political prisoners.

NOT A COMMUNIST

In Athens they were met by a representative of the foreign office, who asked whom they wanted to see.

"We don't want to see anymore at the bottom," replied Brown.

Whereupon they met with Prime Minister Constantine Kolias, then with minister of interior and security Gen. Stylianos Patacos, both very courteous, both worried about American reaction to their dictatorship, but both very firm about political prisoners.

Brown argued that Andreas Papandreou was not a communist, and that Greece would make a mistake if it called a man a communist simply because he disagreed with its government.

"Papandreou is well known and well liked in the United States," said Brown. "He had moderate views both at the University of Minnesota and at the University of California. If it had been a Communist, we would know it.

"Greece and the United States have had good relations in the past," argued Brown, "and it would be helpful to this regime if you let Andreas return to teach in America."

At one point minister of interior Patacos, a former tank commander now in charge of police, remonstrated that the new regime had stopped killing. "I'm a very Christian man," he said. "There have been some killings, but they were by trigger-happy young men. I regret this."

The Greek officials finally replied that Greek courts were impartial and that Andreas would get a fair trial.

But during the conversation Brown noticed a man sitting in the rear and asked who he was. "That's the chief justice of the Greek Supreme Court," was the reply.

This is how impartial Greek justice is under a military dictatorship.

NOTE: Some Democratic leaders of Greece believe it would be a mistake for Andreas Papandreou to desert Greece and go back to the United States now. If he remains in jail he becomes a battle cry for Greek Democracy. If he goes back to the United States, he takes a walk-out powder on the principles he fought for.

THE COST OF WAR

Forthright vice Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, director of naval reactors, USN, gave the house appropriations committee some blunt testimony the other day on the cost of human life in war, due to obsolescent equipment.

Rep. John Rhodes, R-Ariz., got Rickover warmed up by remarking: "The new aircraft carriers will have an endurance of about 13 years. This shows that great advances we have made in technology. It must increase the cost effectiveness somewhat, if I might use a dirty word."

I will use a dirtier word," said the father of the nuclear sub. "I call these cost effectiveness studies on nuclear power 'fog bombs.' They do little but put a blanket of fog over the issue that we should be building the best ships and weapons money can buy for our fighting men.

"What we are trying to do is drag the navy into the 20th century. The fact that we have a nuclear navy today is due almost entirely to congress and the atomic energy commission," continued Rickover, omitting all reference to himself as father of the Nautilus.

"If the U.S. has an advantage over other countries, it is its technological lead. If we are to stay ahead in military matters it will be by means of our technology, not by manpower," said Rickover. "We cannot afford to get to the common denominator of opposing our potential enemies with numbers of men.

"Our navy is obsolescent. There will have to be block replacement of ships. I expect it will cost many billions of dollars before you get through. You might as well start now by building modern ships -- ships with all the advantages nuclear propulsion can provide.

"You will remember my question: What are your constituents more concerned about, the dollars being spent in Vietnam or the weekly casualty lists? The answer is obvious. Anything we can do to reduce the number of our boys killed or wounded is worth a great deal. Cost effectiveness studies do not take loss of life into account."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Small But Disciplined U.S. Communist Party Training Youth Cadres or Infiltration of Strategic Labor.

Detroit: -- Recently, during a long conversation with Britain's Harold Wilson, I sought out his views of the Soviet leadership. He chuckled.

"Had Alexei Kosygin been born and raised in England," replied the Queen's affable first minister, "he would have headed Imperial Chemicals Industry. He is a magnificent organizer and executive. He wastes nothing."

This analysis from on high sprang to mind the other day when this column learned that the Communist Party, USA, had been amply refinanced and was planning to seed labor cadres in concentrated industrial areas. It is the logic of Premier Kosygin's dialectics that he would not waste time or assets on futile projects.

True, the American Communist Party has but 12,000 members and is not about to besiege President Johnson's winter palace even to celebrate this 50th anniversary year of the Soviet revolution. True it has mighty few barricades left for street action. But those 12,000 men and women -- including many young people now -- are a pulsating property. They are hard - core faceless people of the apparatus.

They can make trouble when any summertime incident, any loud-mouth in a crowd gathered in a slum district accident, any provocateur at a mass meeting triggers riots and violence.

They can be exceptionally troublesome on the tense industrial front now sensitively geared to war production. This auto city is one among many in which the Communist Party is preparing for old - fashioned action. This will spread to Pittsburgh, Chicago, the outskirts of Atlanta, and other factory centers from the East Coast megalopolis to California's aerospace concentration.

The party's cadres will be plentiful. This summer, says FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, the party will run special training classes in trade union affairs for a selected group of "party controlled youth."

The graduates of these courses will be dispatched from the special centers, some in the big cities, some to be held in summer camps, to "strategic areas" of the country. They will be under a strict directive to secure jobs in basic industries. They have been selected and ordered to become active in labor circles. They will be under a mandate to fight for union office.

Late last December at a meeting of Midwestern Communists called by the party's Trade Union Commission, Gus Hall, the American Communist Party's mini - Kosygin -- a fast - driving, luxury - loving suburbanite -- laid down a new party line on labor. All Communist Party members belonging to any union must run for some office or committee in that union.

This directive was tossed to one George Meyers, the Baltimorean who is the party's labor commission director. Working with him is a specialist from Pittsburgh, Arthur Edelman.

This is not a long - time project. Action must be swift. The Communist Party leaders have been scolded for not being able to produce more than a handful of pro- Soviet labor leaders in the U.S. willing to lead the party's own kind of "peace" demonstrations.

American party "agit - props" (agitation - propaganda specialists) and members of its secretariat have been asked why they have not planted more young people -- white and Negro -- in the major war plants. Demonstrations, first begun -- by young Negro and white workers -- over grievances, promotions, pay, etc., in military equipment and aircraft plants are just what the Soviets need.

So the party is preparing to train young people -- white and Negro -- to colonize strategic industry. Labor is scarce. Jobs are easy to get. Riots and demonstrations are even easier to provoke. And what would better serve the CP-USA than "peace" demonstrations led by workers at the gates of war plants.

Obviously Premier Kosygin is not planning to waste the American Communist Party.

There is irony in New York City's predicament because its guest represents a country, which has never been required to pay anything approaching its fair share of UN costs.

Presumably part of the Russian strategy to break this county financially is to require it's major city to entertain its premier in luxury, safety and style even to the point of bankruptcy.

Now, New York City, which never got a dime for protecting Khrushchev, must spend equally heavily to protect Kosygin. It isn't right.

New York City needs the money. It is crime, graft and union ridden and does not have adequate funds to provide for the needs of its own citizens let alone undesirable elements from abroad.

It is true that the UN headquarters are a tourist attraction for New York City, bring people to the city who spend money there, but it is doubtful that it clears enough to pay for the protection required for the top Russian visitors.

Sen. Jacob N. Javits, New York Republican, wants the United States to reimburse New York City in full from its emergency fund.

The United States should reimburse New York City for part of the expense. Full payment cannot be justified in light of benefits the UN brings to the city.

A fifth season is on the calendar of all businessmen.

Along with winter, spring, summer, and fall seasons is the slack season. The typical slack season knows no bounds. It attacks any and all kinds of businesses.

There is only one known remedy for the slack season and that is advertising. Some businesses have slack seasons which last several years. Some never recover.

For instance, a company was begun by a hard-working man 45 years ago. When he died a few years ago, his products were tops and he was a multi-millionaire. Then, new managers took over.

The new group took a look at the financial statements and well-known products. It was decided that advertising was unnecessary. By the end of 1962 the company had dropped from first to fourth place in the industry. Management tried vainly to weather the storm.

As the company dropped to fifth place the next year, something clearly had to be done. So, an advertising manager was hired, and things began to improve. The products were better than ever, but no one had been told about it. Advertising filled this need.

Today, a scant three years later, the same company is vieing for first place in the industry again. One executive said, "Advertising saved our life." The slack season for this company began ten years ago and has only recently begun to change.

Typical slack seasons don't last ten years, but they can affect a businessman just as drastically. Most companies could very easily run aground by having a slack season only two months out of the year. For the local retailer, the antidote is constant newspaper advertising every week in the year. For a lost sales is never regained.

FROM PONTIUS TO FIDEL: THE BAITING GAME

Pontius Pilate sought to appease the mob by allowing the crucifixion of Jesus. Today, his name lives in infamy.

When threatened by Rome, Carthage cried for peace. When the Romans demanded hostages, Carthage compiled. Other demands followed, ending only when the Roman Legions besieged the once proud city, took its people as slaves to Rome, and destroyed the city.

By acceding to Hitler's demands, Neville Chamberlain came away bragging that he had insured "peace in our time." A few months later Hitler struck the blow that plunged the world into war.

The United States is endangered today because some of its people favor a policy of appeasement. Examples:

. When the communists sought to control Poland, the appeasers suggested a coalition government to include communists. Soon a communist government emerged in control of Poland.

. Appeasement helped bring about communist control in Hungary, Yugoslavia, and elsewhere in Eastern Europe.

. For a long while, our government supported anti-communist forces in China. Then the appeasers suggested a coalition government of nationalists and communists. Chiang Kai-shek would not agree, so we stopped military support. As a result, the 700 million Chinese on the mainland are now communist-enslaved, and the Red Chinese dragon is breathing defiance and threats against the free world.

. In 1950, the Soviet-backed armies of North Korea attacked South Korea after the U.S. State Department said Korea was out of the defense perimeter. U.S. airmen were prevented from bombing strategic supply depots behind the Red lines. The apostles of appeasement in the U.S. finally wrangled an armed truce which brought no honor to the U.S. It was the first time American soldiers had fought and died in battle without being allowed to seek victory.

Much of our foreign aid, now in excess of $100 billion, has been given not out of kindness or generosity, but as one variety of appeasement, a peace offering. We have been blackmailed by foreign heads of state who said, "If you do not give us aid we cannot prevent a communist takeover," or "If you don't give us money we'll get it from the communists."

So, we dished out the money to appease the demands of fair-weather friends.

. About nine years ago this nation began negotiations to secure a workable test ban treaty with necessary safeguards. At first we demanded a substantial number of onsite inspections to prevent cheating. As years went by, we slowly began to change our position. The Soviet Union did not want inspections and bluntly informed our negotiators of that fact. Thinking we might persuade the Soviets to accept a smaller number of inspections, we reduced the number. Still they rejected inspections. Finally we accepted a ban which had no effective inspections: we had altered our stand completely to appease Russians, knowing they cannot be trusted.

. In Southeast Asia, the U.S. position was steadily undermined and whittled away. Laos is virtually gone under a supposedly neutral regime. South Vietnam is a battleground into which we will have to pour much more effort to overcome the Viet Cong - all because we waited too long to act.

. When Fidel Castro came to power we gave him aid on the false assumption that he was a disciple of Freedom.

A clearly enunciated and understood foreign policy would say: there is a line beyond which this country will not permit communism to march; we will not negotiate with the Reds because all victories Americans have won from them on the battlefield which have gone to the negotiation table have been lost there.

While a sound and clear policy of form opposition to tyranny, managed revolution, and the overthrow of sovereign governments will not always prevent war, it will often discourage greedy men from trying to start war.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Car drivers between the ages of 20 and 25 are twice as likely to get killed in accidents as those between 30 and 50. The death rate is also higher among those who dropped out of high school than among college graduates.

If you're one of those relaxed husbands who lets the wife do all the summer yard work around the home, be sure your hausfrau drinks plenty of water. She can lose two quarts a day through perspiration if it's very hot. But, better her than you — you could lose up to three quarts.

All that glistens: South African mines have produced more than a million tons of gold — enough to pave a fair-sized city.

One of the hardest of all diseases for many a hard-working doctor to cure is his own melancholy. A recent study showed the suicide rate among physicians was twice that of the rest of the white male population, and the rate among psychiatrists four times as high.

Concentrated: The typical American family now buys half its week's groceries on either Friday or Saturday.

We don't know what this proves, but there are only about 1,000 kinds of soup in the world, whereas there are 15,000 kinds of wine.

Take a deep breath: Researchers estimate that 200 million tons of pollutants are poured into the American atmosphere every year.

The wood thrush, one of nature's sweetest singers, has been named as the official bird of Washington, D.C. Some political cynics think the jaybird might have been even more appropriate.

The average American now consumes 23 pounds of sausage meat products a year — and that ain't all bologna.

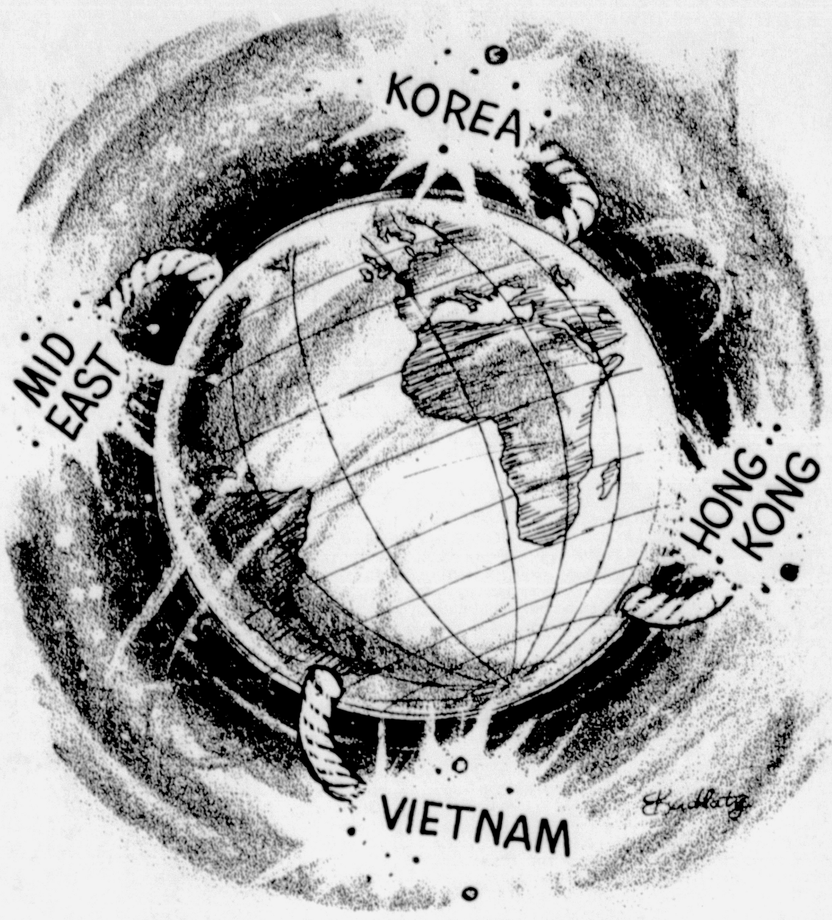

Health tip: Be careful how you use insect sprays, particularly in closed areas. A University of Colorado doctor has found that they can dull your mental functions, dim your memory, and take away your pep.

Quips from our contemporaries: Newest fad is the banana and coconut diet, reports Catholic Digest magazine. "You won't lose weight, but after two weeks you can climb any tree in America."

Medical mystery: Doctors don't know why, but red-haired children and red-fuzzed rabbits — are particularly susceptible to rheumatic fever.

A GOOD NAME . . .
MORE TO BE DESIRED . . .

If Shakespeare, a cagey businessman as well as poet, were around today, he might well write: "Who steals my purse steals trash, but he that filches or copies my trademark enriches himself with the benefit of my good name and potential customers."

Last year 27,683 trademark applications, were filed at the U.S. Patent Office, reports the United States Trademark Association. In addition, the Federal Trade Commission recorded 1,746 company mergers or other name changes.

Once registered, a trademark or name or slogan is a jealously guarded property. Hundreds of conflicts over infringements or alleged infringements fill the courts every year.

One tribunal in 1966 for example, enjoined a defendant from using the slogan "Extra Strength Pain Reliever" because it had become identified in the public's mind with a particular product.

In another case, the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals found that the makers of "Three Feathers" whisky had just cause to protest against the name "Two Feathers," which a fruit processing company had tried to register.

The CCPA also frustrated an attempt by a pharmaceutical manufacturer to acquire sole use of the nickname "the pill" for one of its products on the grounds that it had come up with the first oral contraceptive tablet. In other litigation, however, it held that no confusion was likely to result from the concurrent use of "Pop Tab" and "Pop Top" for two different self-opening beer cans.

Among the many rulings by various courts last year were the following:

"Alive" face cream was too similar to "Come Alive" hair coloring to be permitted. "London Leather" men's toiletries was out of luck; the name had been pre-empted by "English Leather." "Transonic" radios infringed on "Transoceanic" radios. "Coro" phonograph records smacked too much of "Coral" records.

"Hi-Dry" paper tissues, however, was found to be acceptable in the same field as "So-Dri" and "Shur-Dri" tissues. "Pepsup" barbecue sauce won the right to live alongside the well-known soft drink of similar name. And a maker of mobile home units was allowed to use the name "Mustang" despite the existence of the popular sports car.

The new play was a real bomb. People started leaving in droves by the end of the first act and by the end of the second, only a few hearty souls were left. Finally it got to be too much even for most of these and the exodus grew. One of the critics who had braved the ordeal, rose from his aisle seat and raised a restraining hand. "Wait," he commanded. "Women and children first!"

A drunk stumbled into the emergency room at Belleview and insisted that he had swallowed a whole horse. It was a slow night and the doctors decided to humor him. They got him ready for surgery and put him under ether. As soon as he was asleep, they sent an orderly out for a horse. The drunk came out of the ether to find a big black mare tethered to the foot of his bed. "You made a mistake," cried the drunk. "That's not it. I swallowed a white one."

The farmer had hauled a load of produce to town and got a particularly good price of it. His wife had been after him for months to discard his disreputable clothes and buy some new ones so, he thought to himself, "I'll buy a complete new outfit and surprise her."

On the way home he stopped his team and wagon on an isolated bridge a few miles from the farm.

"I'll change into my new clothes right here and really surprise her when I drive up," he thought to himself.

Standing up in the wagon he stripped, throwing all his old clothes over the bridge railing into the river. He then reached back behind the seat and discovered that someone had stolen the box containing all his new clothes. He hesitated only a moment and then, picking up the reins, shouted to the team:

"Get up! "We'll surprise her anyway."

"Toward his gun!" replied the native.

BUYING TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

The American people may be buying more government than they need or even want. Probably the extent of the Federal Government's growth - in number of employees, in range of activity and in cost - since 1960 is not generally realized.

The population of the United States has grown by 10 per cent since that year. But the number of people employed by the Federal Government has increased by 25 per cent, the cost of government payrolls (including military) has grown by 75 per cent, and the total of all government spending has shot up by 83 per cent.

Some apologists for this situation point out that the war in Vietnam has caused expenditures for national defense to rise. This is true. However, while these defense expenditures by the government have increased by 97 per cent.

Unfortunately, the trend is still upward. Federal spending during the last four years has gone on at a rate about two and one-half times as fast as in the immediately preceding four years. It will undoubtedly keep going up until and unless those in government can be brought to abandon the fallacious idea that money poured out like water can solve all the nation's problems overnight -- or anyway this year.

The United States became the greatest success in the world through the industry of its people and through education, training, and sound development of men and resources. These remain sound processes. They are hindered, not helped, when the nation buys too much government. HLH

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- The birthplace of Democracy, Greece, still has more than 6,000 political prisoners in jail or on the island of Youra. The two most famous prisoners are George Papandreou, 80-year-old ex-prime minister, and Andreas Papandreou, his son, who gave up a full professorship of economics at the University of California to go back to Greece and serve in his father's cabinet.

The two Papandreous made the mistake of reforming Greece's tax system, which favored the big ship owners and the wealthy, promoting free public school education; and trying to change the army's caste system whereby only the aristocracy can serve as officers. As a result they now find themselves in jail, kept there by the current "government of the colonels."

When Margaret Papandreou, born in Illinois, studied at the University of Minnesota where she met her professor husband, she roomed with a girl whose husband is now a prominent Los Angeles Attorney, James Schwartz. The other day Schwartz undertook to try to get Andreas Papandreou out of jail. He approached the most famous lawyer in southern California, ex-Gov. Pat Brown.

"I've got a couple of clients in Greece who need a good lawyer," Schwartz said, "but I don't know that they can afford to pay anything."

"Who said anything about a fee?" replied Brown.

Thus began the arrangements by which Brown and Schwartz flew to Athens to undertake the release of Greece's No. 1 political prisoners.

NOT A COMMUNIST

In Athens they were met by a representative of the foreign office, who asked whom they wanted to see.

"We don't want to see anymore at the bottom," replied Brown.

Whereupon they met with Prime Minister Constantine Kolias, then with minister of interior and security Gen. Stylianos Pattacos, both very courteous, both worried about American reaction to their dictatorship, but both very firm about political prisoners.

Brown argued that Andreas Papandreou was not a communist, and that Greece would make a mistake if it called a man a communist simply because he disagreed with its government.

"Papandreou is well known and well liked in the United States," said Brown. "He had moderate views both at the University of Minnesota and at the University of California. If it had been a Communist, we would know it.

"Greece and the United States have had good relations in the past," argued Brown, "and it would be helpful to this regime if you let Andreas return to teach in America."

At one point minister of interior Patacos, a former tank commander now in charge of police, remonstrated that the new regime had stopped killing.

"I'm a very Christian man," he said. "There have been some killings, but they were by trigger-happy young men. I regret this."

The Greek officials finally replied that Greek courts were impartial and that Andreas would get a fair trial.

But during the conversation Brown noticed a man sitting in the rear and asked who he was.

"That's the chief justice of the Greek Supreme Court," was the reply.

This is how impartial Greek justice is under a military dictatorship.

NOTE: Some Democratic leaders of Greece believe it would be a mistake for Andreas Papandreou to desert Greece and go back to the United States now. If he remains in jail he becomes a battle cry for Greek Democracy. If he goes back to the United States, he takes a walk-out powder on the principles he fought for.

THE COST OF WAR

Forthright vice Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, director of naval reactors, USN, gave the house appropriations committee some blunt testimony the other day on the cost of human life in war, due to obsolescent equipment.

Rep. John Rhodes, R-Ariz., got Rickover warmed up by remarking: "The new aircraft carriers will have an endurance of about 13 years. This shows that great advances we have made in technology. It must increase the cost effectiveness somewhat, if I might use a dirty word."

I will use a dirtier word," said the father of the nuclear sub. "I call these cost effectiveness studies on nuclear power 'fog bombs.' They do little but put a blanket of fog over the issue that we should be building the best ships and weapons money can buy for our fighting men.

"What we are trying to do is drag the navy into the 20th century. The fact that we have a nuclear navy today is due almost entirely to congress and the atomic energy commission," continued Rickover, omitting all reference to himself as father of the Nautilus.

"If the U.S. has an advantage over other countries, it is its technological lead. If we are to stay ahead in military matters it will be by means of our technology, not by manpower," said Rickover. "We cannot afford to get to the common denominator of opposing our potential enemies with numbers of men.

"Our navy is obsolescent. There will have to be block replacement of ships. I expect it will cost many billions of dollars before you get through. You might as well start now by building modern ships -- ships with all the advantages nuclear propulsion can provide.

"You will remember my question: What are your constituents more concerned about, the dollars being spent in Vietnam or the weekly casualty lists? The answer is obvious. Anything we can do to reduce the number of our boys killed or wounded is worth a great deal. Cost effectiveness studies do not take loss of life into account."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Small But Disciplined U.S. Communist Party Training Youth Cadres or Infiltration of Strategic Labor.

Detroit: -- Recently, during a long conversation with Britain's Harold Wilson, I sought out his views of the Soviet leadership. He chuckled.

"Had Alexei Kosygin been born and raised in England," replied the Queen's affable first minister, "he would have headed Imperial Chemicals Industry. He is a magnificent organizer and executive. He wastes nothing."

This analysis from on high sprang to mind the other day when this column learned that the Communist Party, USA, had been amply refinanced and was planning to seed labor cadres in concentrated industrial areas. It is the logic of Premier Kosygin's dialectics that he would not waste time or assets on futile projects.

True, the American Communist Party has but 12,000 members and is not about to besiege President Johnson's winter palace even to celebrate this 50th anniversary year of the Soviet revolution. True it has mighty few barricades left for street action. But those 12,000 men and women -- including many young people now -- are a pulsating property. They are hard - core faceless people of the apparatus.

They can make trouble when any summertime incident, any loud-mouth in a crowd gathered in a slum district accident, any provocateur at a mass meeting triggers riots and violence.

They can be exceptionally troublesome on the tense industrial front now sensitively geared to war production. This auto city is one among many in which the Communist Party is preparing for old - fashioned action. This will spread to Pittsburgh, Chicago, the outskirts of Atlanta, and other factory centers from the East Coast megalopolis to California's aerospace concentration.

The party's cadres will be plentiful. This summer, says FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, the party will run special training classes in trade union affairs for a selected group of "party controlled youth."

The graduates of these courses will be dispatched from the special centers, some in the big cities, some to be held in summer camps, to "strategic areas" of the country. They will be under a strict directive to secure jobs in basic industries. They have been selected and ordered to become active in labor circles. They will be under a mandate to fight for union office.

Late last December at a meeting of Midwestern Communists called by the party's Trade Union Commission, Gus Hall, the American Communist Party's mini - Kosygin -- a fast - driving, luxury - loving suburbanite -- laid down a new party line on labor. All Communist Party members belonging to any union must run for some office or committee in that union.

This directive was tossed to one George Meyers, the Baltimorean who is the party's labor commission director. Working with him is a specialist from Pittsburgh, Arthur Edelman.

This is not a long - time project. Action must be swift. The Communist Party leaders have been scolded for not being able to produce more than a handful of pro- Soviet labor leaders in the U.S. willing to lead the party's own kind of "peace" demonstrations.

American party "agit - props" (agitation - propaganda specialists) and members of its secretariat have been asked why they have not planted more young people -- white and Negro -- in the major war plants. Demonstrations, first begun -- by young Negro and white workers -- over grievances, promotions, pay, etc., in military equipment and aircraft plants are just what the Soviets need.

So the party is preparing to train young people -- white and Negro -- to colonize strategic industry. Labor is scarce. Jobs are easy to get. Riots and demonstrations are even easier to provoke. And what would better serve the CP-USA than "peace" demonstrations led by workers at the gates of war plants.

Obviously Premier Kosygin is not planning to waste the American Communist Party.

Silver can be used for more than just a pretty pin. It has many uses in medicine - for antiseptics, astringents and caustics and it is ideal for surgical wire and plates to replace bones. Silver also sterilizes water, fills teeth, backs mirrors, acts as a catalyst in the manufacture of ferilizers and destroys warts.

Add creamstyle corn (canned) to a thin white sauce and you'll have a nourishing soup for the family. Pass a peppermill at the table so the grownups can give their portion extra tang.

Kosygin's Daughter At Lunch

ISLAND BEACH STATE PARK, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey governor's wife says the 38-year-old daughter of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is a "warm, lovely girl—the kind any mother would be proud of."

"She's so charming," Mrs. Richard J. Hughes said Sunday after entertaining Kosygin's daughter, Ludmilla A. Gvishiani, for more than three hours.

Other guests at what Mrs. Hughes called "a seaside summit" were Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and her daughter Lynda Bird.

All spent the afternoon at the Hughes' 10-room summer home on the edge of the Atlantic Ocean while President Johnson and Kosygin discussed world problems 65 miles away at Glassboro, N.J.

A helicopter brought the ladies from Glassboro, to a windswept, 10-mile-long peninsula. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Hughes pointed out sights in south Jersey during the 45-minute trip.

Mrs. Gvishiani saw vegetable and fruit farms, cranberry bogs, beaches filled with bathers, the Atlantic City boardwalk and the convention hall where Johnson was nominated by the Democrats in 1964.

The copter landed at a Coast Guard station one-half mile from the Hughes' seaside home. A three-car motorcade took the ladies to the 1½-story gray cedar shingle home over a traffic-free highway.

Security forces closed the 2,600-acre state park to incoming traffic during the visit.

At a luncheon prepared by the governor's cook and three neighbor women, the ladies dined on chicken and wild rice, a tossed salad with oil and vinegar dressing and white wine. For dessert, they had fresh New Jersey strawberries with cream.

After lunch, Mrs. Hughes showed Mrs. Gvishiani her house.

"She enjoyed the kitchen, especially the combination freezer-refrigerator," said Mrs. Hughes. "She also liked the washer and dryer, the dishwasher and the childrens' playroom."

Mrs. Hughes said she thought Mrs. Gvishiani was "really thrilled over seeing how an American family lived."

Before going for a walk on the beach, Mrs. Johnson gave Mrs. Gvishiani a small gold wrist watch, a mirror made in New England in 1790 and two autographed books, "Washington, Magnificent Capital" and "The Living White House."

She also received a book on art from Lynda Bird and a china bowl from Mrs. Hughes.

Silver can be used for more than just a pretty pin. It has many uses in medicine - for antiseptics, astringents and caustics and it is ideal for surgical wire and plates to replace bones. Silver also sterilizes water, fills teeth, backs mirrors, acts as a catalyst in the manufacture of ferilizers and destroys warts.

QUICK SALAD VARIATIONS

With the many fresh fruits and vegetables on the market we need to take advantage of them. Using a little imagination and very little time we can provide the family with new and pleasing salads that will tempt their palates.

Combine shreded cabbage with chopped green pepper and pimiento. Serve with garlic French Dressing and a dash of Tabasco.

Add salted peanuts to shredded cabbage and serve with French dressing.

Use chive French dressing on sliced tomatoes and cottage cheese.

Use onion French dressing on sliced cucumber combined with sliced radishes and green pepper stripes.

For a real party salad remove the center of a cucumber and fill with seasoned cream cheese. Slice and arrange on lettuce. Top with French dressing.

Spread apple slices with cream cheese and top with French dressing.

Combine diced apples, raw cranberries halved, diced celery and serve with creamy French dressing.

Use crushed pineapple, chopped cucumber and lettuce served with mayonnaise.

Pinneapple chunks and melon balls are interesting served with mint French dressing.

Try sliced pineapple with prunes stuffed with cream cheese and French dressing.

Add sliced bananas to shredded cabbage and serve with mayonnaise that has prepared mustard added to it.

Slice bananas lengthwise, spread with peanut butter, press together. Slice crosswise with a sprinke of chopped peanuts. Top with creamy French dressing.

Cubs Make Hay While Birds Falter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Can Joey Niekro pitch?" yelled Randy Hundley.

"Yes, he can," bellowed Ron Santo.

"Can Ernie Banks hit?" shouted Dick Radatz.

"Yes, he can," answered Banks. "Let's play another one."

It went on and on. The surprising third - place Chicago Cubs were acting like a bunch of kids, having a ball after sweeping a doubleheader from Houston 4-1 and 8-0 Sunday.

It wasn't at all like a team that has not finished in first division since 1946.

The Cubs have blown their balloon so big, they've moved within four games of first place in the National League after front-running St. Louis lost a twinbill to Philadelphia 6-4 and 10-4.

Chicago also pulled within 1-1/2 games of second-place Cincinnati as Pittsburgh beat the Reds 5-4.

Clete Boyer of Atlanta has been having a good time, too. His hot hat boosted the Braves to a 4-2 vistory over the New York Mets.

In the other National League game, Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 2-1 on Len Gabrielson's run-scoring pinch hit single in the ninth inning.

Some 31,000 fans, the largest Cub home crowd in two years, whooped it up all day and gave the 36-year-old Banks a standing ovation after each of his pair of two-run homers in the second game he was not supposed to play.

"If it had been a hot day, I wouldn't have played him," said Manager Leo Durocher after his team ran its winning streak to six, longest in four years.

Former relievers Bill Hands and Niekro, who probably would not have been starting at all if Ken Holtzman had not been called into the Army, pitched their first complete games in the major leagues.

Hands yielded only five hits in the opener after failing 27 times in two years to go the distance. Niekro, a rookie making his fifth start, set the Astros down on three singles in the second game.

Don Lock drove the nail into the Cardinals, knocking in six runs with six hits, including two two-run homers. His first clout capped a three-run fifth inning in the first game for a 5-2 lead. His second gave Philadelphia 2-0 lead in in the nightcap, and the Phils used four of five St. Louis errors to add six un-earned runs.

Matty Alou sliced two singles and a home run and Manny Jimenez added a homer as the Pirates dealt the Reds their sixth loss in eight starts and left them 2 games behind St. Louis.

Boyer, who never drove in more than 68 runs in a season in the majors, knocked in all Atlanta's runs with two singles and a double, raising his RBI total to 46, only one less than teammate Hank Aaron and seven off the league lead.

The Braves also got help from another Niekro, Joe's brother Phil, who pitched three shutout innings to save the victory for Pat Jarvis.

Gabrielson's two - out hit off Frank Linzy breaking a 1-1 tie, came after Willie Davis singled and took second on an infield out, and gave Don Drysdale a seven-hit triumph.

(NEA Telephotos)

Oran Nips Benton In 3-1 Thriller

ORAN -- A timely two - run double in the bottom of the fifth inning and a strong job of relief pitching preserved Oran's unbeaten status Saturday night by carrying the Eagles to a 3-1 triumph over Benton in SEMO League high school summer baseball.

Blattel, the Eagle second baseman, delivered the tie - breaking double in the fifth after Benton had knotted the score 1-1 with a run in the fourth. A single by Whorton, a walk by LeGrand and a double steal found runners stationed at second and third when Blattel came to the plate and ripped the game deciding blow to boast Oran's league record to 3-0.

Blattel also had a hand in Oran's first run. After LeGrand reached base on an error, Blattel clubbed a single to advance the runner to third, from where he scored the first run of the game on a squeeze bunt by Tenkhoff, who started on the mound for the Eagles. Benton's run in the top of the fourth was produced by a hit batsman, a base on balls and a fielders choice.

When the visitors put two more runners on base with only one out in the fifth, Halter moved in from first base to take over pitching duties and put down Benton's bid to take over the lead. Halter proceeded to hold the losers hitless and scoreless while striking out seven batters over the final 2 2/3 innings.

Blattel and Whorton each had two hits to lead Oran's five - hit attack. Bernard and Davis collected Benton's lone hits.

Grand Slam Homer Trims A's

By the Associated Press

Rick Reichardt will remember his first grand slam homer as the one that didn't reach the seats.

The Kansas City Athletics will write it off as just another bad hop.

But California's George Brunet will count it as one of the few good bounces he's had all year.

Reichardt's initial bases-loaded homer in the majors - an inside-the-park shot that caromed crazily past right fielder Mike Hershberger in the first inning - carried Brunet and the Angels past the Als 4-3 Sunday.

The victory was only the fourth in 15 decisions for Brunet, a hard-luck southpaw who recently lost nine in a row while the Angels scored a total of 18 runs for him.

In other American League games, Minnesota topped first place Chicago White Sox 3-1, Baltimore drubbed Washington 8-3, the New York Yankees shaded Detroit 3-2 and Boston whipped Cleveland 8-3.

Jim Fregosi beat out an infield hit with two out in the first inning and KC starter John "Blue Moon" Odom walked Don Mincher and Jimmie Hall, filling the bases, before Reichardt's drive off the right field fence skipped away from Hershberger.

Reichardt, a speedster despite his 215-pound bulk, chased Fregosi, Mincher and Hall across the plate for his ninth homer of the season.

Brunet gave up a run in the Athletics' first, then nursed the 4-1 margin until the eighth, when relief ace Minnie Rojas was called on to halt a two-run rally. Rojas retired the A's in order in the ninth, preserving the Angels' 15th victory in their last 20 games.

The Twins rallied for three runs with two out in the eighth, Earl Battey's two-run pinch triple keying the burst, and gave unbeaten Jim Merritt his fifth victory. Merritt allowed only three hits - including a run-scoring single by Don Buford in the third - before being lifted for a hitter during the winning rally.

Singles by Zoilo Versalles and Frank Kostro preceded Battey's triple off loser Tommy John and pinch runner Dave Boswell scored the third Minnesota run on Cesar Tovar's infield hit. Baltimore's Robinson boys, Frank and Brooks, stroked three hits apiece and scored five runs between them as the Orioles buried Washington under a 15-hit barrage.

Boog Powell, Curt Blefary and Vic Roznovsky each drove in a pair of runs, and rookie Tom Phoebus registered his sixth victory with relief help from Moe Drabowsky.

Tom Tresh's two-run single in the fourth inning - a run-scoring single by Mickey Mantle in the fifth and a triple play lifted the Yankees past Detroit, completing a New York sweep of the three-game series.

Singles by Don Wert and Ray Oyler got winner Mel Stottlemyre into a fifth inning jam before second baseman Horace Clarke gloved Jerry Lumpe's liner and started the first AL triple play this season. Clarke flipped to shortstop Ruben Amaro, doubling Wert at second, and Amara's toss to first baseman Mantle nailed Oyler.

Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer and bases-empty blasts by Joe Foy and Bob Tillman - who had three hits apiece - powered the Red Sox' attack.

Dickinson Breaks Drouth With 4-Stroke Victory

CLEVELAND, Ohio AP -- It was a long five - year drought, but Gardner Dickinson figures the first place money of $20,700 was worth waiting for.

"It was a very satisfying victory," the slightly built, 135-pound Florida pro noted after he breezed home in even par 70 Sunday to win the Cleveland Open golf championship. He finished nine-under for the 72 holes with a 271.

It was the first tour title since 1962 for the steady Dickinson who has become a familiar trademark on golf courses everywhere with his white-billed cap.

"I've played very consistently for a good while and haven't missed very many fairways. I've worked hard. But I can't give enough credit to Tony Penna who has worked tirelessly with me to help my game the last six years."

Penna is a pro from Palm Beach, Fla. Dickinson, whose best previous finish this year was a tie for third at Phoenix, Airz., also credited fabled Ben Hogan for some lessons in 1954 when the Florida golfer got out of the Army.

Dickinson, who played the tight 6,611-yard Aurora Country Club course with precision accuracy, wasn't quite as sharp as in earlier rounds when he posted scores of 68, 66 and 67.

Two Texans, Miller Barber and Homero Blancas, finished tied for second with 275s.

Tommy Aaron, who had the day's best round with a 66, closed in a five-way deadlock for fourth place with Jerry Edwards, Allen Henning, Phil Rodgers and Lou Graham. All had 277s.

A stroke back at 278 were Cobie LeGrange, Wayne Yates and Arnold Palmer. Grouped at 279 were Lionel Hebert, Gene Litler, Bert Weaver and Billy Casper.

U. S. Open king Jack Nicklaus and Masters champion Gay Brewer were locked at 282 with four others.

Teen-Ager Takes Title

ST. JOSEPH (AP) -- Refusing to buckle after losing a commanding lead, 17-year-old Tommy Watson bounced back with three straight birdies and won the Missouri men's amateur golf championship Sunday by beating Rod Horn 4 and 3. Both are from Kansas City.

Watson held a 3-up lead after their morning round, and increased it to 4 up on the fifth hole of the afternoon. Then Watson's fine touch in chipping and putting deserted him and Horn won he next four holes to even the match.

Horn's drive went astray on the 11th and Watson went 1 up. Regaining his touch, Watson closed out the match by dropping birdie putts of 30 feet on No. 13, 8 feet on the 14th and 6 feet on the 15th.

Draw Again Puts Pasarell In Tough Spot

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Charlie Pasarell, the Puerto Rican who stands fourth in the U.S. tennis rankings, had a date on the center court at Wimbledon today which could make him the first hero of this year's tournament.

The hard-hitting 23-year-old Davis Cupper from Santurce was drawn to play Spain's Manuel Santana, the reigning champion, in the first round. The champion traditionally leads off the tournament on center court.

Pasarell has had tough luck in the Wimbledon drawn in the last couple of years. Last year, too, he had to play the reigning champion - then Roy Emerson of Australia. That was in the third round. Pasarell lost in three straight sets.

The bookies have made Emerson the even money favorite to win the title for the third time in four years. Santana is second favorite at 4 to 1.

Last week's London Grass Court championships at Queen's Club did nothing except confuse Wimbledon prospects.

Santana and Emerson were both tumbled out of the tournament by players who are not seeded for Wimbledon. So were two other Wimbledon seeds, Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, No. 5, and Bill Bowrey of Australia, No. 8.

One of those who did the damage was Tom Okker, 22-year-old Dutch soldier who has been given leave from the Netherlands Army. He eliminated Emerson and Bowrey.

Santana was knocked out by Ray Moore of South Africa.

For the first time ever, the United States did not have one player seeded in the men's singles at Wimbledon.

Davis Cuppers Cliff Richey, of San Angelo, Tex., and Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, were the best bets to restore America's declining reputation. Both played in the disastrous Davis Cup match at Guayaquil last week, when the United States was eliminated by Ecuador.

The two Americans flew to England last week and go into Wimbledon without any tournament practice on grass.

Richey's first round opponent was Ronald Barnes of Brazil. Graebner played Nikola Spear of Yugoslavia.

The tournament lasts two weeks, with the men's singles final on Friday, July 7 and the other finals July 8.

Lewis and Clark's great expedition cost the government only $2,500 back in 1804-05. Its results were invaluable. The feat not only solidified America's claim to the Northwest and opened it to settlement, but their maps and journals gave their countrymen an exciting picture of the land that stretched from sea to sea.

Cubs MakeHay While Birds Falter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Can Joey Niekro pitch?" yelled Randy Hundley.

"Yes, he can," bellowed Ron Santo.

"Can Ernie Banks hit?" shouted Dick Radatz.

"Yes, he can," answered Banks. "Let's play another one."

It went on and on. The surprising third - place Chicago Cubs were acting like a bunch of kids, having a ball after sweeping a doubleheader from Houston 4-1 and 8-0 Sunday.

It wasn't at all like a team that has not finished in first division since 1946.

The Cubs have blown their balloon so big, they've moved within four games of first place in the National League after front-running St. Louis lost a twinbill to Philadelphia 6-4 and 10-4.

Chicago also pulled within 1-1/2 games of second-place Cincinnati as Pittsburgh beat the Reds 5-4.

Clete Boyer of Atlanta has been having a good time, too. His hot hat boosted the Braves to a 4-2 vistory over the New York Mets.

In the other National League game, Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 2-1 on Len Gabrielson's run-scoring pinch hit single in the ninth inning.

Some 31,000 fans, the largest Cub home crowd in two years, whooped it up all day and gave the 36-year-old Banks a standing ovation after each of his pair of two-run homers in the second game he was not supposed to play.

"If it had been a hot day, I wouldn't have played him," said Manager Leo Durocher after his team ran its winning streak to six, longest in four years.

Former relievers Bill Hands and Niekro, who probably would not have been starting at all if Ken Holtzman had not been called into the Army, pitched their first complete games in the major leagues.

Hands yielded only five hits in the opener after failing 27 times in two years to go the distance.

Niekro, a rookie making his fifth start, set the Astros down on three singles in the second game.

Don Lock drove the nail into the Cardinals, knocking in six runs with six hits, including two two-run homers. His first clout capped a three-run fifth inning in the first game for a 5-2 lead. His second gave Philadelphia 2-0 lead in in the nightcap, and the Phils used four of five St. Louis errors to add six un-earned runs.

Matty Alou sliced two singles and a home run and Manny Jimenez added a homer as the Pirates dealt the Reds their sixth loss ' eight starts and left them 2 games behind St. Louis.

Boyer, who never drove in more than 68 runs in a season in the majors, knocked in all Atlanta's runs with two singles and a double, raising his RBI total to 46, only one less than teammate Hank Aaron and seven off the league lead.

The Braves also got help from another Niekro, Joe's brother Phil, who pitched three shutout innings to save the victory for Pat Jarvis.

Gabrielson's two - out hit off Frank Linzy breaking a 1-1 tie, came after Willie Davis singled and took second on an infield out, and gave Don Drysdale a seven-hit triumph.

Nurmi, now 70 years old, takes things slower, as demonstrated on left by a leisurely stroll through a Helsinki market place. Nurmi set 25 track records during his career.

Oran NipsBenton In 3-1 Thriller

ORAN -- A timely two - run double in the bottom of the fifth inning and a strong job of relief pitching preserved Oran's unbeaten status Saturday night by carrying the Eagles to a 3-1 triumph over Benton in SEMO League high school summer baseball.

Blattel, the Eagle second baseman, delivered the tie - breaking double in the fifth after Benton had knotted the score 1-1 with a run in the fourth. A single by Whorton, a walk by LeGrand and a double steal found runners stationed at second and third when Blattel came to the plate and ripped the game deciding blow to boast Oran's league record to 3-0.

Blattel also had a hand in Oran's first run. After LeGrand reached base on an error, Blattel clubbed a single to advance the runner to third, from where he scored the first run of the game on a squeeze bunt by Tenkhoff, who started on the mound for the Eagles. Benton's run in the top of the fourth was produced by a hit batsman, a base on balls and a fielders choice.

When the visitors put two more runners on base with only one out in the fifth, Halter moved in from first base to take over pitching duties and put down Benton's bid to take over the lead. Halter proceeded to hold the losers hitless and scoreless while striking out seven batters over the final 2 2/3 innings.

Blattel and Whorton each had two hits to lead Oran's five - hit attack. Bernard and Davis collected Benton's lone hits.

Grand Slam Homer Trims A's

By the Associated Press

Rick Reichardt will remember his first grand slam homer as the one that didn't reach the seats.

The Kansas City Athletics will write it off as just another bad hop.

But California's George Brunet will count it as one of the few good bounces he's had all year.

Reichardt's initial bases-loaded homer in the majors - an inside-the-park shot that caromed crazily past right fielder Mike Hershberger in the first inning - carried Brunet and the Angels past the Als 4-3 Sunday.

The victory was only the fourth in 15 decisions for Brunet, a hard-luck southpaw who recently lost nine in a row while the Angels scored a total of 18 runs for him.

In other American League games, Minnesota topped first place Chicago White Sox 3-1, Baltimore drubbed Washington 8-3, the New York Yankees shaded Detroit 3-2 and Boston whipped Cleveland 8-3.

Jim Fregosi beat out an infield hit with two out in the first inning and KC starter John "Blue Moon" Odom walked Don Mincher and Jimmie Hall, filling the bases, before Reichardt's drive off the right field fence skipped away from Hershberger.

Reichardt, a speedster despite his 215-pound bulk, chased Fregosi, Mincher and Hall across the plate for his ninth homer of the season.

Brunet gave up a run in the Athletics' first, then nursed the 4-1 margin until the eighth, when relief ace Minnie Rojas was called on to halt a two-run rally. Rojas retired the A's in order in the ninth, preserving the Angels' 15th victory in their last 20 games.

The Twins rallied for three runs with two out in the eighth, Earl Battey's two-run pinch triple keying the burst, and gave unbeaten Jim Merritt his fifth victory. Merritt allowed only three hits - including a run-scoring single by Don Buford in the third - before being lifted for a hitter during the winning rally.

Singles by Zoilo Versalles and Frank Kostro preceded Battey's triple off loser Tommy John and pinch runner Dave Boswell scored the third Minnesota run on Cesar Tovar's infield hit. Baltimore's Robinson boys, Frank and Brooks, stroked three hits apiece and scored five runs between them as the Orioles buried Washington under a 15-hit barrage.

Boog Powell, Curt Blefary and Vic Roznovsky each drove in a pair of runs, and rookie Tom Phoebus registered his sixth victory with relief help from Moe Drabowsky.

Tom Tresh's two-run single in the fourth inning - a run-scoring single by Mickey Mantle in the fifth and a triple play lifted the Yankees past Detroit, completing a New York sweep of the three-game series.

Singles by Don Wert and Ray Oyler got winner Mel Stottlemyre into a fifth inning jam before second baseman Horace Clarke gloved Jerry Lumpe's liner and started the first AL triple play this season. Clarke flipped to shortstop Ruben Amaro, doubling Wert at second, and Amara's toss to first baseman Mantle nailed Oyler.

Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer and bases-empty blasts by Joe Foy and Bob Tillman - who had three hits apiece - powered the Red Sox' attack.

Dickinson Breaks Drouth With 4-Stroke Victory

CLEVELAND, Ohio AP -- It was a long five - year drought, but Gardner Dickinson figures the first place money of $20,700 was worth waiting for.

"It was a very satisfying victory," the slightly built, 135-pound Florida pro noted after he breezed home in even par 70 Sunday to win the Cleveland Open golf championship. He finished nine-under for the 72 holes with a 271.

It was the first tour title since 1962 for the steady Dickinson who has become a familiar trademark on golf courses everywhere with his white-billed cap.

Dickinson, who played the tight 6,611-yard Aurora Country Club course with precision accuracy, wasn't quite as sharp as in earlier rounds when he posted scores of 68, 66 and 67.

Two Texans, Miller Barber and Homero Blancas, finished tied for second with 275s.

Tommy Aaron, who had the day's best round with a 66, closed in a five-way deadlock for fourth place with Jerry Edwards, Allen Henning, Phil Rodgers and Lou Graham. All had 277s.

A stroke back at 278 were Cobie LeGrange, Wayne Yates and Arnold Palmer. Grouped at 279 were Lionel Hebert, Gene Litler, Bert Weaver and Billy Casper.

U. S. Open king Jack Nicklaus and Masters champion Gay Brewer were locked at 282 with four others.

Teen-Ager Takes Title

ST. JOSEPH (AP) -- Refusing to buckle after losing a commanding lead, 17-year-old Tommy Watson bounced back with three straight birdies and won the Missouri men's amateur golf championship Sunday by beating Rod Horn 4 and 3. Both are from Kansas City.

Watson held a 3-up lead after their morning round, and increased it to 4 up on the fifth hole of the afternoon. Then Watson's fine touch in chipping and putting deserted him and Horn won he next four holes to even the match.

Horn's drive went astray on the 11th and Watson went 1 up. Regaining his touch, Watson closed out the match by dropping birdie putts of 30 feet on No. 13, 8 feet on the 14th and 6 feet on the 15th.

Lewis and Clark's great expedition cost the government only $2,500 back in 1804-05. Its results were invaluable. The feat not only solidified America's claim to the Northwest and opened it to settlement, but their maps and journals gave their countrymen an exciting picture of the land that stretched from sea to sea.

CITIZEN OWNED - CITIZEN OPERATED

SHOOTING VICTIM Joe Lee Matthews, 36, Painton, lies near the front doorway after being shot in the home of Mrs. Esque Williams, 112 Thompson St., around 3:30 p.m. Sunday. He was pronounced dead shortly after 4 p.m. A murder charge has been filed against Charlie Williams, 86, visiting at the home, and no relation to the owner of the home.

Muder Charge Filed

An 86 year old Sikeston man was charged with first degree murder today in connection with the slaying of Joe Lee Matthews, 36, Painton, Sunday afternoon in Sunset Addition, Scott County prosecuting attorney Fielding Potashnick said.

Charlie Williams, the accused, is being held presently in the Sikeston jail. He is in the custody of Scott County authorities. A .22 caliber pistol was found near the body of the deceased.

The charge was filed before noon today in magistrate court in Benton by Potashnick. Williams will appear in magistrate court in Sikeston tomorrow for arraignment and the setting of a preliminary hearing.

Williams made no statement following the arrest Sunday and asked for his lawyer, police reported.

Matthews, the deceased, was pronounced dead by Scott County Coroner Gene Nunnelee at 4:02 p.m. Sunday at the residence of Mrs. Esque Williams, 112 Thompson, where the shooting occurred, police said.

Sgt. Leonard Campbell said he was called by an unknown person at about 3:30 p.m. Sunday concerning the shooting. Campbell said a large crowd had gathered at the Williams house when he arrived and Mrs. Williams was standing outside the house.

Mrs. Williams and Charlie Williams, the accused, are not related, police reported. They are just good friends, Campbell said.

Police said four shots were fired in the house and two struck the deceased. Both bullets that struck the victim were believed to have been fired from a .22 caliber pistol.

Two pistols, a .22 caliber and a .32 caliber had been fired, police reported. Both shots that struck the body of the dead man were thought to have been fired from the .22 caliber pistol. The .22 caliber pistol is believed to be owned by Charlie Williams, police said. The other pistol, from which one shot was fired, is owned by Mrs. Esque Williams, police reported.

The story behind the shooting is not clear and evidence of a motive is not strong, but, apparently jealousy was involved, police said.

According to Mrs. Williams story, police reported, she had spent Saturday night in Bell City and returned from a club named "Main Macy's" with Matthews.

Mrs. Williams didn't even know Matthews' name, Potashnick reported. He, (Matthews) found a ride for Mrs. Williams about noon Sunday in Bell City and returned with her, police said.

Mrs. Williams said that Charlie Williams came into her house carrying a gun and began arguing with her. He began chasing her around the house with the gun pulled. He slipped and fell.

Mrs. Williams said she ran out of the house when he fell, and heard a shot fired after leaving the house, police reported.

Mrs. Williams said she then heard Matthews ask her if she had a gun. To which she replied there was a pistol under her mattress. She told police she later heard other shots, but did not go inside the house again.

ONE OF TWO weapons involved in the shooting of Joe Lee Matthews, Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Esque Williams, at her home at the corner of Thompson and Osage street is shown in the upper left corner. The gun believed to be a .22 pistol lies on the floor about eight feet from the dead man.

We usually think of grass as little green blades, a few inches tall. But bamboo is considered a grass and it grows to a height of 120 feet in India and China, of rye grass, about 10 feet in height, and 12-foot-tall corn grass.

Know how to prepare tomatoes for stuffing? Cut a slice (about 1/4-inch thick) from the top of each tomato. With a teaspoon, scoop out the pulp and seeds and it grows to a height each tomato. Other tall grasses are oat grass, from the center, leaving a subabout five feet tall, giant wild stantial "wall." Invest tomato cups to drain before stuffing.

CAB Feels Airline Drinkers Should Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — You'll have to pay to tipple while flying commercially if the Civil Aeronautics Board has its way.

The board proposed Friday that all airlines charge passengers separate fees for alcoholic beverages they consume. At present, free drinks are provided for first-class passengers on most major airlines. Coach passengers pay $1 a drink.

The CAB maintained providing liquor was a separate service apart from the transportation functions of the airlines and that passengers should directly bear the cost.

The airlines have until July 24 to present arguments against the proposal.

SHOOTING VICTIM Joe Lee Matthews, 36, Painton, lies near the front doorway after being shot in the home of Mrs. Esque Williams, 112 Thompson St., around 3:30 p.m. Sunday. He was pronounced dead shortly after 4 p.m. A murder charge has been filed against Charlie Williams, 86, visiting at the home, and no relation to the owner of the home.

ONE OF TWO weapons involved in the shooting of Joe Lee Matthews, Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Esque Williams, at her home at the corner of Thompson and Osage street is shown in the upper left corner. The gun believed to be a .22 pistol lies on the floor about eight feet from the dead man.

We usually think of grass as little green blades, a few inches tall. But bamboo is considered a grass and it grows to a height of 120 feet in India and China. Other tall grasses are oat grass, about five feet tall, giant wild rye grass, about 10 feet height, and 12-foot-tall corn grass.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Muder Charge Filed

An 86 year old Sikeston man was charged with first degree murder today in connection with the slaying of Joe Lee Matthews, 36, Painton, Sunday afternoon in Sunset Addition, Scott County prosecuting attorney Fielding Potashnick said.

Charlie Williams, the accused, is being held presently in the Sikeston jail. He is in the custody of Scott County authorities. A .22 caliber pistol was found near the body of the deceased.

The charge was filed before noon today in magistrate court in Benton by Potashnick. Williams will appear in magistrate court in Sikeston tomorrow for arraignment and the setting of a preliminary hearing.

Williams made no statement following the arrest Sunday and asked for his lawyer, police reported.

Matthews, the deceased, was pronounced dead by Scott County Coroner Gene Nunnelee at 4:02 p.m. Sunday at the residence of Mrs. Esque Williams, 112 Thompson, where the shooting occurred, police said.

Sgt. Leonard Campbell said he was called by an unknown person at about 3:30 p.m. Sunday concerning the shooting. Campbell said a large crowd had gathered at the Williams house when he arrived and Mrs. Williams was standing outside the house.

Mrs. Williams and Charlie Williams, the accused, are not related, police reported. They are just good friends, Campbell said.

Police said four shots were fired in the house and two struck the deceased. Both bullets that struck the victim were believed to have been fired from a .22 caliber pistol.

Two pistols, a .22 caliber and a .32 caliber had been fired, police reported. Both shots that struck the body of the dead man were thought to have been fired from the .22 caliber pistol. The .22 caliber pistol is believed to be owned by Charlie Williams, police said. The other pistol, from which one shot was fired, is owned by Mrs. Esque Williams, police reported.

The story behind the shooting is not clear and evidence of a motive is not strong, but, apparently jealousy was involved, police said.

According to Mrs. Williams story, police reported, she had spent Saturday night in Bell City and returned from a club named "Main Macy's" with Matthews.

Mrs. Williams didn't even know Matthews' name, Potashnick reported. He, (Matthews) found a ride for Mrs. Williams about noon Sunday in Bell City and returned with her, police said.

Mrs. Williams said that Charlie Williams came into her house carrying a gun and began arguing with her. He began chasing her around the house with the gun pulled. He slipped and fell.

Mrs. Williams said she ran out of the house when he fell, and heard a shot fired after leaving the house, police reported.

Mrs. Williams said she then heard Matthews ask her if she had a gun. To which she replied there was a pistol under her mattress. She told police she later heard other shots, but did not go inside the house again.

Health Council Elects Officers

BLOOMFIELD - Officers were elected at the meeting Tuesday of the Stoddard County Health Council. The Rev. Robert B. McCoy, county chairman, presided.

Holland Fann, Puxico, was named vice chairman; Mrs. Joe Welborn, Bloomfield, secretary; and Larry Strobel, Painton, treasurer.

Other members of the council are Mrs. Leonard Lorch, Advance; Mrs. George Miller, Dexter; Mrs. Pearl Peters, Gray Ridge; and Mrs. George Pulliam, Bernie.

The council was organized to plan and work for a county health program.

It was decided that the county chairman should appoint a chairman of each school district in the county to consult with the member of the council from the district. The district chairmen will become members of the council.

Three health officers from district health unit 4, Poplar Bluff, attended. They were A.Z. Tomerlin, Virgil Edwards, and Carrol Nutter. These health officers are available to speak before clubs in the county.

CAB Feels Airline Drinkers Should Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — You'll have to pay to tipple while flying commercially if the Civil Aeronautics Board has its way.

The board proposed Friday that all airlines charge passengers separate fees for alcoholic beverages they consume. At present, free drinks are provided for first-class passengers on most major airlines. Coach passengers pay $1 a drink.

The CAB maintained providing liquor was a separate service apart from the transportation functions of the airlines and that passengers should directly bear the cost.

The airlines have until July 24 to present arguments against the proposal.

Council of Defense Takes Shape

50 years ago
June 26, 1917

The Scott County Council of Defense appointed by the Governor of Missouri, upon the request of the president of the United States, met and organized on June 25th. The meeting was called to order in the Court House at Benton by J. H. Galeener of Sikeston, a member of the State Council of Defense.

Save all of your sheets, pillow slips, and other soft cotton goods to make bandages for the Red Cross. Sewing parties will be organized and calls will be made for material for bandages and pads. Everyone can do their bit along this line.

Our City Dads purchased an up-to-date street sweeper and sprinkler combined and will now be in the market for a pair of elephants to pull it as a pair of mules are unable to do the job. Or, perhaps, they can get one of Adam Roush's traction engines to move it.

The first of July J. H. Minton, manager of the Scott - Madrid Motor Co., will be transferred to Cape Girardeau, and A. E. Hunze, will be the new local manager.

Ann Landers

Dream Castle Fun at Age of 70

Dear Ann Landers: I am a woman in my 70's but nobody would guess it. I have been married for over 40 years to a solid citizen whose interest in sex went dead about 10 years ago. His impotence was a relief to me because that part of our marriage was never very satisfactory. We raised a nice family and I did my duty but there was very little excitement.

Last year we had our home remodeled. A man 12 years my junior worked here for one week. This may sound silly to you but we fell madly in love. We didn't do anything disgraceful but we did have a wonderful time together. We both knew it was a losing battle with partners and age against us, and he went out of my life as suddenly as he had come in.

I can't get this man out of my mind. I wake up at night longing for him while my poor husband is snoring in the next room. Isn't it crazy that I can't have peace in my old age? I keep wondering what my grandchildren would say if they knew about this.

Please tell me, Ann, am I the only woman my age with these ideas? You might call it sick, but it's real and it's something I have to live with. Can you bring this subject into the open for discussion? --- YOUNG AT HEART

Dear Heart: Of course there are other women your age who are still interested in sex. But don't delude yourself into thinking you are in love --- not in one week, lady.

Be glad you didn't do anything "disgraceful" because the price, in terms of guilt and shame would not have been worth it. Dream castles are fun to visit, Granny, but don't try to live in one.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year-old boy who is trying awfully hard to get along with my parents. The trouble is, whenever we have a difference of opinion they take turns giving me a lecture. When my Mom runs out of breath my Dad starts in. If I try to explain my ideas they say, "Be quiet. We don't want any back talk."

Do you think it is backtalk when a person wants to present his side of a disagreement? I don't yell or anything, I just make an attempt to speak, but they don't let me finish a sentence.

Please give your opinion. My folks always praise your column. Thank you. --- A FRIEND IN NEED

Dear Friend: One of the essentials of a good relationship is the free exchange of ideas. Parents who speak WITH their children, rather than AT them find that their ideas are more readily accepted. The ability to disagree without being disagreeable is the mark of a civilized person. All kids should be given the privilege of practicing the fine art of rebuttal.

Dear Ann Landers: The other afternoon I invited a friend of mine for a game of bridge. She said, "I'm sorry but I am going to a dog shower today." I said, "A WHAT?" She then explained that her neighbor had just bought a new dog and she was having a shower for him. Of course each guest is supposed to bring a gift. I have heard of some nutty things in my life but this beats them all.

What is wrong with a woman who would insult her friends by inviting them to a party for a dog? ---- MORTIFIED

Dear Mort: This is probably her idea of something novel and imaginative. I'm not going to concern myself, however, as I was not invited. How about you?

Do you feel ill at ease. . . out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

If You Were the Judge

Car License Can't Be Lifted For Unrelated Crimes

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Burglar Bob looked upon himself as a sort of Robin Hood. Instead of taking it from the rich and giving it to the poor, however, he took from the rich and simply kept it. The result? He spent several years in prison instead of Sherwood Forest. What's more, when he got out, the Director of Motor Vehicles revoked his driver's license. While some people walk to reduce, Bob didn't appreciate being reduced to walking and demanded the return of his license in court.

"Because I may have committed a few crimes and spent a few years in jail," he complained to the judge, "doesn't give the Director of Motor Vehicles the right to make me a pedestrian."

"It certainly does," retorted the Director. "Under the law, I have the authority to revoke the license of anyone who is not normally qualified to drive. And, anyone who bounces in and out of jail like a yo-yo isn't normally fit to operate a car."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you give Yo-Yo Bob back his driving papers?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that having paid for his crimes, Bob could not be further penalized by being deprived of his license because of the same crimes. Furthermore, the judge added, his license could not be revoked for misconduct unrelated to his ability to drive a car.

The Prayer
From The Upper Room

Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword. (Matthew 10:34)

PRAYER: O God, our Father, whom we know as a God of love and as a God of justice, help us to be the salt of the earth. Strengthen us by the power of Thy spirit to be bold in the face of evil, to be dependable witnesses for Jesus Christ, in whose name we pray. Amen.

Study Urges State Aid For Private Colleges

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri should consider the possibility of providing state aid to private colleges and universities as well as those that are state supported, a special report suggested Friday.

The report was submitted by Drs. Allan O. Pfpfnister and Gary Quehl. Pfnister is dean of the college at Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio, and Quehl is director of Wittenberg's institutional research.

They were asked to make the study by Missouri's Commission on Higher Education.

This state has never considered use of state money in aid of private colleges and universities, many of which are church-operated.

The closest approach to what might be called aid to such schools was a bill introduced in the House this year that would have provided for state scholarships of up to $500 toward the education of any qualified and needy student.

He could use the scholarship at any school qualified by the state commission on higher education.

The bill passed the House but has lain dormant in the Senate Education Committee since last March. It has no chance of passage in the legislative session that must end a week from today.

The report also suggested that the staff of the Commission on Higher Education be expanded to provide more research and consultative services for private colleges and universities.

Public and private schools of an area might well cooperate in providing a broad field of educational opportunity for students in the area, the report said.

Special courses and fields of study now provided by private schools, the report said, might be utilized by the state in order to free state supported schools from having to enter those fields.

Other highlights the study produced include:

The 35 private collegs and universities in Missouri had a total enrollment of 36,280 last fall, about a third of all college enrollment in Missouri.

They appeared to have specialized in graduate degrees. Although they provided only 38 per cent of the bachelors degrees, they contributed 38 per cent of the masters degrees, over half the doctorates and 72 per cent of the degrees in medicine.

Their academic standards for entrance average about the same as in the state schools but the variance from the highest to the lowest standards in the private schools was greater.

The private schools had total budgets in the 1965-66 school year of $115 million, compared with $118 million for state schools.

Total per student costs in the private institutions ranged from $958 to $2,750 a year, compared with a range of $666 to $1,170 in the public institutions.

Dear Friend: One of the essentials of a good relationship is the free exchange of ideas. Parents who speak WITH their children, rather than AT them find that their ideas are more readily accepted. The ability to disagree without being disagreeable is the mark of a civilized person. All kids should be given the privilege of practicing the fine art of rebuttal.

Dear Ann Landers: The other afternoon I invited a friend of mine for a game of bridge. She said, "I'm sorry but I am going to a dog shower today." I said, "A WHAT?" She then explained that her neighbor had just bought a new dog and she was having a shower for him. Of course each guest is supposed to bring a gift. I have heard of some nutty things in my life but this beats them all.

What is wrong with a woman who would insult her friends by inviting them to a party for a dog? ---- MORTIFIED

Dear Mort: This is probably her idea of something novel and imaginative. I'm not going to concern myself, however, as I was not invited. How about you?

Do you feel ill at ease. . . out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Car License Can't Be Lifted For Unrelated Crimes

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Burglar Bob looked upon himself as a sort of Robin Hood. Instead of taking it from the rich and giving it to the poor, however, he took from the rich and simply kept it. The result? He spent several years in prison instead of Sherwood Forest. What's more, when he got out, the Director of Motor Vehicles revoked his driver's license. While some people walk to reduce, Bob didn't appreciate being reduced to walking and demanded the return of his license in court.

"Because I may have committed a few crimes and spent a few years in jail," he complained to the judge, "doesn't give the Director of Motor Vehicles the right to make me a pedestrian."

"It certainly does," retorted the Director. "Under the law, I have the authority to revoke the license of anyone who is not normally qualified to drive. And, anyone who bounces in and out of jail like a yo-yo isn't normally fit to operate a car."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you give Yo-Yo Bob back his driving papers?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that having paid for his crimes, Bob could not be further penalized by being deprived of his license because of the same crimes. Furthermore, the judge added, his license could not be revoked for misconduct unrelated to his ability to drive a car.

(Based upon a 1964 U.S. Court of Appeals Decision.)

Morley CAA Hires 3 Aides

MORLEY -- The monthly meeting of the community action agency was held Tuesday night. Three thrift shop aides were hired to begin work July 1.

The regular monthly area meeting of the CAA was also Tuesday, with Elbert Clark, president, presiding. Mrs. Bill Anderson, coordinator, read the minutes of the last meeting due to the absence of Mrs. Mary Craig, secretary. Mrs. Anderson also read the status report for the month.

Girls who participate in the family service program showed craft items they had made. The girls were Misses Sharon Craig, Becky Emmerson, Gary Davis, and Cathey Slipis.

The speaker was Cecil Lemonds of Kennett, assistant director of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation at Portageville.

There was entertainment of songs and poems by Mrs. Susie Clines, Mrs. Fick Kendred and Mrs. Charlie Dye, of the McMullen extension club.

Three boys were added to the neighborhood youth corps program. They are Marse Karnes, Cline Wilkens and Miles Kirkwood. These boys will be working in the school system with the janitors.

The center has been made a branch of the Jackson public library and several hundred books have been added to the library.

The Prayer
From The Upper Room

Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword. (Matthew 10:34)

PRAYER: O God, our Father, whom we know as a God of love and as a God of justice, help us to be the salt of the earth. Strengthen us by the power of Thy spirit to be bold in the face of evil, to be dependable witnesses for Jesus Christ, in whose n[illegible] we pray. Amen.

Study Urges State Aid For Private Colleges

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri should consider the possibility of providing state aid to private colleges and universities as well as those that are state supported, a special report suggested Friday.

The report was submitted by Drs. Allan O. Pfnister and Gary Quehl. Pfnister is dean of the college at Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio, and Quehl is director of Wittenberg's institutional research.

They were asked to make the study by Missouri's Commission on Higher Education.

This state has never considered use of state money in aid of private colleges and universities, many of which are church-operated.

The closest approach to what might be called aid to such schools was a bill introduced in the House this year that would have provided for state scholarships of up to $500 toward the education of any qualified and needy student.

He could use the scholarship at any school qualified by the state commission on higher education.

The bill passed the House but has lain dormant in the Senate Education Committee since last March. It has no chance of passage in the legislative session that must end a week from today.

The report also suggested that the staff of the Commission on Higher Education be expanded to provide more research and consultative services for private colleges and universities.

Public and private schools of an area might well cooperate in providing a broad field of educational opportunity for students in the area, the report said.

Special courses and fields of study now provided by private schools, the report said, might be utilized by the state in order to free state supported schools from having to enter those fields.

Other highlights the study produced include:

The 35 private collegs and universities in Missouri had a total enrollment of 36,280 last fall, about a third of all college enrollment in Missouri.

They appeared to have specialized in graduate degrees. Although they provided only 38 per cent of the bachelors degrees, they contributed 38 per cent of the masters degrees, over half the doctorates and 72 per cent of the degrees in medicine.

Their academic standards for entrance average about the same as in the state schools but the variance from the highest to the lowest standards in the private schools was greater.

The private schools had total budgets in the 1965-66 school year of $115 million, compared with $118 million for state schools.

Total per student costs in the private institutions ranged from $958 to $2,750 a year, compared with a range of $666 to $1,170 in the public institutions.

When children visits another farm, take along coveralls which are two sizes larger than their regular outfits. You can easily slip these over coats or snowsuits and let children romp outdoors without worry about dirt.

Pope Welcomes New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Pope Paul VI created 27 new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church today, deplored the plight of Palestine refugees, and appealed for the internationalization of Jerusalem.

The new princes of the Church included four Americans.

The Pope also called on all Vietnamese-North and South to "once again love each other as brothers" and to work to rebuild their country into a free and independent land.

Pope Paul spoke in a closed consistory he held with 35 members of the Sacred College of Cardinals to confirm the 27 prelates he nominated May 29 to join them.

The meeting lasted 23 minutes.

Speaking of the Middle East crisis, the Pope said the fighting between Israel and the Arab states had worsened the problem of Palestine refugees and "made evident the overly precarious and inadequate situation of the holy places in Jerusalem, which are dear and sacred for every Christian heart."

"The Holy City of Jerusalem," he declared, "must be for always what it represents — a city of God, a free oasis of peace and prayer, a place of encounter, of elevation and of concord for all, with its own internationally guaranteed statute."

Wednesday, at a semipublic consistory, the Pope will present the red biretta — the three-ridged pillbox hat — to 24 of the new cardinals. Thursday, they will join him in celebrating Mass in St. Peter's Square, a public ceremony being held outdoors for the first time so that more people may attend.

The other three new cardinals are the papal nuncios, or ambassadors, to Catholic Spain, Portugal and Italy. Because of the Church's special position in those countries and their concordats with the Vatican, the three nuncios will get their red hats from the chiefs of state.

The consistory increased membership in the College of Cardinals to 118, its largest in history. U. S. membership is also its largest at eight.

The new U. S. cardinals are Archbishops John P. Cody of Chicago, John J. Krol of Philadelphia and Patrick A. O'Boyle of Washington, D.C., and Msgr. Francis J. Brennan, a native of Shenandoah, Pa., who has been dean of the Roman Rota, the Church's highest appeals court in marriage matters and Church punishments.

The consistory also gave the Church the widest international representation ever in the council of the Pope's highest advisers. The College of Cardinals now represents 43 countries, two more than before.

Creation of the new princes of the Church lowered the average age of the cardinals from 72 to 71.

In addition to the four Americans, the new cardinals include 12 Italians, three Frenchmen, the first Bolivian, the first Indonesian, and an Argentine, a Monagasque, a Dutchman, a German, a Swiss and a Pole.

The percentage of Italians in the college — for centuries a largely Italian body — is now reduced to one-third.

This was the second group of cardinals created by Pope Paul since he became pontiff four years ago. In his first consistory on Feb. 22, 1965, he also raised 27 prelates to the purple.

Defensive Driving Urged By Patrol Chief

JEFFERSON CITY -- Motorists planning to travel over the Fourth of July holiday weekend should plan to drive defensively if they wish to survive the heavy traffic that will be evident throughout the state, Col. E. L. (Mike) Hockaday, superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol, advised today.

Colonel Hockaday stated that it will be a four-day holiday for many people and many Missourians will travel long distances to take advantage of it. The Fourth of July holiday last year was a three-day affair and 15 were killed on Missouri roads.

"Before you start out on a trip, be certain you are going to drive a safe vehicle," the colonel declared. "If you have not had your car safety-checked recently, have it done now. This will be of particular importance if you travel at high, sustained speeds, placing greater stress on the car."

The patrol superintendent also made the following suggestions: Be well rested before you se out on a long trip; Expect other motorists to be in a hurry and to make mistakes. By ancitipating the mistakes of other you will be better prepared to cope with any emergency you might face; Don't lose your patience. You may get stuck in a long line of traffic and impatience leads to carelessness and carelessness often leads to accidents; Finally, be courteous and share the road. Give the other fellow his way if he insists upon it, even if he is wrong.

"Thousands of motorists will be hurrying to get to their destinations, and some of them may not get there," Hockaday continued. "You can increase your chances of having a safe trip by following defensive driving measures."
